

DEFINITION

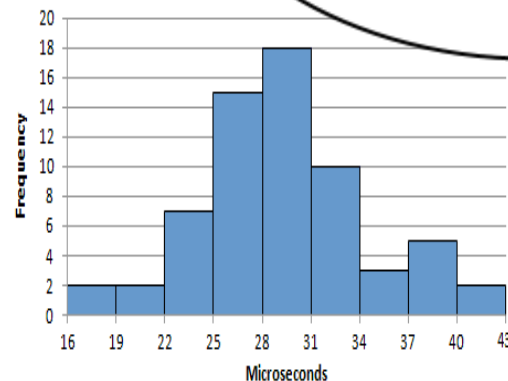

A chart that uses the height of a rectangle to represent grouped frequency of continuous data

CHARACTERISTICS

- Bars are joined together at the ends of the groups
- Can only be used if the groups are equal sizes
- The frequency axis should start at 0
- Both axes should have a title

Frequency Chart

EXAMPLES

NON-EXAMPLES

