

Dear JH Stamping Studio Customer:

I want to let you know about a change to Stampin' Up!'s shipping and handling pricing. Starting April 1, the minimum shipping charge will increase by $1.00, from $6.95 to $7.95—or by one percentage point, from 10% to 11% of the total order amount—whichever is greater. As an example:

- Orders under ~$72.50, the $7.95 minimum shipping charge will be applied.
- An order of $72.50 or more the 11% applies. Shipping on $72.50 = $7.98.

I want to make sure you're aware of this change, as it impacts both you and me. Stampin' Up! Has not changed their shipping prices in over 10+ years and is only one of many companies that have had to increase their shipping and handling costs in response to the global supply chain crisis. Stampin' Up! has worked hard to keep the increase as minimal as possible so they can continue bringing you the unique, high-quality, and coordinated paper crafting products we love. I appreciate your business, and I'm happy to help you figure out the shipping costs for your order any time you'd like to know before purchasing.

There are a couple options to keep in mind when you're facing the minimum $7.95 shipping charge on orders under $72.50:

1. I typically place two orders of my own each month. You are welcome to add your order to mine. You will need to pay me by PayPal or Venmo at the time the order is place. This order is shipped to me, so arrangements will need to be made to pick up you order, or meet you at a central location.
2. You also have the option to call me to place your order in the monthly host code. (I post one each month) With this order options, I am able to enter your payment information into the order system which avoids the Paypal or Venmo payment. This order will also deliver to me. You should also know that I wait to close/finalize the order until I have enough orders so that the 11% shipping applies. Keep this in mind if you need product sooner than later as the order will be delayed for a few weeks.

If either of these options are something you are interested in doing, let me know and I can plan to email anyone when I'll be placing my order and/or closing the host code order each month. I often don't receive any orders using the monthly host code, so #1 may be your best option.

As outlined in the email with this notice, the Last Chance Product list and sale is a great opportunity to stock up on your favorite products while supplies last before they sell out and before the shipping price goes up on 4/1.

Thank you for your support!
