

Historical Archive - Retired/Inactive Chuubas - LeftOVERS

Last backup 05/01/25 - Last update 08/01/24. (Remember to change the update date if you change anything, but keep the “last backup” thing intact). (We use DD/MM/YYYY, we are not savages here).

If any link is broken, please mention “Google Docs anon” on the thread with the respective broken link (and location) and I’ll do my best to restore it.

This is an archival effort to record the history of FlaVR, including all the “joke accounts”, accounts that had one or two streams before abandoning ship, leftover prompts made by /our/ Alwrangling anons and accounts that properly “retired”.

Most designs were made on these streams:

- Fresh: youtu.be/GIM5Xm0cVN8
- Juwun: youtu.be/LB3lC7iokAl
- TxC: youtu.be/vZUhQec0v8l
- Brew: youtu.be/2HKEH_sAQ88

All other characters were designed /here/ by AI-wrangling Anons or conceptualized by the chuubas themselves.

FlaVR History

Keep in mind most of this history is recalled from memory, so certain events might have happened in the wrong order or be ever so slightly wrong. I’ll try to keep it accurate, but remember that.

This will be separated into discrete chapters that are not chronologically related unless stated so.

The Beginning

It all started when Pipkin Pippa, the schizo rabbit from Phase Connect, decided to prompt her very own Vtuber Corporation with NovelAI and the help of chat. After many iterations she ended up with the original list of chuubas that are now known as FlaVR Fresh. Immediately after the stream (and also DURING the stream) people started playing around with the characters, such as THE FIRST FlaVR-related Account being a guy who renamed his account to “I anti Rika Paprika”.

Immediately after the stream, several accounts for the chuubas were made, mostly as a joke. Most of these early accounts were either men joining in on the joke or no post accounts, and survive as historical records of the early installment scuff.

It all changed, however, when Sena had her first minecraft stream. Still nervous about having an audience, using the PNG from Pippa's stream and with such a low resolution that you physically cannot read chat, it was for most intents and purposes a pretty mediocre stream, but it opened the floodgates, as not only was an actual female streaming, but she fit the character design exceptionally well, being a DIYer, southerner, big booba'd, etc.

Anons and other Pippa fans realized that the whole FlaVR concept had more weight than anticipated, so they started joining in. Sena herself getting more confident and streaming with more intent, even having her first unarchived (ask around in the thread) karaoke stream. She even sang "Convoy" for the first time.

Mpreg

Trying to see just how far they could push the idea, Lia designed a series of "mpreg" characters in a joke stream, openly stating that she didn't expect anyone would use them, as the concept itself (male pregnancy) felt just right for people to not touch it. Much to her surprise when people did. Most of these channels are dead, but they were an experience. Some of these returned to their PL, and one became a FlaVR Friend (Bagstard).

Character Changes

Nyana Sextyn9

She was originally designed as an "e-thot" with a "SEXOOOO" body, which Nyana followed at first (even subscribing to tens of sexually themed channels/playlists). After doing some streams as this sexually charged design, Nyana asked on /fvr/ if it'd be ok if she toned that down and got a less "SEXO" character, to which most agreed. After getting some help from AI anons, she settled on this now petite design and personality which more closely matches hers. A while later, she debuted a fully rigged L2D smug loli model. She has renamed as well, to Nyana Banyana and got herself a gun called "Pepe".

Sena Bonbon

Sena was originally designed as a very tanned/brown woman with massive breasts. As sena is her own rigger, she has slowly tweaked the character to fit her tastes better. Sena 1.0 (First Live2D) had large but not obscenely large breasts. Sena 2.0 was notably whiter than Sena 1.0, which is explained in "lore" as her having accidentally gotten doused in bleach.

Rika Paprika

Rika was originally designed as a chilean tomboy that worked under Donna, the character was taken by a Puerto Rican guy who now streams as Rika. During Rika's debut, a Chilean anon mistook his Puertorican accent with an Argentinian accent and went into despair, explaining that an Argentinian was once again trying to take over a Chilean creation, as they allegedly tended to do. It was eventually confirmed that Rika is, in fact, Puerto Rican, but the nickname “Rikargentinian” remains, much to Rika’s chagrin, as he has stated multiple times he dislikes that nickname.

Eventually, PR Rika stopped streaming, and an actual Chilean dude asked him if he could take over the character. PR Rika said yes. While it was not clear if PR Rika and CL Rika were both active or if PR Rika retired for good, PR Rika has come out on the FlaVRcord stating that he just simply didn’t enjoy streaming anymore, indirectly confirming that he ain’t coming back any time soon, at least not as Rika(PR).

Jubilee Jonagold

Jubi was originally designed as an onee-san, big breasted apple-themed elf. Jubi streamed for a good while under that character but once Pippa made Stela Fritter, she reincarnated as her.

Kinolime (Dr Lolime)

She changed how her name was written from “Lolime” to “Lollime” (an extra l), to help differentiate between her and Brolime, and to better reflect how she pronounces it.

Donna Vina D’Merlot

Changed her name to Donna Darkstar on the 23rd of May 2024. Name was suggested by one of her viewers and it won her twitter poll.

The Minna Arc

Minna Vanilla got a proper Live 2D made by Romania Chan (and another one made by a third person), which got released for free. Minna’s character was first properly used by Temp Minna, who was clearly using a voice changer (<https://twitter.com/TmpMinnaVanilla> | <https://www.youtube.com/@minnavanilla3291>). Claims were made that Temp Minna was involved in sexual misconduct with Pipkin Pippa, in which the latter demanded the former to “sucka da peepee”, and as such eventually left the company. Whether she left of her own volition or was coerced into doing so is unknown.

Minna, as a character, spent a while unused until Milliardo Beercraft:

<https://www.youtube.com/@MilliardoVT> | <https://twitter.com/MilliardoVT/>

Affectionately known as Beerman, managed to convince his wife to take over the character, which left us with the current breadmaking mom chuuba we know and love.

The Two Lolimes

The first to stream under the Dr Citrea Lolime name was the guy we affectionately call “Brolime”. <https://youtube.com/@doctorlolime> | <https://twitter.com/DrLolime>

The first Lolime stream was a no voice faux Among us collab to which no-one joined, as it was just to test the waters and see if people would join watch, which many did.

Brolime was tolerated but not accepted in /fvr/ for a good while, as many felt he had stolen the character from a girl who could fill it better. Eventually he not only became accepted, but cherished by /fvr/ at large.

