Submitting a chapter campaign proposal

This year, we will be soliciting campaign proposals from chapter members and voting to pursue one campaign together as a chapter.

Madison Area Democratic Socialists of America

Why campaigns?

We have limited capacity, both as individuals and as an organization. Through one collective campaign, we can focus our people power to make real change in our community. By choosing just one campaign, we are acknowledging that MADSA cannot realistically address every political issue that arises. There will always be things we choose to dedicate our capacity to, and by definition, there will always be things we do not dedicate our capacity to. The tradeoff of focus is inherent to what a priority is, it's not negotiable.

Through campaign proposal discussions at Convention, we bring these political questions into the open, and require ourselves to negotiate the tradeoffs, and consider our strategy together, creating a healthy internal culture.

What is a campaign?

A political campaign is an organized effort to achieve specific political goals or changes.

DSA Campaigns do the following:

Win material change: People are suffering under capitalism right now. Delivering changes that affect people's daily, material lives inspires hope that things can get better and can motivate people to join with us in our fight.

Directly confronting capitalist class: Our campaigns are chances to introduce socialism to everyone, far beyond our normal DSA reach. Campaigns can serve as political education vehicles that help heighten class conflict and show the power of collective, not individual, action.

Shift Power: Not just winning a campaign demand or election, but through winning it, shifting power (even slightly) towards the working class and away from those who currently have it - even if we don't see the shift right away.

Breaking down a campaign

Campaigns have a clear demand, target, goals, base, timeline and escalating tactics. Members submitting campaign proposals should fill out the 2024 Madison Strategic Campaigns Proposal Worksheet, which walks you through the elements of a campaign.

 2024 Madison Strategic Campaigns Proposal Worksheet

Example campaigns:

- Pushing a BDS resolution in the City Council
- Municipalize the power grid
- Opposing demolition of public housing

Examples that are NOT campaigns:

- Developing and executing Know Your Rights trainings
 - This is not a campaign because it has no target or demand
- Support striking workers
 - This is not a campaign because it has no clear demand or target in and of itself
- Build a tenants union
 - This is not a campaign because it has no clear demand or target in and of itself

A MADSA campaign, specifically, involves a democratic, flexible, and collaborative approach to our goal setting and strategizing.

How campaigns are implemented:

- Membership identifies strategies best suited for the collective campaign and allocates resources
- Campaign leadership is democratically elected. Campaign leadership coordinates campaign work and moves it forward
- Chapter meetings prioritize campaign updates and decision-making
- Membership may create work groups to help with various aspects of running a campaign, like Communications, Organizing, Political Education
- Existing Working Groups fold agreed upon strategy into their work when opportunities arise (by devoting some number of meetings throughout the year to a priority or priorities, by doing study groups around specific issues, etc.)
- Exec takes direction from membership when making decisions about allocating resources (committees, meetings, funds) toward items designated for campaigns

How to submit a campaign proposal

Any member in good standing may submit a campaign proposal. All campaign proposals must have no less than 5 chapter members signed on as co-sponsors. This is to help ensure campaign proposals come forward with a good level of buy-in and commitment, and to encourage campaign development to move outside of Working Group silos and build ties across chapter formations.

Submitting Working Group reports and charters

Working Group reports provide the chapter a summary of what each Working Group has done in the past year. If a Working Group wants to recharter, or a group of 5 members in good standing want to form a new Working Group, they must submit a charter. Current charters can be found on our website. All working group charters are required to have at least 5 co-sponsoring members in good standing signed on (including co-chairs).

Madison Area Democratic Socialists of America

Membership at Convention may decide whether or not to recharter a Working Group based on: if they have achieved their past goals, if they've made judicious use of their budget, if they are contributing to the growth or capacity of the chapter, etc.

Members interested in serving on the Community Accountability Committee are encouraged to contact our current committee on Slack to talk more about their positions: Ally B, Dan F. Submit nominations here.

How will decisions be made?

Voting

During the 2023 MADSA Convention, we will be using the following voting methods to fit with our in-person meeting:

- We will discuss then vote on working group charters in person at the Goodman Community Center.

- We will vote on Exec and CAC positions using OpaVote, sent to all members via email on March 24th
- We will discuss and then vote for a single campaign in person at the Goodman Community Center

Making amendments

Working Group reports/charters and campaign proposals will be posted to the #general Slack channel 7 days prior to Convention. Members can propose amendments to proposals before Convention meetings on the #general Slack channel (contact dsamadison@gmail.com if you have trouble accessing Slack). Proposers can decide whether to accept amendments; once they accept a proposed amendment, the Convention Planning Committee will update the original proposal with red, bolded language to denote additions, and will denote cuts with red, strikethrough font. All amendments must be final by noon on Friday, March 22 for the March 23rd meeting. Members will not be able to propose amendments on the floor, unless the meeting chair and proposer(s) in question agree that an amendment is friendly.
