

1. Explain the information Curley's Wife gives the reader about her past and her relationship with Curley.
2. Based on the information the reader has not received about Curley's Wife, has your opinion of her changed? Explain in detail.
3. Reread the description of Curley's Wife after she has been killed. How is she described? Why do you think the author chose to describe her in this manner?
4. Look at Candy's behavior after he makes the discovery and talks with George. Why does he react the way that he does? What does he realize?
5. Look at George's reaction to everything in the chapter. What four realizations does he make?
6. The idea of life and death is very clear in this chapter. What all has gone from being "alive" to now being "dead"?