The “Lolime should’ve been a woman, not a babi” issues were assuaged when the german girl affectionately called “Kinolime” asked on the thread if she’d be welcome to take the character AS WELL. After receiving the approval of the community, she started streaming:

<https://youtube.com/@drlollime> | <https://twitter.com/DrLollime>

Under the Dr. Lollime name (two Ls), foregoing the “Citrea” part. To avoid confusion, people started referring to her as Kinolime, while the guy Lolime as Brolime.

Kinolime has a very intense passion for the FNAF franchise, to the point of even considering buying an animatronic, which she (tragically) talked herself out of.

There’s a discussion to be had as to who is the true lolime, Brolime, as he came first, or Kinolime, as she’s a woman. Both are aware of the other and ok with the other’s existence.

Of note, the name “Lolime” is technically pronounced /ləulaɪm/ or “Low Lime”, but both brolime and kinolime pronounce it as /ləuli:me/ or “Loli Me-”, though brolime will use the proper pronunciation occasionally. You can track which Lolime a viewer watches more based on how they pronounce Lolime, as brolime watchers will sometimes fall into the proper “Low Lime” pronunciation.

The Hanger-Ons, Tenma and /pcg/ Drama

Soon after the whole FlaVR concept was established, many “FlaVR” accounts run by hanger-ons started accosting the Phase Connect talents in the vain hope of getting a shoutout. After being pestered by a lot of these hanger ons, Tenma Maemi openly posted on twitter that FlaVR was a scam and full of leeches trying to grab onto fame, which didn’t sit right with /fvr/, as it was a direct attack on the community.

/fvr/ eventually came to an understanding after learning that those hanger-ons tried to be leeches with the PC talents, but it is very likely Tenma still believes what she claimed about FlaVR, as most of the actual FlaVR talents didn’t want to bother her, so her only experience of it is the leeches.

Soon after this entire debacle, /pcg/ denounced /fvr/ as a leech group no better than a numbers poster.

Many anons still feel some resentment/tension towards Tenma, as she indirectly caused this break between the two communities, but she’s been pretty much forgiven.

FlaVR Invadrs & FlaVR Infusions

<https://twitter.com/FlaVRInvaders>

Invaders was a failed “coup” attempt by the same hanger-ons mentioned previously. The alleged “Invadrs” would be external indies that would just add the FlaVR tag to their name and call themselves FlaVR. Naturally this didn’t sit well with /fvr/, and they were mocked relentlessly. Eventually the Invadrs idea would establish itself properly via FlaVR “Infusions”, which Sour Grape VA, also known as Sawa-sama, is the first member of.

Sawa was an already established chuuba but decided on a whim to join /fvr/ and bring her audience along with her. As she had already collaborated with several FlaVR chuubas (mostly Brolime), she was openly accepted by the community, and her “generation” named “Infusions” both as a thematic link to the whole flavor thing and as a jab at the failed Invadrs project. The only thing Invadrs actually did was make a google docs form, which never saw use.

Marie Mixin & FlaVR Mixin

Mixie Mixin (<https://youtube.com/@mixiemixin> | <https://twitter.com/MixinMixie>) first joined FlaVR as “Marie Mixin”. She explained on debut that she had seen the Marie Mehlo design on the twitter post calling for chuubas to join and it deeply resonated with her, to the point she immediately commissioned art for the character and (to /fvr/’s opinion) got scammed, as she barely got anything for what she paid for. She then “joined” FlaVR as part of “FlaVR Mixin”, a project created by her that “mixed in” the outsiders with the insiders and felt using Marie’s design as well would be ok, since there were several double accounts (most of them the early installment duplicates that didn’t go anywhere, Brolime/Kinolime notwithstanding).

After a few streams and tensions mounting, some anons broke containment and told Marie Mixin that the Marie Mehlo character was already claimed, that Marie was not that happy someone else had claimed it and that unlike FlaVR Fresh, FlaVR Sweet was exclusively made in 4chan’s FlaVR thread in /vt/.

Mixie is an old school internet user, knowing the golden oldies, but never venturing into the recesses of 4chan, as she suffers some diagnosed and treated mental problems (mostly the ‘tisms). Once containment was breached, however, she ventured into /fvr/ and asked for feedback, which was lukewarm, as some anons saw her as nothing but another hanger-on, and others saw her as a chuuba doing her best. Reactions were mixed and “pigposting” happened. Soon after this, she decided to rebrand into the Mixie Mixin character and changed from the Marshmallow design to a Burnt Marshmallow design, which she felt fit her better, but many still saw it as too conceptually close to Marie, and she herself was not that satisfied with this redesign.

Eventually, Mixie settled on her current and, for the most part, final design, themed around a S’more, making the character brown skinned, which matches Mixie’s real life ethnicity (she’s african american) better than the pearly white marshmallow design did.

After the dust had settled and tensions were alleviated, /fvr/ at large accepted Mixie as the oddball but good hearted chuuba she is. For a good while, however, Marie was uncomfortable with Mixie, but has said on record she was ok with Mixie.

On her Graduation stream, Marie said she never hated Mixie, and shared that she spoke to Mixie during this time and explained to her that it wasn’t Mixie’s fault, but rather her own, as she felt another marie would just replace her, and that to keep her mental health in check, they shouldn’t interact for a while. This expanded into “MARIE HATES MIXIE!!” rrats. Marie claims that they may have not become friends, but she certainly started respecting Mixie after a while, and that the reason they didn’t “connect” was that their personalities simply didn’t match up, rather than actual animosity.

Support

FlaVR Support was made by some viewers to work as staff for the talents. This group consists mainly of: Support (Staff), Glave-san (Tech Assistant) and Mijack (AI Wrangler). As of late March they reside in the FLaVR fan discord helping organize what is happening behind the scenes. Temp has helped with rigging Araminta's Live2D and is trying to debut as well. After the great unflavring, support stepped down from the support role, deleted the FlaVR website (flavr.moe) and eventually left the community for good, deleting all his Support socials.

SlaVR

SlaVR was a harem based Story AI generated by Pippa Pipkin. As of now the group has 4 members: Aurelius Heisenikov, Rosalind, Elaina, and Chrysaor. Elaina graduated on April 23, 2023.

OP's Alcoholism

A running gag in /fvr/ is that the OP for any one thread is an alcoholic. This all started during early /fvr/, where the most active OP (the guy that posted the link with (FRESHLY BAKED)) would usually fuck up a thing or two, netting posts of "OP, you're drunk" or similar. This eventually evolved into the lore that the OP MUST be drunk to make a new thread and that sober people don't make new threads.

