MARKETING BRIEF

1. Background + Context

To Include: business, category and cultural context; Why now? How will this initiative help us achieve our brand and/or business ambition? What are the challenges and opportunities? What does the market and category landscape look like?

2. Objectives + KPIs

1. Total Addressable Market:
[Highlight here your calculations for the TAM]
2. Business Objective:
[The business objective should clearly outline what we need to drive for the business.]
3. Business KPIs:
[Define what success looks like from a business perspective & set targets (even if they're hypotheses we're validating)]
4. Marketing Objective:
[The marketing objective should define what this campaign must do to deliver the business objective.]
5. Marketing KPIs:
[Define what success looks like from a marketing perspective & set targets (even if they're hypotheses we're validating)]
6. Product KPIs:
[Define what success looks like from a marketing perspective & set targets (even if they're hypotheses we're validating)]
7. Sales KPIs:
[Define what success looks like from a sales perspective & set targets (even if they're hypotheses we're validating)]

3. Target Audience

Who is the core target consumer we are trying to reach? Is there a primary ("bulls-eye") and secondary target audience?

For a brief to be effective, we must clearly define our target, including their demographics, psychographics, and insights into their motivations and behaviors. Consider the following information should act as a start:

- Segment name (if applicable)
- Gender
- Household makeup
- Relationship status
- Age
- Suburban or urban
- Users or non-users
- Category users or non-users
- What are their motivations? This framework can be used to help uncover motivations.
- What are their barriers?
- What are their needs?
- What are their behaviors and knowledge around the category? Where/how/when does it fit into their lives?

5. Proposed Channels & Deliverables

Proposed Channels

Consult with channels teams to fill in what channels you are considering for this campaign. This should not be a 'final' list, but one that will continue to be evaluated and refined as the creative concept and go-to-market plan come to life.

Paid: [Insert proposed paid channels - tv, OOH, print, radio, podcast, digital, direct mail, etc.]

Owned: [Insert proposed owned channels - CRM, web, social, blog, etc.]

Other: [Insert proposed other channels - partners, events, experiential, etc.]

6. Sales Strategy, Enablement & Training Considerations (B2B)

These should reflect things that the sales enablement and sales ops must do in the campaign and things that you would like them to consider as they are building out the launch strategy. Also include upsell/cross-sell strategies

Critical Must-Haves (include Legal considerations when necessary)

- [Insert any commitments that MUST be included in creative]

Global Considerations

- [Insert any considerations that should be kept in mind as the creative is developed]

Regional Considerations

- [Insert any considerations that should be kept in mind as the creative is developed]
