

Dear Editor:

I am a JCPS parent, and I can testify firsthand that this anti-CRT “crisis” is completely invented. JCPS’s students were completely online from March 2020 until April 2021. Parents were able to actually view what teachers taught as they were teaching; parents were able to see the assignments. If CRT were real — if Kentucky schools were actually teaching students to hate white people — wouldn’t SOMEBODY have noticed before it became the latest faux outrage on Fox News?

Really, people, who are you going to believe? Some Koch Industries-funded politicians in Frankfort? Or your own two eyes?