The Brolime Imprisonment Arc

Brolime and Jackie (A friend of Brolime on his Mylkshak3 project) did a pippilgrimage to the fabled Pippa billboard that was put up for Pippa's birthday. Brolime drove for several hours until they reached the billboard. Brolime took the chance to do a zatsu + 3D Concert under the thing, dancing and singing to Pippa The Ripppa.

After the whole ordeal, he wondered if he should climb the billboard, to which Pippa herself agreed, as she had appeared on stream enticing him to do so.

Streams cut not soon after this and an image of 3 people wearing hoodies being detained by a police officer right next to the billboard appears not soon after on twitter, which lead to rampant speculation that brolime DID climb the billboard and was arrested for it.

Brolime fed this narrative claiming that he was, indeed, arrested, and that people should donate to his "funds" to pay his bail, however, the link he provided was a link to Pippa's superchats.

After not streaming for a couple of days, in order to feed the narrative further, he returned with an original rap song where he explained it was all a farce, that some teens were indeed detained right under the pippa billboard, and he took the chance to create the narrative that he was imprisoned, all for the funny.

TO DO: ADD THE DOCTORS WITHOUT BORDERS IMAGE

Marie's Graduation

On her graduation stream, Marie explained the many reasons behind her graduation: Main one was lack of ownership over the design and expectations surrounding it, which meant she couldn't really change it nor the kayfabe to fit her better (she explained she was raised very, very poor, so being a rich Ojou was a difficult role to fill. Her design had medium sized breasts and huge thighs, but Marie wanted to be a Loli, so she felt she couldn't really change the character at all. She also felt she didn't own the character at all, because of all the anons claiming her design was one way or another.

Another reason, she claimed, was that FlaVR felt limiting, due to the association with AI art (which is controversial to say the least) and Pippa, and while she herself doesn't have any issues with Pippa, many do.

She also felt that there was no filter for who gets to join or not (as is the nature of FlaVR).

There was some insistence by some people that she should try to talk with so and so chuuba and maybe collab, and she felt pressured to do so.

The day before her graduation announcement, she found out someone leaked one of her old personal accounts from before she understood OPSEC (to keep anonymous, not leak your info, etc). Marie felt betrayed as she felt she could trust this someone (female), but this someone shared her account with several people.

Marie doesn't know exactly who leaked it, but had a general idea, and decided to NOT reveal who she thought it was, as it would be "terrible for everyone involved".

She decided to sing "Absolute Territory" By Ken Ashcorp, a song many had asked before but she had refused time and time again, as it is a bit yab.

For a poetic ending, Marie decided to sing "Chocological" one last time as she retired the character.

She appeared as Marie one last time on Nyana's Vtuber Karaoke collab stream.

Sena's FlaVR Nametag

Soon after Marie announced her graduation via tweet, an anon suggested that perhaps she was just graduating from FlaVR itself, and continuing as independent Marie, posting images of Sena's socials without the [FlaVR] tag on the name. (This was not the case, see here for details).

Sena used to say "Your resident DIYer at FlaVR" on her vod description, but the last time she used that was on the "The Rage Continues" Mario stream she did the 1st of May 2023. And the last time she had [FlaVR] on her Youtube name was on at earliest, the 7th of May 2023, as that's the last stream the redirect bot on the Sena Discord named her channel like that (it might have been changed later).

After some speculation and reaching out, Sena herself made a statement that explained her reasons for removing it. Essentially being that keeping the FlaVR tag would encourage future drama (probably due to the AI implications of FlaVR, the "not a real corpo" implications, and the dozens of hanger ons and drama with tenma, etc).

Sena has reassured everyone that she'll never disregard Pippa, FlaVR or the community, and is constantly aware of just how lucky she is. She'll continue to interact with FlaVR talents and will not disavow her OG FlaVR roots. She became a vtuber as a way to destress, so she removed the tag to keep the thing less likely to cause drama, thus less likely to stress her. Marie's acknowledgment of the dramafaggotry behind the scenes gives credit to this. Many anons, however, feel this is just corpo talk to handwave her "leaving" the group. Time will tell how this ends.

The Great UnFlaVRTaging or The End of FlaVRgelion

NiiCola, a cola themed character was designed by Pippa as a Vsinger. Someone took up the character but only had a scuff "debut". Not soon after, she stated on twitter that she'd be giving up the character to whomever felt more apt for it, but she'd keep it for vsinging and stuff until then. This and some unseen behind the scenes discord drama prompted the original crew of FlaVR to try and distance themselves from the FlaVR banner, much like Sena originally did.

As of 11:45 25/06/2023, Sena doesn't have her tag, Brolime renamed to "Some fan", with plans to redesigning to a red haired "teen lolime" named "Sour Brolime" but went back on it, now just named "Dr. Lolime". Nyana, Kinolime and Minna removed it but readded it soon after, Abigill, Donutello (Support), Support (Support), Sorin Sorrel (Male) and Sawa removed it as well, and Nayvell never had it in the first place on her youtube (she does have it on her twitter).

The main argument is that they felt obligated to cooperate/collaborate with anyone with the FlaVR tag, be they actual chuuba or grifter.

Support deleted the FlaVR.moe website and retired from the support role.

Needless to say this prompted some animosity in the thread, but beyond dramaposting, the anons felt hopeful that this would all be resolved, as they'd still be the chuubas, even if no longer having the tag next to their names, hope that was well placed, as nothing came of the lack of the FlaVR tag, for the most part.

Nyana also removed her tag on youtube the 3rd of August after she felt pressured to do so by toxic posts on Roza Coatl's chat during a collab earlier that week. She kept the tag on her twitter and her descriptions for a while, and stated that she does not plan on turning her back on FlaVR. She eventually fully rebranded to Nyana Banyana, rather than Nyana Sextyn9, but has kept in touch with FlaVR.

Support himself eventually completely distanced himself from FlaVR, to the point of deleting all her Support socials.

The Raimi Brolime RRAT

Ever since her debut, Raimi has been teased that she sounds like Brolime in some sentences, which was, originally, handwaved as her getting the speech patterns of streamers she watched. Raimi and Brolime eventually started collabing on Baldur's Gate, and interacting a fair chunk on twitter.

Suddenly on the 10th of September, however, an anon appeared out of nowhere and posted the giga rrat, that Raimi was a /xiv/ FFXIV poster, with namedrops, and cheated on her original BF with Brolime. This triggered an explosion on the thread, as anons began lurking. Twitchlurker anon found a specific link to a twitch vod that indeed sounded a lot like Raimi, this was confirmed by at least one other anon. Soon after, however, the link's VOD was completely scrubbed (thus implying it was indeed Raimi on the other side). The reaction was lukewarm, with some anons saying "who cares, cute chuuba is cute", others reacting with disgust if the rrat was indeed true (that she took the guy's money and computer, then broke the relationship cause she wasn't feeling it and cheated on the guy with brolime). This was not helped by the fact brolime and raimi posted the same meal on twitter, taken from two opposite angles (implying they both are eating the same thing), but the image could very well be rrat feeding by brolime and raimi, cause they would totally shitpost like that.

