

Wisconsin Association of Agricultural Educators

1724 Bobby Jones Drive | De Pere, WI 54115

715-821-2432 | www.waae.com

July 21, 2025

Dear _____ School District,

On behalf of the Wisconsin Association of Agricultural Educators, I want to thank you for supporting your school district's agriculture educator to serve on the Wisconsin Association of Agricultural Educators Board of Directors. In this role, teachers serve for two years as an alternate vice-president, followed by two years as a vice-president. The first two years have minimal time requirements as they only need to attend meetings if the Vice President of their section is not able to attend.

School districts often question what the value is for a teacher to take time away from their district to serve in this capacity. Here are a couple of testimonials from various viewpoints:

"Not only was I able to represent the agricultural educators throughout the State of Wisconsin, but I was able to learn about the different agricultural education programs and curriculum taught in other districts, which allowed me to expand the curriculum at my home school district."

~ Kim Houser, Agriculture Educator at Wisconsin Heights

"Our agriculture teacher's ability to stay connected with other agricultural educators through WAAE is invaluable. The knowledge base and leadership ability our teacher has gained far outweighs the substitute costs associated with their attending professional development opportunities."

~ Wayne Weber, Superintendent, Rosendale-Brandon School District

Agricultural educators are essential to teaching the next generation of agriculturalists and ensuring the long-term success of Wisconsin's agriculture industry. WAAE provides training opportunities and a collaborative network to mentor beginning teachers, retain experienced teachers, and sustain strong agricultural education programs across the state.

~ Randy Romanski, Secretary of Wisconsin DATCP

Throughout a teacher's term on the board, there will be board meetings in June, July/August, November, January, and March. Meetings typically coincide with FFA leadership conferences, where many secondary teachers will be in attendance already. Conference calls and committees will be set up and utilized on an as-needed basis.

Your district's commitment to this organization and profession is greatly appreciated. We look forward to the opportunity of you allowing your agriculture teacher to work with us to make our profession the best it can be.

Sincerely,

Mary Handrich
Executive Director
Wisconsin Association of Agricultural Educators

Wisconsin Association of Agricultural Educators

1724 Bobby Jones Drive | De Pere, WI 54115

715-821-2432 | www.waae.com

July 21, 2025

Dear Adams-Friendship Area School District,

On behalf of the Wisconsin Association of Agricultural Educators, I want to thank you for supporting your school district's agriculture educator to serve on the Wisconsin Association of Agricultural Educators Board of Directors. In this role, teachers serve for two years as an alternate vice-president, followed by two years as a vice-president. The first two years have minimal time requirements as they only need to attend meetings if the Vice President of their section is not able to attend.

School districts often question what the value is for a teacher to take time away from their district to serve in this capacity. Here are a couple of testimonials from various viewpoints:

"Not only was I able to represent the agricultural educators throughout the State of Wisconsin, but I was able to learn about the different agricultural education programs and curriculum taught in other districts, which allowed me to expand the curriculum at my home school district."

~ Kim Houser, Agriculture Educator at Wisconsin Heights

"Our agriculture teacher's ability to stay connected with other agricultural educators through WAAE is invaluable. The knowledge base and leadership ability our teacher has gained far outweighs the substitute costs associated with their attending professional development opportunities."

~ Wayne Weber, Superintendent, Rosendale-Brandon School District

Agricultural educators are essential to teaching the next generation of agriculturalists and ensuring the long-term success of Wisconsin's agriculture industry. WAAE provides training opportunities and a collaborative network to mentor beginning teachers, retain experienced teachers, and sustain strong agricultural education programs across the state.

~ Randy Romanski, Secretary of Wisconsin DATCP

Throughout a teacher's term on the board, there will be board meetings in June, July/August, November, January, and March. Meetings typically coincide with FFA leadership conferences, where many secondary teachers will be in attendance already. Conference calls and committees will be set up and utilized on an as-needed basis.

Your district's commitment to this organization and profession is greatly appreciated. We look forward to the opportunity of you allowing your agriculture teacher to work with us to make our profession the best it can be.

Sincerely,

Mary Handrich
Executive Director
Wisconsin Association of Agricultural Educators

Wisconsin Association of Agricultural Educators

1724 Bobby Jones Drive | De Pere, WI 54115

715-821-2432 | www.waae.com

July 21, 2025

Dear Campbellsport School District,

On behalf of the Wisconsin Association of Agricultural Educators, I want to thank you for supporting your school district's agriculture educator to serve on the Wisconsin Association of Agricultural Educators Board of Directors. In this role, teachers serve for two years as an alternate vice-president, followed by two years as a vice-president. The first two years have minimal time requirements as they only need to attend meetings if the Vice President of their section is not able to attend.

