

Acacia's Two Sentence Stories.

1st Entry:

As he jogged through uncharted alleys like he always did daily, he let his mind wander. It was quite fascinating to him how, thanks to Solana's DePIN tech, he would finally have enough rewards for mapping his paths to get himself new running shoes.

2nd Entry:

"aaahh...aah", the baby muttered; as his mom called out, "Sam, our baby's about to say his first words".

Excitedly, they both crouched over the baby as he babbled, "so-lana, solaanaa", leaving them looking puzzled, trying to figure out what he said.

3rd Entry:

He felt a light tap on his cheek as the words reached out to him, "hey, you good?"

As he opened his eyes and slowly came to, his savior said, "hey, you were in an accident; we could only salvage this from the crash", handing him his Solana mobile.