

Classroom Viewing Guide:

How much can we trust YouTube to give us reliable information?

Quick-write

What do you notice about how YouTube suggests new videos for you to watch?

Watch first and test your knowledge

(This can be done as a whole class or in small groups.)

- Stop video at 0:52: What is an algorithm?
- Stop video at 1:19: What is the primary goal of YouTube's business model ?
- Stop video at 1:52: If YouTube isn't an online library, what is it?
- Stop video at 3:09: What is a data void?
- Stop video at 5:20: How can you conduct a good search query?
- Stop video at 5:50: Besides YouTube, where should you get information?

Watch again and take notes for your post

- Listen to arguments from both sides of the debate or suggest your own.
- Then, complete the right column with your own ideas.

(next page)

Evidence that YouTube algorithms are harmful	Evidence that YouTube and individuals can address this problem	Evidence I find most compelling

Get ready to post

Draft a response for the KQED Learn Discussion: How much can you trust YouTube to give reliable information?

Claim
Evidence and reasoning