All in all, the thread took this thermonuclear rrat relatively well, and all is going well, beyond some cries that posting about the rrat on streams or outside the bread would lead to eradication. Raimi then disproved the more thermonuclear parts of the rrat (the cheating/theft).

The Grand Return

It's so Joeever. A cry of despair constantly heard on /fvr/ the last few months, as Minta had declared she'd probably graduate, as she was not feeling that great, Stela went on probably graduate indefinite hiatus for personal reasons, Marieposting, the Raimi Brolime rrat, etc. The feeling on the thread was of keeping the fire alive, out of duty, rather than will.

However, times changed. Minta returned from her vacation in Japan, invigorated again, and started streaming again, this time on Twitch.

Stela updated her fans that she was feeling slightly better and was maybe going to stream again.

Raimi, who had been on hiatus for a while, returned to streaming.

Marie's reincarnation was found (no PL doxx, so lurk moar).

Nyana's L2D debut hit 3view numbers.

Pippa designed coffee chuubas, some of which decided to join FlaVR.

All in all, we are eating good again. Good things come to those who wait.

Nyana's L2D Debut

Soon after Nyana started promoting her L2D debut on her circles, a few of her fans (lurk moar to find whom) started buying ads for her debut on 4chan, choosing to pay more than the standard rate to make sure they'd get to be the selected ad. The ads caught the attention of /vt/, mainly because someone actually bought ads. An anon demanded they buy another ad, so they did, quoting that anon in the ad image.

This prompted a lot of people to flock to Nyana's L2D debut, and she was really nervous about the whole ordeal, but debuted flawlessly. She got 350 CCV on average and more than 2000 views on stream, and a whopping 700 subs.

Not soon after, bait threads were being made about her, all but confirming she had made it to the big leagues.

The Strongest Mamabicho

On the second day of her donothon streams, a basedman that is theorized to be an oil baron, drug lord or arab prince, decided to, without prompting, donate $5000 to Nyana, all while she was asleep and the stream was playing old VODs.

Upon waking up, she realized that the man had donated her all that money, moment at which he decided to give another $5000, reaching the 10K threshold for her to show feet.

Overwhelmed by this, she profusely thanked the man, moment at which he decided to donate another $2000.

Nyana thanked the man and prepared all the appropriate things she had planned for the dono goals.

She at one point revealed her model's feet (rather than her IRL ones), and this prompted one man to become a seething anti, as he desperately wanted the gato feet, and ads on /vt/ promoting the last day of the donothon prompted a catalogposter to become a nyana anti as well, either for crab bucket mentality or just for shits and giggles (we don't know).

On the last day of her donothon, the man returns and tells her to check her throne, after he fully financed a 2 TB SSD, 8TB HDD, 256GB iPhone 13, air purifier, purifier filter replacements and a goddamned motherboard.

When asked, the man answered that he likes to find chuubas with small audiences but a lot of potential, and gives them a huge donation to help them get jump started.

The mamabicho community overall decided to crown the man as the strongest mamabicho, which he declined, saying that the strongest mamabichos are the community we find along the way and that the crown is shared between all.

Stela's Departure

Soon after reincarnating from the sensual Jubilee Jonagold into the squishy Stela Fritter, Stela got confronted with several IRL troubles, including being fired from her job and evicted from her house. This compounded with an already self-admitted menhera outlook on life made stuff really Cublala hard for her and she couldn't stream.

Feelings of isolation in FlaVR eventually detonated into her deciding to return to her PL, and openly inviting her Stela watchers to watch her as Cublala, if they felt like following her.

This did not sit well with /fvr/, as she disappeared all of a sudden, and deleted all her vods as cublala the moment /fvr/ found out about them, heavily implying she did not want to be found.

She eventually put out a statement (see here). She also not only unlisted, but also privated all her Stela/Jubi vods, much to the chagrin of her viewers. Some of her viewers complain that "it takes two to tango" and that if she wanted to make friends she should've reciprocated attempts at being friends, instead of keeping to herself, but no reply to this sentiment has been made.

All in all, it's been a hectic moment for FlaVR and /fvr/.

A while after this, she established a vtuber circle called 2D2U, alongside Araminta, and a couple others of the /asp/ "Old Guard". /fvr/ remains mostly neutral to this development.

Minta's Departure

Not as dramatic or explosively controversial as Stela's departure, since she had planted the idea (whether premeditated or not) that she was gonna retire from FlaVR eventually all the way back at the beginning of her streams, and reinforced it when she made that "Indefinite Hiatus/Possibly Graduating" post. After a full year as Araminta, she decided to rebrand away from FlaVR, as Rem Rorschach, a member of 2D2U.

A movement in the thread started to possibly rebrand into /fvr+/ - FlaVR & Friends, but opinions are mixed between rebranding, and keeping the thread as is (and the poll didn't quite work), so the movement has stagnated.

Sena's Terrorist & Twitch Arc

After streaming for a long while on youtube, the YT overlords suddenly decided she was promoting terroristic activities (because of a meme she said) and blocked her monetization, including memberships, supas and ad revenue for 3 months. Of course, youtube being incompetent as usual, denied her appeal instants after she appealed. Given that Sena had decided to be a streamer full-time, this prompted her to start streaming full time on Twitch, with occasional youtube streams. It is unclear if she'll return to Youtube after her "punishment" is over, or if she'll become a Twitch streamer full time, though she has at least said she doesn't want to abandon her Youtube viewers. It is possible she'll double-stream, as twitch has relaxed their ruling to allow double-streaming, but only time will tell.

Ghostpolitics Shitposting

Some anons decided it'd be hilarious (it was) to send shitpost videos of Raimi and Sawa for Ghost to react to, so of course, they sent a video of Raimi riding a dragon crashing into twin towers. He got angry at that (like he does) and that was that. This prompted a Guinea Pig (sawa watcher) to send him a sawa video as well.

Sawa: <https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=zL8HR9PTwO8>

Raimi: <https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=HPHZblaE1vI>

Simultaneously, Ghost had been displaying interest on the vtuber community, so he started interacting more with it, baiting and shitposting on twitter, like calling Kirsche a fattie to farm for responses.

