

To summarize—The bully and the shrimp

According to the story of the bully and the shrimp, we can clearly learn that Butch was a big guy in the school, and no one was bigger than he was. Because he was very strong and powerful, anyone who wanted to play outside during the break had to pay him money for a quarter per week. However, Butch had a simple rule. For example, if somebody didn't pay for him and brought trouble to him, he would punch them. Therefore, other kids were afraid of Butch and willing to pay him money. Only one of the boys, Adam, was different from others. No sooner had Adam heard that everyone needed to pay for Butch than he rejected right away. He also decided not to go to the playground in case he was spotted by Butch.

Although Adam tried to hide from the bully, he was still discovered by Butch. The bully asked him for money, and he went home as fast as he could and turned to his uncle for help. Then his uncle gave him four steps to protect himself from the big guy in the school. First, Adam's uncle encouraged him to relax when he encountered problems. Second, he had better try to keep a distance with the opponents. Third, it is important to have a secret weapon. Last, don't forget to show compassion.

One day, the bully, Butch, was still waiting him to pay the money, and everyone persuaded Adam to pay for the bully, or he would be punched on the ground. But Adam insisted not to pay the money. When the bully heard that Adam didn't want to follow his rules, his face started to turn red and shouted at him at the same time. The bully grabbed Adam and began to squeeze him. At the moment, Adam's uncle's words crossed his mind. First of all, he tried to relax and escape from his coat. In addition, he ran as far as he could to keep a distance from the bully, but he was still caught by the bully eventually. Then, he used the secret weapon for the third step. As his stomach was squeezed, his face turned red and his breath went out of him. He burped, and the disgusting gas with his weird exotic lunch came out from his mouth. When the bully smelled the gas, he started coughing and dropped Adam. And there were a crowd of people around them. Then the people started to shout, "The shrimp beat the bully!" The bully refused to admit that he was beaten by Adam. Suddenly, Adam used his four step "show the compassion" and said to everyone, "Stop making fun of my friend!" Everyone was shocked by his words. Adam's cousin asked what he was thinking, and he told him the four steps which his uncle suggested him.

Eventually, Adam and the bully became the best friend forever.
