A partial wall visually divides the toilet from the mattress, but the soaking bathtub and dressing table are part of this room's spacious plan. The couples retains splashes to a minimum and use a bath mat to protect the wood flooring. "The kid's bath is different from ours," Karsenti states, "but our bathroom is really special: spa like and calming, somewhat like Japanese soaking tub area."

The Pennock Family Home

The basement bathroom is an exciting departure in design from the rest of the house. Metal siding and Barn wood walls give this room a rustic feel. The new sinks out of Ikea blend well with items that are corresponding, like the soaking bathtub that is blue.

Crest Meadows Home

Appears clean and easy and comparatively inexpensive to build.

Venice Canals

I really like the small tiles in the bath; the glass enclosure is actually hot and is enjoyable which complements with the wooden walls, go to <https://capablegroupinc.ca/>.

Basement Spa Bathroom

This bathroom looks a little manly, but the design team just wished to achieve a neutral feel to your area. Tile that is great work!

Modern Marvel

A cellar renovation finish with a customized home theater, fitness center, seating area, full bar, and display wine cellar.

Finished Basement Malvern, West Chester

I am not usually a fan of blue paint, but I really like this color!