School districts often question what the value is for a teacher to take time away from their district to serve in this capacity. Here are a couple of testimonials from various viewpoints:

"Not only was I able to represent the agricultural educators throughout the State of Wisconsin, but I was able to learn about the different agricultural education programs and curriculum taught in other districts, which allowed me to expand the curriculum at my home school district."

~ Kim Houser, Agriculture Educator at Wisconsin Heights

"Our agriculture teacher's ability to stay connected with other agricultural educators through WAAE is invaluable. The knowledge base and leadership ability our teacher has gained far outweighs the substitute costs associated with their attending professional development opportunities."

~ Wayne Weber, Superintendent, Rosendale-Brandon School District

Agricultural educators are essential to teaching the next generation of agriculturalists and ensuring the long-term success of Wisconsin's agriculture industry. WAAE provides training opportunities and a collaborative network to mentor beginning teachers, retain experienced teachers, and sustain strong agricultural education programs across the state.

~ Randy Romanski, Secretary of Wisconsin DATCP

Throughout a teacher's term on the board, there will be board meetings in June, July/August, November, January, and March. Meetings typically coincide with FFA leadership conferences, where many secondary teachers will be in attendance already. Conference calls and committees will be set up and utilized on an as-needed basis.

Your district's commitment to this organization and profession is greatly appreciated. We look forward to the opportunity of you allowing your agriculture teacher to work with us to make our profession the best it can be.

Sincerely,

Mary Handrich
Executive Director
Wisconsin Association of Agricultural Educators

Wisconsin Association of Agricultural Educators

1724 Bobby Jones Drive | De Pere, WI 54115

715-821-2432 | www.waae.com

July 21, 2025

Dear Lodi School District,

On behalf of the Wisconsin Association of Agricultural Educators, I want to thank you for supporting your school district's agriculture educator to serve on the Wisconsin Association of Agricultural Educators Board of Directors. In this role, teachers serve for two years as an alternate vice-president, followed by two years as a vice-president. The first two years have minimal time requirements as they only need to attend meetings if the Vice President of their section is not able to attend.

School districts often question what the value is for a teacher to take time away from their district to serve in this capacity. Here are a couple of testimonials from various viewpoints:

"Not only was I able to represent the agricultural educators throughout the State of Wisconsin, but I was able to learn about the different agricultural education programs and curriculum taught in other districts, which allowed me to expand the curriculum at my home school district."

~ Kim Houser, Agriculture Educator at Wisconsin Heights

"Our agriculture teacher's ability to stay connected with other agricultural educators through WAAE is invaluable. The knowledge base and leadership ability our teacher has gained far outweighs the substitute costs associated with their attending professional development opportunities."

~ Wayne Weber, Superintendent, Rosendale-Brandon School District

Agricultural educators are essential to teaching the next generation of agriculturalists and ensuring the long-term success of Wisconsin's agriculture industry. WAAE provides training opportunities and a collaborative network to mentor beginning teachers, retain experienced teachers, and sustain strong agricultural education programs across the state.

~ Randy Romanski, Secretary of Wisconsin DATCP

Throughout a teacher's term on the board, there will be board meetings in June, July/August, November, January, and March. Meetings typically coincide with FFA leadership conferences, where many secondary teachers will be in attendance already. Conference calls and committees will be set up and utilized on an as-needed basis.

Your district's commitment to this organization and profession is greatly appreciated. We look forward to the opportunity of you allowing your agriculture teacher to work with us to make our profession the best it can be.

Sincerely,

Mary Handrich
Executive Director
Wisconsin Association of Agricultural Educators

Wisconsin Association of Agricultural Educators

1724 Bobby Jones Drive | De Pere, WI 54115

715-821-2432 | www.waae.com

July 21, 2025

Dear Dodgeville School District,

On behalf of the Wisconsin Association of Agricultural Educators, I want to thank you for supporting your school district's agriculture educator to serve on the Wisconsin Association of Agricultural Educators Board of Directors. In this role, teachers serve for two years as an alternate vice-president, followed by two years as a vice-president. The first two years have minimal time requirements as they only need to attend meetings if the Vice President of their section is not able to attend.

School districts often question what the value is for a teacher to take time away from their district to serve in this capacity. Here are a couple of testimonials from various viewpoints:

"Not only was I able to represent the agricultural educators throughout the State of Wisconsin, but I was able to learn about the different agricultural education programs and curriculum taught in other districts, which allowed me to expand the curriculum at my home school district."