Spooki

We don't speak about this faggot. Select the text in black to read, if you want.

[REDACTED]

2D2u's Death

Despite heavy fanfare from the 2D2u chuubas about their new streaming group, they have all but stopped streaming altogether as of the 2nd of June 2024, not even hosting discord “streams”, like they used to. Archive records from /vt/ suggest that this “ghosting” behaviour was not uncommon for any of the chuubas involved, and that they had done it before back when they leaped from their PL to their FlaVR incarnation, heavily suggesting that they have leaped into a new character again, but no such character has been found yet. Not to confuse their in-stream rebranding with a restart, as the latter implies abandoning everyone they’ve been streaming too to start anew, like mint or jubi/stela did.

Despite this some anons have suggested once more that the thread should be rebranded to /fvr+/, to include them, and the now somewhat unrelated chuubas that are the NLs of previous FlaVRs. This movement, like before, has stagnated.

Nyana's Inclining

In less than 4 months, Nyana has managed to climb all the way to consistent 3view with a 24K (and going up) subscriber base. This makes her a valid chuuba for /pi/, the medium sized vtuber thread, so some dialogue and discourse about her is now going to /pi/ over /fvr/, reducing overall thread activity. Some anons claim this will kill /fvr/ as the chuubas inevitably grow bigger, but others claim that these dry spells have happened before and will pass like they did before.

Retired/Inactive Chuubas

Marie Mehlo

Part of FlaVR Sweet, she was a marshmallow themed chuuba with an ojou kayfabe. Used to be called Marie, Mehlo or Ojou by her fans (Marshfellows), she was a soft-spoken girl with mild ‘tism that liked ASMR, vocaloid, singing, obscure and not so obscure games and reading.

The original Kayfabe for her joining FlaVR was that she paid a lot of money to KuroCorp to join (instead of the other way around), but it morphed into her just being a rich ojou-sama, which conflicted with her real life experiences (see below). It is heavily implied it was this, plus her worries about not being watched for being “her”, and her wish for a more loli character, that prompted her to graduate, as all the prompts and prompters always gave her wide hips and thighs..

A running theme on her streams was that whenever she sang, she'd sing Chocological, which she kept doing to the end, as the last song she covered in her graduation was indeed, Chocological.

She had a particular disdain for pennies and dolphins, to such a degree for the latter she used the concept of the "Dolphin Pit", as in, a hole in the ground filled with dolphins she finds and throws there to starve, where bad Marshfellows would be thrown into as punishment. Her chat responded with the claim that a whole "dolphin society" thrived on the pit right under Marie's nose. She had a casual back and forth with her chat, many of which were very dedicated fans. On a discord call with Araminta Aminthe, she revealed she liked munching on her pet's Pumice Cubes (to which Araminta retorted she liked biting on cork). After this was revealed to her fanbase, she earned the title "Pumice Muncher/Punisher". She even ate some pumice on her graduation as a last nod to her fans.

She explained at one point that she disliked drinking water after a terrible experience she had with it, that being her waking up in the middle of the night, and with an asleep mind drank dehumidifier water, which, of course, made her incredibly sick. To compensate, she drinks a lot of Pepsi, in what she admits might be an addiction.

Marie had a notable dislike of men, not quite misandry, but certainly a less than favourable view of them and said on a couple occasions she disliked the male branches of vtuber agencies, a constant joke in her streams was that males would be segregated to their own place, such as the "left room" in WobbleDogs, a room made of dirt with only mud to eat for the male dogs, vs the "right room", a proper room with actual food and equipment for the female dogs named after the FlaVR talents + Juwun-wobbledog (the only male wobble dog with right room privileges). Ojou had revealed at some point that she never finished high school, as her 'tism made it very difficult to thrive in the (((american highschool))) environment, and had a low self-esteem, to the point of seeing her graduation as not that big a deal to FlaVR as a whole, despite several people explaining the contrary.

Marie was raised very poor in real life in a "not so great" household, and had issues with her family, such as a brother that got into heroin, but kept a happy outlook in life.

Marie decided to graduate and retire the character as she felt FlaVR was not the place for her anymore, cause she felt people watched her for being a FlaVR rather than being her.

She wants to start from scratch with complete creative freedom, but doesn't want to link her previous audience to the new character as she feels that'd be a leechy and unfair thing to do.

She appeared as Marie one last time on Nyana's Vtuber Karaoke Collab stream, as this concert was prepared/promised before she decided to graduate, where she addressed the Marshfellows one last time, thanked everyone and finally stopped using the character for good.

If you can forgive a less than proper statement here, I miss her eyebrows, it was her best physical attribute, even more so than the thighs and hair.

This was her chunk on the OP, now officially moved to the archive:

►Marie Mehlo

<https://youtube.com/@mariemehlo> | <https://twitter.com/mariemehlo>

>Soft-spoken Ojou-sama kayfabe with mild 'tism, liked ASMR, vocaloid, singing, obscure (and not so obscure) games and reading. Officially Retired the 15th of May 2023 and had her last appearance the 24th of June 2023.

Coconut Blanc

https://youtube.com/@Coconut_Blanc | https://twitter.com/coconut_blanc

Part of FlaVR Sweet, he was a babiniku 3D artist with a detective kayfabe. When he first arrived and claimed the Coconut Blanc design, he was followed by a friend of his, who claimed the Jubilee Jonagold design, both being former /asp/ies.

Coco was also followed to /fvr/ by an /asp/ anti who somehow managed to successfully convince the overall community he was a threat to FlaVR and an overall terrible person, taking advantage of the early /fvr/ community being aggressively against male or babiniku chuubas, and posting some less than savory audios Coco had recorded in his Past Life as evidence of his unsavoryness.

There was also a good amount of somewhat hostile discussion as to whether or not he was a FlaVR or if he was a grifter, though some suspect that this discussion was instigated by the /asp/ anti.

This drama bled over to Jubi, as she came with him to FlaVR, and while she had gotten over that drama for the most part, there was still a marked disconnect between Jubi and FlaVR as a whole.

Coco laid low for a while and returned with the first (and only) episode of the 'Coconut Blanc project', which was fairly well received. After streaming for a few days, he realized he was not enjoying it and formally retired, though it is implied that this whole drama soured the experience for him.

Some anons claim that, in hindsight, it was Jubi/Stela the one that was troublesome, and Coco only got the bad /asp/ treatment for being close to her, though lurking in the /asp/ archives paint a more nuanced story of them both being less than saints, though still biased against Jubi/Stela.

