OffChain Social launched in Ukraine!

On January 19, 2022, the representative office of the OffChain Social community was launched in Kyiv. The represented experts supported blockchain development in Ukraine.

On January 19, 2022, the first OffChain Social meeting took place, where experts shared international experience and discussed plans for developing the blockchain community in Ukraine.

Honorable guests and stakeholders supporting blockchain development in Ukraine were invited to the first meeting of OffChain Social: representatives of the state and business sectors, higher education institutions, international venture funds, and specialized associations.

The founder of OffChain Kyiv, Dmitry Prokopenko, opened the meeting by sharing his experience in creating the OffChain project in Shanghai, China. “After the pandemic, the world lacks live communications. That’s why the COVID restrictions have just subsided. We started a series of meet-up events, and a year later, more than 20 cities around the world supported such an initiative. Today we opened Kyiv,” Prokopenko said.

The first speaker was Yuri Yekhanurov, professor at the Taras Shevchenko National University, shared his experience of working with students. “When we started summing up the results of last year’s student competition ‘Blockchain comes to Ukraine’, we realized that all of the participants are talented young people, thousands of students who can contribute to developing this area,” the professor said.

Natalia Drik, Director of the Blockchain Association of Ukraine, noted the importance of creating communities that can act as objects and subjects of Ukrainian legislation. It is communities like OffChain that can form ecosystems to create a favorable environment for developing blockchain technologies.

Ivan Paskar, Marketing Manager of Binance Ukraine, talked about the rapid development of NFT technologies, as well as the fact that Ukraine ranks 3rd in terms of the number of active users of this trend on Binance. “We always only support social events. Offchain is an interesting project that we would also like to support,” Ivan emphasized.

The event was supported by project partners Era7.io, treasureland.market, cryptotribe.io, Opensky.finance, NEAR.org, Aurora.dev, coindar.org , sinofy.group and synopsis.events

Briefly about partners:

Opensky.finance NFT is a group of talented people from different areas of DeFi, NFT, finance, and web3 development. They are working hard to provide a cutting-edge, easy-to-use, permission-free solution for all DeFi and NFT users.

Sinofy.group is an international group of companies that helps to connect West and East, modern technologies, and business. Sinofy's product and service ecosystem includes public relations and digital marketing, positioning and branding, fundraising, blockchain technology development and deployment, and technical recruitment to unlock the true potential of businesses in Asia and beyond.

Cryptotribe.io is a Proof of Stake (PoS) validator that verifies transactions on seven different blockchains and plans to implement solutions on the decentralized autonomous organization (DAO) system.

Treasureland.market is a multi-chain NFT aggregation protocol supporting NFT creation, issuance, auction, and socialization, aiming at a decentralized mix of NFT creators, users, and consumers.

Era7 - Game of Truth is a Binance Smart Chain (BSC) dynamic game that combines TCG (card games) with NFTs in a Play to Earn manner.

NEAR is a high-performance blockchain built for ultra-fast, incredibly secure operation, infinitely scalable, and backed by leading international venture capital funds.

Aurora is an Ethereum virtual machine built on the NEAR protocol. Aurora has developed a Rainbow Bridge that allows transferring assets between Ethereum, NEAR, and Aurora.

Going forward, OffChain will hold regular meet-ups around the world. If you are planning a trip abroad, you have the opportunity to schedule a visit to the meet-up at the link: https://offchain.social/ and on social networks using the hash tag #offchain

Additionally:

OffChain is a global community network for blockchain and crypto enthusiasts founded in 2017. This is a wide range of like-minded people, from blockchain developers to venture investors, miners, traders, and people who simply own cryptocurrency. We welcome everyone who is interested in blockchain and cryptography. OffChain aims to hold regular meet-ups around the world on a regular basis.