~ Kim Houser, Agriculture Educator at Wisconsin Heights

"Our agriculture teacher's ability to stay connected with other agricultural educators through WAAE is invaluable. The knowledge base and leadership ability our teacher has gained far outweighs the substitute costs associated with their attending professional development opportunities."

~ Wayne Weber, Superintendent, Rosendale-Brandon School District

Agricultural educators are essential to teaching the next generation of agriculturalists and ensuring the long-term success of Wisconsin's agriculture industry. WAAE provides training opportunities and a collaborative network to mentor beginning teachers, retain experienced teachers, and sustain strong agricultural education programs across the state.

~ Randy Romanski, Secretary of Wisconsin DATCP

Throughout a teacher's term on the board, there will be board meetings in June, July/August, November, January, and March. Meetings typically coincide with FFA leadership conferences, where many secondary teachers will be in attendance already. Conference calls and committees will be set up and utilized on an as-needed basis.

Your district's commitment to this organization and profession is greatly appreciated. We look forward to the opportunity of you allowing your agriculture teacher to work with us to make our profession the best it can be.

Sincerely,

Mary Handrich
Executive Director
Wisconsin Association of Agricultural Educators

Wisconsin Association of Agricultural Educators

1724 Bobby Jones Drive | De Pere, WI 54115

715-821-2432 | www.waae.com

July 21, 2025

Dear Cashton School District,

On behalf of the Wisconsin Association of Agricultural Educators, I want to thank you for supporting your school district's agriculture educator to serve on the Wisconsin Association of Agricultural Educators Board of Directors. In this role, teachers serve for two years as an alternate vice-president, followed by two years as a vice-president. The first two years have minimal time requirements as they only need to attend meetings if the Vice President of their section is not able to attend.

School districts often question what the value is for a teacher to take time away from their district to serve in this capacity. Here are a couple of testimonials from various viewpoints:

"Not only was I able to represent the agricultural educators throughout the State of Wisconsin, but I was able to learn about the different agricultural education programs and curriculum taught in other districts, which allowed me to expand the curriculum at my home school district."

~ Kim Houser, Agriculture Educator at Wisconsin Heights

"Our agriculture teacher's ability to stay connected with other agricultural educators through WAAE is invaluable. The knowledge base and leadership ability our teacher has gained far outweighs the substitute costs associated with their attending professional development opportunities."

~ Wayne Weber, Superintendent, Rosendale-Brandon School District

Agricultural educators are essential to teaching the next generation of agriculturalists and ensuring the long-term success of Wisconsin's agriculture industry. WAAE provides training opportunities and a collaborative network to mentor beginning teachers, retain experienced teachers, and sustain strong agricultural education programs across the state.

~ Randy Romanski, Secretary of Wisconsin DATCP

Throughout a teacher's term on the board, there will be board meetings in June, July/August, November, January, and March. Meetings typically coincide with FFA leadership conferences, where many secondary teachers will be in attendance already. Conference calls and committees will be set up and utilized on an as-needed basis.

Your district's commitment to this organization and profession is greatly appreciated. We look forward to the opportunity of you allowing your agriculture teacher to work with us to make our profession the best it can be.

Sincerely,

Mary Handrich
Executive Director
Wisconsin Association of Agricultural Educators

Wisconsin Association of Agricultural Educators

1724 Bobby Jones Drive | De Pere, WI 54115

715-821-2432 | www.waae.com

July 21, 2025

Dear Turtle Lake School District,

On behalf of the Wisconsin Association of Agricultural Educators, I want to thank you for supporting your school district's agriculture educator to serve on the Wisconsin Association of Agricultural Educators Board of Directors. In this role, teachers serve for two years as an alternate vice-president, followed by two years as a vice-president. The first two years have minimal time requirements as they only need to attend meetings if the Vice President of their section is not able to attend.

School districts often question what the value is for a teacher to take time away from their district to serve in this capacity. Here are a couple of testimonials from various viewpoints:

"Not only was I able to represent the agricultural educators throughout the State of Wisconsin, but I was able to learn about the different agricultural education programs and curriculum taught in other districts, which allowed me to expand the curriculum at my home school district."

~ Kim Houser, Agriculture Educator at Wisconsin Heights

"Our agriculture teacher's ability to stay connected with other agricultural educators through WAAE is invaluable. The knowledge base and leadership ability our teacher has gained far outweighs the substitute costs associated with their attending professional development opportunities."