Noriko Minori

<https://youtube.com/@NorikoMinori> | <https://twitter.com/NorikoMinorin>

Part of FlaVR Bitter, she was a seaweed themed chuuba with an easygoing vibe. Anons were hopeful that she'd start streaming after a couple successful Shorts, which featured a fully rigged Live2D model, but she stopped posting both on youtube, twitter and /fvr/. Was slated to debut in mid february.

Kusuri Kouyaku

https://youtube.com/@kusuri_kouyaku | <https://twitter.com/KusuriKouyaku>

Part of FlaVR Bitter, was a pill themed singaporean chuuba with a chill but nervous energy. Streamed a few times to a welcome audience with a well made Live2D model and was about to debut properly mid february, but disappeared.

She had mentioned she was in Law School, and her final posts on twitter mention she got an incredibly high score on her exams, to the point of being interviewed on TV for it, thus implying that she abandoned the Kusuri character to focus on her promising future law career.

Gumi Popu

<https://youtube.com/@gumipopu> | <https://twitter.com/GumiPopu>

Her FlaVR group is mostly undefined, as while she fit best on Sweet, she was lumped together with Bitter, then Infusions. She was a bubblegum themed chuuba, with a hacker kayfabe. She had warned that she'd stream infrequently, but has not given any signs of life.

Alunette Mignon

Few names in FlaVR are as cursed as the Alu name, 5 people have tried claiming the Alunette chuuba, but have retired/disappeared/etc. The Alu my beloved...bros are in agony. Alu was a french villain/meat themed chuuba, part of FlaVR TxC (Toxic).

The first Alu never got to stream and eventually deleted her channel but not her twitter:

<https://twitter.com/AlunetteMignon> | <https://www.youtube.com/@AlunetteMignon>

The second Alu actually posted a video but eventually decided to retire:

https://twitter.com/Alunette_Mignon | <https://www.youtube.com/@AlunetteMignonCh>

The third Alu only ever posted football and shitposts on her twitter. When the fifth Alu appeared, she tried convincing people to follow the new Alu.

<https://twitter.com/NotAlunette>

The fourth Alu never got to stream nor make an account. An anon had convinced his fiancée to start vtubing under the Alu name, but both decided to stop once they got the news she was pregnant (and planned to get married). As their aims in life suddenly switched they both unanimously decided to cancel (Best of luck with parenthood, alubro).

The fifth Alu had a pretty decent voice, hated france and Alu-anons were hopeful, but she, too, disappeared, deleting her twitter and youtube:

https://twitter.com/AlunetteMignon_

Fifth Alu returned on a Vocaroo, explaining her wish to eventually return to FlaVR, but isn't sure if she'll return as Alu or another character.

Some anons claim that when comparing the Vocaroo audio with the few surviving copies of Kohi's voice, they sound similar enough to claim Kohi was Fifth Alu, and instead chose Kohi when the opportunity came. She then returned to the thread on 03/06/24 to clarify she was not Kohi and probably won't be streaming anytime soon due to life reasons. There was no vocaroo or evidence that it was truly her, but anons seemed to recognize her from her past posts.

Sixth Alu has been seen around, chatting on several FlaVR streams. After vtweeting for a while, the newest alu finally decided to stream, confirmed babiniku. This only served to agonize the Alu my beloved...bros even harder, as their long wait was rewarded with a babi, not a female, though even then, the curse strikes once more, as Sixth Alu eventually decided to reincarnate into Suziblue "Overtime" O'Neal, one of the latest characters proompted by Pippa.

Original Donna Vina D'Merlot

Part of the original FlaVR Fresh cast (proompted by Pippa), had a couple streams until the VA revealed she was hired by the account owner to play along with the Donna character for a few days, and invited everyone to follow her real account. It is not known how many (if any) followed her real account. The character canonically died and was pending a memorial service the 26 of November, but said service never came.

Soon after the character died, the guy behind the account renamed it to Donutello Vina D'Merlot, and became support "staff", occasionally helping with assorted issues. Account is still active, but not as a chuuba.

<https://www.youtube.com/@DonnaVinaDMerlot> | <https://twitter.com/DonnaDMerlot>

Another person started using the Donna Vina character, posting and interacting with a Donna account on several pippa streams, and streaming with a vroid model, and openly explained that they were using a voice changer. Whether that means New Donna is a voice changer babiniku or a female that doesn't like her own voice remains to be seen. Some anons believe she might actually be a female that dislikes her voice and is using a voice changer, but this is just speculation.

Elaina

<https://www.youtube.com/@ElainaSlaVR> | <https://twitter.com/ElainaSlaVR>

Part of the SlaVR project, was a cowgirl/minotaur themed chuuba with a British accent, yet a voice that sounded conspicuously like Abigill Anemoia forcing said accent. Allegedly perished (read: retired) in a "tragic labyrinth accident" where she "activated a boulder trap" that "crushed her".

NiiCola (VSinger Edition)

<https://www.youtube.com/@NiiColaFlaVR> | <https://twitter.com/niiconiicola>

Her concept was originally cooked as a Vsinger character for FlaVR by Pippa herself, and the character not soon after was taken by a girl who heavily implied she'd start streaming. (PL name was here at one point but got expunged to avoid dramabait).

The first stream she did was allegedly so scuffed she deleted it outright. She then had several back and forths that she'd start streaming then not because of drama, eventually deciding to just give up the character, first keeping it only for posting songs, then giving it up completely, to the point of deleting the twitter and channel as well.

A new NiiCola appeared recently (2024), and debuted with a high effort shitpost song, which has the NiiCola anons hopeful. Only time will tell if she'll keep streaming, though the fact that she bought her own ads on 4chan is promising, as it implies she's in it for the long run.

Jubilee Jonagold

Not retired, but rather reincarnated. Jubi was an apple themed big breasted elf with a softspoken voice. Reincarnated into Stela Fritter.

Stela Fritter

<https://youtube.com/@stelafritter> | <https://twitter.com/stelafritter>

The character was designed by Pippa herself on this stream: <youtu.be/UQfOsbjqpXw>

After reincarnating from Jubilee, Stela had a good streak of streams under her belt, that is, until she got fired IRL and got evicted. This caused her a lot of stress, and she tried to make ends meet with a “donuthon”, which helped.

After a lot of thinking, she decided to quit FlaVR and return to her Past Life (now current life), which she revealed on a statement:

[REDACTED]

She openly invites everyone who liked her as Stela to follow her into her PL/New Life (Cublala), but understands if people don't want to follow her anymore.

Feelings among /fvr/ and the discords seem to vary between “I'm just happy she's streaming again” to “You could've at least told us directly, man.”

