Johan liebert (aka The nameless monster) is a powerful yet underrated individual.
As a young child Johan was a master at manipulating people
His feats include

: convincing 50 people (via his words) to kill and fight themselves, at the exact location he was raised at (Kinderheim 511) as stated by Mr Hartmann, that Johan was one of a kind and that they couldn't have made a perfect human like him.

- Convinced a man, to kill himself and a couple (the man I'm referring to his the guy Heckel and Tenma came across, while Tenma was searching for Johan and his past)
- He managed to convince an individual (Reinhard Dinger) a man with a true sense of Justice and used that sense of justice to achieve his own goal.
- Convinced his adopted family to make false records for him (making it seem he was their legitimate child)
- Johan has exceptional charisma, the Baby talks about him as if he was the next Hitler, and some people compare him to Jesus Christ.
- Causes Richard Brown (the detective looking for him) to kill himself by guilt tripping him to face his past and forces Richard to actually think whether he killed that man in a drunk state or not.
- Convinces Roberto to assassinate whomever he deems an obstacle.

Some of Johan's FSIQ feats (Full Scale Intelligence Quotient)

VCI(verbal comprehension index) Johan is able to understand 2 languages (English and French) in just 13 months and is stated by Shuwald to be perfect at Latin.

At the age of 15 Johan started and presided over an underground bank and showcased an in depth knowledge of math, trade, economics, business, politics and leadership despite of his age. Crystalised intelligence is reflected in a person's general knowledge, vocabulary, and reasoning based on acquired information.

Fluid intelligence is the ability to to think abstractly, reason quickly and problem solve independent of any previously acquired knowledge.

Heinrich Lunge, a man who could determine a killer's exact motives and personality by analysing one of their crime scenes and psychologically entering their mindset, was unable to determine anything after analysing the scene of one of Johan's crimes, eventually going as far as to say "I do not exist" when attempting to assume the latter's mentality.

Burned all information of his past and sent assassins to kill whoever who known him before, created aliases throughout his life where he lived up with his adopted families, and is known to be a non existent person by the Bka. Not only that due to circumstances having Tenma be framed for the murder was considered more logical then the existence of Johan.