~ Wayne Weber, Superintendent, Rosendale-Brandon School District

Agricultural educators are essential to teaching the next generation of agriculturalists and ensuring the long-term success of Wisconsin's agriculture industry. WAAE provides training opportunities and a collaborative network to mentor beginning teachers, retain experienced teachers, and sustain strong agricultural education programs across the state.

~ Randy Romanski, Secretary of Wisconsin DATCP

Throughout a teacher's term on the board, there will be board meetings in June, July/August, November, January, and March. Meetings typically coincide with FFA leadership conferences, where many secondary teachers will be in attendance already. Conference calls and committees will be set up and utilized on an as-needed basis.

Your district's commitment to this organization and profession is greatly appreciated. We look forward to the opportunity of you allowing your agriculture teacher to work with us to make our profession the best it can be.

Sincerely,

Mary Handrich
Executive Director
Wisconsin Association of Agricultural Educators

Wisconsin Association of Agricultural Educators

1724 Bobby Jones Drive | De Pere, WI 54115

715-821-2432 | www.waae.com

July 21, 2025

Dear Green Bay Southwest High School,

On behalf of the Wisconsin Association of Agricultural Educators, I want to thank you for supporting your school district's agriculture educator to serve on the Wisconsin Association of Agricultural Educators Board of Directors. In this role, teachers serve for two years as an alternate vice-president, followed by two years as a vice-president. The first two years have minimal time requirements as they only need to attend meetings if the Vice President of their section is not able to attend.

School districts often question what the value is for a teacher to take time away from their district to serve in this capacity. Here are a couple of testimonials from various viewpoints:

"Not only was I able to represent the agricultural educators throughout the State of Wisconsin, but I was able to learn about the different agricultural education programs and curriculum taught in other districts, which allowed me to expand the curriculum at my home school district."

~ Kim Houser, Agriculture Educator at Wisconsin Heights

"Our agriculture teacher's ability to stay connected with other agricultural educators through WAAE is invaluable. The knowledge base and leadership ability our teacher has gained far outweighs the substitute costs associated with their attending professional development opportunities."

~ Wayne Weber, Superintendent, Rosendale-Brandon School District

Agricultural educators are essential to teaching the next generation of agriculturalists and ensuring the long-term success of Wisconsin's agriculture industry. WAAE provides training opportunities and a collaborative network to mentor beginning teachers, retain experienced teachers, and sustain strong agricultural education programs across the state.

~ Randy Romanski, Secretary of Wisconsin DATCP

Throughout a teacher's term on the board, there will be board meetings in June, July/August, November, January, and March. Meetings typically coincide with FFA leadership conferences, where many secondary teachers will be in attendance already. Conference calls and committees will be set up and utilized on an as-needed basis.

Your district's commitment to this organization and profession is greatly appreciated. We look forward to the opportunity of you allowing your agriculture teacher to work with us to make our profession the best it can be.

Sincerely,

Mary Handrich
Executive Director
Wisconsin Association of Agricultural Educators

Wisconsin Association of Agricultural Educators

1724 Bobby Jones Drive | De Pere, WI 54115

715-821-2432 | www.waae.com

July 21, 2025

Dear Lena School District,

On behalf of the Wisconsin Association of Agricultural Educators, I want to thank you for supporting your school district's agriculture educator to serve on the Wisconsin Association of Agricultural Educators Board of Directors. In this role, teachers serve for two years as an alternate vice-president, followed by two years as a vice-president. The first two years have minimal time requirements as they only need to attend meetings if the Vice President of their section is not able to attend.

School districts often question what the value is for a teacher to take time away from their district to serve in this capacity. Here are a couple of testimonials from various viewpoints:

"Not only was I able to represent the agricultural educators throughout the State of Wisconsin, but I was able to learn about the different agricultural education programs and curriculum taught in other districts, which allowed me to expand the curriculum at my home school district."

~ Kim Houser, Agriculture Educator at Wisconsin Heights

"Our agriculture teacher's ability to stay connected with other agricultural educators through WAAE is invaluable. The knowledge base and leadership ability our teacher has gained far outweighs the substitute costs associated with their attending professional development opportunities."

~ Wayne Weber, Superintendent, Rosendale-Brandon School District

Agricultural educators are essential to teaching the next generation of agriculturalists and ensuring the long-term success of Wisconsin's agriculture industry. WAAE provides training opportunities and a collaborative network to mentor beginning teachers, retain experienced teachers, and sustain strong agricultural education programs across the state.

