Week Five Discussion Forum: Turning Goals Into Outcomes

The week five discussion prepares students for the Learning Outcomes Assignment.

Purpose

This week, you will practice turning your personal internship goals into measurable outcomes.

Tasks

First, list one of the goals you'd like to accomplish during your fieldwork experience. Then, write a learning outcome (using the action verb list) that you feel is descriptive, and measurable.

Each student will post one goal, and provide feedback and/or suggestions to another student on their outcome. This is another "Q and A" style forum, which means you will not be able to see other students' posts until a half an hour after you post your outcome. This way, you can get some feedback on your proposed outcomes before you turn in your assignment!

Criteria for Success

You will need to post one outcome, and comment on one other student's outcome, for full points. Because this is a specific assignment, there is no minimum word count this week.