She's slightly controversial due to her decision to immediately delete all her PL/NL twitch vods the moment /fvr/ found it, heavily implying she did not want the greater FlaVR community to find out.

Formed an indie vtuber circle called 2D2U with her old crew from before FlaVR, this includes Araminta.

►Stela Fritter:

>Native American with soft-spoken hag energy. Got the Stanley Parable baby ending legitimately. Previously known as Jubilee Jonagold.

Araminta Aminthe

A thread-designed character, she was a very passionate lizard-themed (later co-opted into gecko/dragon themed) chuuba, with a penchant for extreme and prolonged ramble and tangent sessions, ranging from claiming that Nixon was definitely blamed for Watergate, to mentioning that she's seen that one dude that draws lines on famous couples' pictures so much her mind fills in the blanks now, she was sometimes teased for having prompted erotic stories starring herself and her favourite characters.

A bit of a coward that was unable to handle horror, but enjoyed what her viewers claimed was “demonic clown music” and more.

While Araminta was not her first try at streaming, she was well received, and had a full year of activity before deciding to rebrand, inviting her viewers to follow her to her new life as a member of 2D2u, now named “Rem Rorschach”. All in all, a very rounded chuuba.

Some anons claim that, in hindsight, the rebrand was kinda obvious, due to her claiming she’d probably graduate due to stress, only to walk back on that after coming back from vacation, ~~but this is mere speculation.~~

As of this update (16/06/24), it has been confirmed that the plan to rebrand was decided around the time she considered graduating, but that forming 2D2u and joining it was a bit of a spur of the moment decision. Some anons claim that 2D2u is a dead project as neither Cublala, Mashipyon nor Rorschach have streamed in more than a month, with the discord all but dead, and no signs of life from any of them. Some suspect that they may have rebranded, again, but this is speculation.

>Ramble and tangent lizard. Hetalia, Project Moon and AI enthusiast. Streaming exclusively on Twitch.

Kohi Aoife

A chuuba designed on one of Pippa’s several AI design streams, namely the coffee chuubas design. Kohi was a softspoken chuuba with religious inclinations and a very dedicated, if short-lived fanbase.

An anon posted her PL on the thread which caused some discomfort between her PL life and her FlaVR life, but her fans didn’t care about it. She eventually decided to retire from Kohi and continue on her PL, feeling less restricted to her PL topics, and was willing to continue being religious on PL, but (suspected to be the same guy) her PL got fully doxxed and her admittedly very yab content exposed to her ultranormie family, which strained her family relationships a lot, and she decided to stop streaming for the foreseeable future, even deleting her PL. She had promised to do one last Kohi stream, but with the whole IRL doxxing issue, it is unlikely.

She has confirmed on her now privated discord that she plans to return to streaming, but not as her PL nor as Kohi, essentially confirming she will NOT do a last Kohi stream, as she also lost the OG Kohi assets. She eventually confirmed that one of the reasons for her delayed return was that she’d be getting up to date with her college studies.

As of this update (16/06/24), she is streaming again with a thriving community, discord and youtube/twitch viewerbase, but the names will not be shared in the interest of avoiding that anti doxfag from finding her again, at least through this medium.

>Petite goth girl. Bible enthusiast.

Rika Paprika (Puerto Rico Edition)

One of the OGs at the beginning of FlaVR, Rika claimed the character for himself for a jest. The canon lore, according to Pippa, was that Rika was a chilean tomboy (female) “bodyguard” for the FlaVR group. Once he streamed for the first time, a chilean anon cried bitter tears after mishearing the accent, crying that it was not only a babi, but an argentinian babi (chileans and argentinians have a friendly/love/hate relationship, and, according to chileanon, the argentinians have a penchant for trying to steal chilean shit and claim it as argentinian all along). This spawned the Rikargentinian meme, which he absolutely hated.

He had some shitpost streams where he played this “game from his childhood” which turned out to be a fighting game with photographed men in their undies on a winXP machine, only to then play severed steel like it was nothing.

After a decent while streaming, he suddenly stopped, though he kept posting on twitter, and occasionally interacting with the other FlaVRs, up to and including the FlaVR Minecraft server. He was asked by a chilean guy if he could take over the character, to which Rika agreed. It is not clear if PR Rika and CL Rika share the character or if PR Rika retired, but he has yet to stream again, thereby being treated as dead, or at least hibernating.

Upon being asked, he revealed that he just stopped enjoying streaming and called it quits right then and there, but is still friends with some of the FlaVRs.

►Rika Paprika: <https://youtube.com/@RikaPaprikaFlaVR> | x.com/Rika__Paprika

>Fake chilean guy, sassy *rgentinian (actually Puerto rican).

Abigill Anemoia

One of the OG FlaVRs, not from the first FlaVR AI proompt streams, but rather the one where Pippa and Panko designed TXC. Had a lot of issues with her rig, from shitty microphone issues to severe lag when playing anything at all. At one point her computer broke completely and she went on hiatus for a good while as it got fixed.

Had an inside joke with her viewers that she was a piss fish, as on one of her first minecraft streams, she had acquired a yellow bed and claimed that she peed on it (turning it yellow). This spawned the piss fish joke, which endured until her graduation.

Wanted to stream with Alunette Mignon, if any ever appeared, but no one did, given that the Alu name is cursed.

Good artist and a memelord at heart, she'd make fun stuff on stream, had collabed with Nyana (back when she was Sextyn9 and not Banyana) a couple of times, even meeting up with her IRL on a beach stream.

Had spoken about LGBT stuff on stream a couple of times, and had drawn stuff supporting it.

On her reincarnation, she confirmed she was in a relationship and requested no shipping art of her (new) incarnation, though she didn't specify anything else.

Decided to reincarnate because she got the artist brainworm that wants to make art for herself by herself and the like, so she decided to start from zero, using a new model, new design and starting as a groupless indie. She has seen success so far, and isn't hard to find if you look closely.

►Abigill Anemoia: <https://youtube.com/@AbigillAnemoia> | x.com/AbigillAnemoia

>Puertorican fish, art inclined memelord, tries to stream despite lag and computer issues. Retired and reincarnated as of 18/04/2024 and will be moved to the archive in 5 threads time as of that date.

LeftOVERS

THESE CHARACTERS ARE NOT OFFICIAL AND SHOULD BE TREATED AS SUCH UNTIL OTHERWISE SPECIFIED.