~ Randy Romanski, Secretary of Wisconsin DATCP

Throughout a teacher's term on the board, there will be board meetings in June, July/August, November, January, and March. Meetings typically coincide with FFA leadership conferences, where many secondary teachers will be in attendance already. Conference calls and committees will be set up and utilized on an as-needed basis.

Your district's commitment to this organization and profession is greatly appreciated. We look forward to the opportunity of you allowing your agriculture teacher to work with us to make our profession the best it can be.

Sincerely,

Mary Handrich
Executive Director
Wisconsin Association of Agricultural Educators

Wisconsin Association of Agricultural Educators

1724 Bobby Jones Drive | De Pere, WI 54115

715-821-2432 | www.waae.com

July 21, 2025

Dear Adams-Friendship High School,

On behalf of the Wisconsin Association of Agricultural Educators, I want to thank you for supporting your school district's agriculture educator to serve on the Wisconsin Association of Agricultural Educators Board of Directors. In this role, teachers serve for two years as an alternate vice-president, followed by two years as a vice-president. The first two years have minimal time requirements as they only need to attend meetings if the Vice President of their section is not able to attend.

School districts often question what the value is for a teacher to take time away from their district to serve in this capacity. Here are a couple of testimonials from various viewpoints:

"Not only was I able to represent the agricultural educators throughout the State of Wisconsin, but I was able to learn about the different agricultural education programs and curriculum taught in other districts, which allowed me to expand the curriculum at my home school district."

~ Kim Houser, Agriculture Educator at Wisconsin Heights

"Our agriculture teacher's ability to stay connected with other agricultural educators through WAAE is invaluable. The knowledge base and leadership ability our teacher has gained far outweighs the substitute costs associated with their attending professional development opportunities."

~ Wayne Weber, Superintendent, Rosendale-Brandon School District

Agricultural educators are essential to teaching the next generation of agriculturalists and ensuring the long-term success of Wisconsin's agriculture industry. WAAE provides training opportunities and a collaborative network to mentor beginning teachers, retain experienced teachers, and sustain strong agricultural education programs across the state.

~ Randy Romanski, Secretary of Wisconsin DATCP

Throughout a teacher's term on the board, there will be board meetings in June, July/August, November, January, and March. Meetings typically coincide with FFA leadership conferences, where many secondary teachers will be in attendance already. Conference calls and committees will be set up and utilized on an as-needed basis.

Your district's commitment to this organization and profession is greatly appreciated. We look forward to the opportunity of you allowing your agriculture teacher to work with us to make our profession the best it can be.

Sincerely,

Mary Handrich
Executive Director
Wisconsin Association of Agricultural Educators

Wisconsin Association of Agricultural Educators

1724 Bobby Jones Drive | De Pere, WI 54115

715-821-2432 | www.waae.com

July 21, 2025

Dear Dodgeville High School,

On behalf of the Wisconsin Association of Agricultural Educators, I want to thank you for supporting your school district's agriculture educator to serve on the Wisconsin Association of Agricultural Educators Board of Directors. In this role, teachers serve for two years as an alternate vice-president, followed by two years as a vice-president. The first two years have minimal time requirements as they only need to attend meetings if the Vice President of their section is not able to attend.

School districts often question what the value is for a teacher to take time away from their district to serve in this capacity. Here are a couple of testimonials from various viewpoints:

"Not only was I able to represent the agricultural educators throughout the State of Wisconsin, but I was able to learn about the different agricultural education programs and curriculum taught in other districts, which allowed me to expand the curriculum at my home school district."

~ Kim Houser, Agriculture Educator at Wisconsin Heights

"Our agriculture teacher's ability to stay connected with other agricultural educators through WAAE is invaluable. The knowledge base and leadership ability our teacher has gained far outweighs the substitute costs associated with their attending professional development opportunities."

~ Wayne Weber, Superintendent, Rosendale-Brandon School District

Agricultural educators are essential to teaching the next generation of agriculturalists and ensuring the long-term success of Wisconsin's agriculture industry. WAAE provides training opportunities and a collaborative network to mentor beginning teachers, retain experienced teachers, and sustain strong agricultural education programs across the state.

~ Randy Romanski, Secretary of Wisconsin DATCP

Throughout a teacher's term on the board, there will be board meetings in June, July/August, November, January, and March. Meetings typically coincide with FFA leadership conferences, where many secondary teachers will be in attendance already. Conference calls and committees will be set up and utilized on an as-needed basis.

Your district's commitment to this organization and profession is greatly appreciated. We look forward to the opportunity of you allowing your agriculture teacher to work with us to make our profession the best it can be.

Sincerely,

Mary Handrich
Executive Director
Wisconsin Association of Agricultural Educators