Introduction (Georgia 11, bold, capital initial letter)

The introduction must contain a complete description of the problem that is narrated in a clear and detailed manner and contains the urgency of research supported by authentic data and facts, and ends with a specific purpose. The contents of the introduction are written in the regular Georgia font 11. It contains discussed background topics, general understanding of terms that are the subject of research, relevant research results that have already existed, research objectives, and reveal the novelty of the paper discussed. The length of the introduction text is at least one full page. The introduction must be supported by a minimum of 5 recent international journal articles in the past 5 years. Authors need to avoid presenting data in the form of tables or pictures or complete research results, it is highly recommended to write only the results or conclusions. Reference writing follows the Havard system which starts with the surname or last name of the first author and is followed by et al. Which starts with the surname or last name of the first author and is followed by et al. if the author is more than two people then followed by the reference publication year (Changwong, K., Sukkamart, A., & Sisan, B, 2018:11).

Methods (Georgia font 11, Bold, Capital)

The writing method uses the usual Georgia font 11 with single spaces. Describe in detail the data collection procedure starting from the sample or research subject used, the research design, to the analysis technique. The method section should be narrated in paragraph form containing clear sentences, but if the research procedures and analysis techniques are too long, they may be presented in the form of a flow chart. This section should not write down the theoretical basis except for the basis for confirmation or decision making. Furthermore, a reference may be written which is the basis for the modification of the research procedure or analysis technique used. Inclusion criteria of the studies to be included were: (a) studies assessing factors influencing acceptance and choice of therapy for cancer patients, for all types and stages of cancer; (b) qualitative research; (c) published within the last 10 years; (d) studies using single and multimodal therapy; and (e) studies on factors and access that influence actualization of cancer therapy (Changwong, K., Sukkamart, A., & Sisan, B, 2018:11).

Results (Georgia font 11, Bold Capital)

The presentation of the research results and their discussion must be written in a single unit, after which the data on the research results are discussed in depth with citations in relevant journal articles. The writing of this section uses the usual Georgia font letters in 11 fonts and single spacing in the form of aligned left and right and the beginning of the paragraph fits into 7 letters from the left margin (Changwong, K., Sukkamart, A., & Sisan, B, 2018:11).