We believe the number of streamers in FlaVR is already pretty big for the audience we have and don't consider it wise to have new members for the moment, the original characters being generated are for creative expression only. Please do not use them without first talking it through with the community as a whole. Any person trying to take any of the characters in this document and trying to make them "real" will generally not be supported until a consensus is met to support any character/group of characters (While this sounds serious, just ask before using any of these, the anons are easygoing and will probably go out of their way to help if you ask first).

Just remember that we are all here to have fun, and proooooooooompt responsibly :)

8/14/24 Amanda Splatts AI Generation Stream

Amanda Splatts OVA, on the early morning of 8/14, created seven v-tubers using a very basic word or series of words, running them through Google Gemini to create new v-tuber information, and used Microsoft Co-Pilot to create images for these v-tubers. No AI art tags because Microsoft Copilot doesn't work that way, she used the physical descriptions and tailored them into full sentences, generating most of them live on a vertical stream. She stated this was her giving back to the document that helped create her in the first place. She then went to the public pool.

Flipper Faye (Pinball)

Name: Flipper Faye

Date of Birth: March 21st (Spring Equinox, symbolizing rebirth and new beginnings)

Hair Color: Metallic silver

Hair Style: A high ponytail with a pinball-shaped clip

Eye Color: Bright, glowing neon blue

Outfit Style: Futuristic, with a mix of sleek lines and playful polka dots

Outfit Color: Primarily black and silver, with neon blue accents

Types of Streams: Gaming, chatting, singing, and pinball tutorials

Favorite Video Games: Fast-paced arcade games and rhythm games

Favorite Anime: Neon Genesis Evangelion (for its blend of mecha and psychological themes)

Surprising Factoid: She can actually control pinball machines with her mind.

Favorite Food: Mice (jokingly) or actually, sushi

Favorite Music: Electronic, with a dark, atmospheric vibe

VTuber Activities

Stream Types: Gaming, chatting, singing, ASMR, and drawing

Favorite Video Games: Horror games, puzzle games, and rhythm games

Favorite Anime: Dark fantasy and psychological thrillers

Unique Traits

Surprising Factoid: Viper Vixen has an uncanny ability to mimic human speech perfectly.

Catchphrase: "Hiss and tell!"

Character Concept: Viper Vixen is a mysterious and alluring VTuber with a dark, edgy personality. She's often seen as intimidating but has a playful and mischievous side. Her love for horror games and dark anime adds to her enigmatic charm.

Kept here for historical purposes, this is so fucking outdated it's not even funny. I won't even bother organizing this shit.

If there's no prompt for the model you're using, default to NAI prompts. You'll probably have to tweak around.

-Untested:

Hentai Diffusion (no prompts currently), use either NAI or Any V3 prompts.

AbyssOrange (MehloAnon's Prompts)

Hentai Diffusion

Optimized for obscure poses and detailed hands/faces. While designed with erotica in mind, it can compete with NAI and AnyV3 relatively well, with some notable aesthetic differences. Largely deprecated in favour of dedicated models or mixed custom models.

Use the NAI or AnyV3 prompts for HD, as we don't currently have specialized HD prompts to use.

Source: <https://github.com/Delcos/Hentai-Diffusion>

Start your positive prompt with masterpiece, best quality, anime, 1girl.

Use the HD negative prompt when using Hentai Diffusion, as the current HD models were trained with the negative prompt in mind.

Keep in mind that the negative prompt has a lot of superfluous negatives, intended to make anatomical prompts (such as bare breasts, genitals, limbs, etc) look normal. While NAI and Any V3 can make "good enough" genitals and assorted body parts, HD can make very detailed renditions, with the caveat of needing very precise negative prompts to counter the mishaps it might make.

You can get away with just using the NAI negative prompt if you aren't trying to make detailed erotica, but beware the many limb gore monsters.

Negative Prompt

Check here for the negative prompt.

Useable Models

Models that have seen some actual use by the AI anons and have been received well. The NAI or AnyV3 models work well enough, post your specialized prompts under the respective model if you find a special prompt set that works better with these.

*.Safetensors files for older models (NAI, AnyV3, HD and AO)

Try using these instead of the *.cpkt files, as these load faster and are less prone to crashes and issues.

Consider getting the *.Safetensor directly from the source rather than here, as this torrent isn't up to date with the latest developments.

Just use Any V3 and NAI for characters and AbyssOrange for gorgeous images (harder to use). Post results and prompts/settings if you find something interesting with another model.

Anything V3

A chinese generalist model, it can output decent images for most prompts, but has some issues when making anime characters, such as insisting on a skirt lift pose (Add 'skirt lift' to the negative prompts to stop this) when making females. Can make nudes really well, though it has some issues with posing.

Just like nAI, it's gotten outclassed by modern models, like AutismMix or Anima-pencil.

Start your positive prompt with -masterpiece, best quality, anime. <-(helps but not as important as it is on NAI models)

Use the NAI Negative Prompt. Add skirt lift to the negative prompt to stop the skirt lift pose.

Stuff that's at the forefront of AI image development, has been developed VERY recently or is new to our Alnons. Not to be confused with Experimental Stuff, as Experimental stuff is not quite stable or requires more technical knowledge to use.

Bleeding Edge

Keep in mind this is Bleeding Edge relative to us. Other communities such as /vtai/, /hdg/, etc might have more experience with these, or even see them as outdated.

Stuff will be moved away from Bleeding Edge into its own Category once it gets enough use/experimentation by our Alnons.

Realistic Hands Hypernetwork

Trained with a 3D database of human hands, While originally found on a Touhou AI discord, an Anon in that discord shared the hypernetwork on the thread. Add "myhands" to your positive prompt to reinforce the good hands and "realism, photo, photorealism, photography, 3D" to your negative prompt to avoid realistic hands whilst keeping the proper hand shapes. Creator suggests a network strength of 0.5. (D*scord Link Here)

Extremely deprecated due to Hypernets being ancient tech by now. Still works though, but I can't emphasize just how deprecated this shit is, do not use it, use the better hands Lora instead.

~~Consider using the Realistic Hands Hypernetwork. Most recommend using it at 90% strength.~~

Hypernetworks are severely deprecated. Use the bad hands negative lora/embeds instead.

Welcome to the FlaVR AI prompt list. Gen 1, Toxic and Marie were made with NovelAI, so the prompts were originally optimized for it. If you happen to find a good set of prompts for the other models, please test with the test prompt and add the outcome there and prompt on the model.

AbyssOrange is a specialized merged model set derived from photorealistic images, made with a photorealistic block [instagram-latest-plus-clip-v6e1_50000 + f2222 + sd1.5_pruned] and Anything V3 Get a good grip on prompting with NAI and AnyV3 before jumping to AbyssOrange.
