

In an attempt to arm the slaves, John Brown led an attack on the U. S. Arsenal at Harper's Ferry.

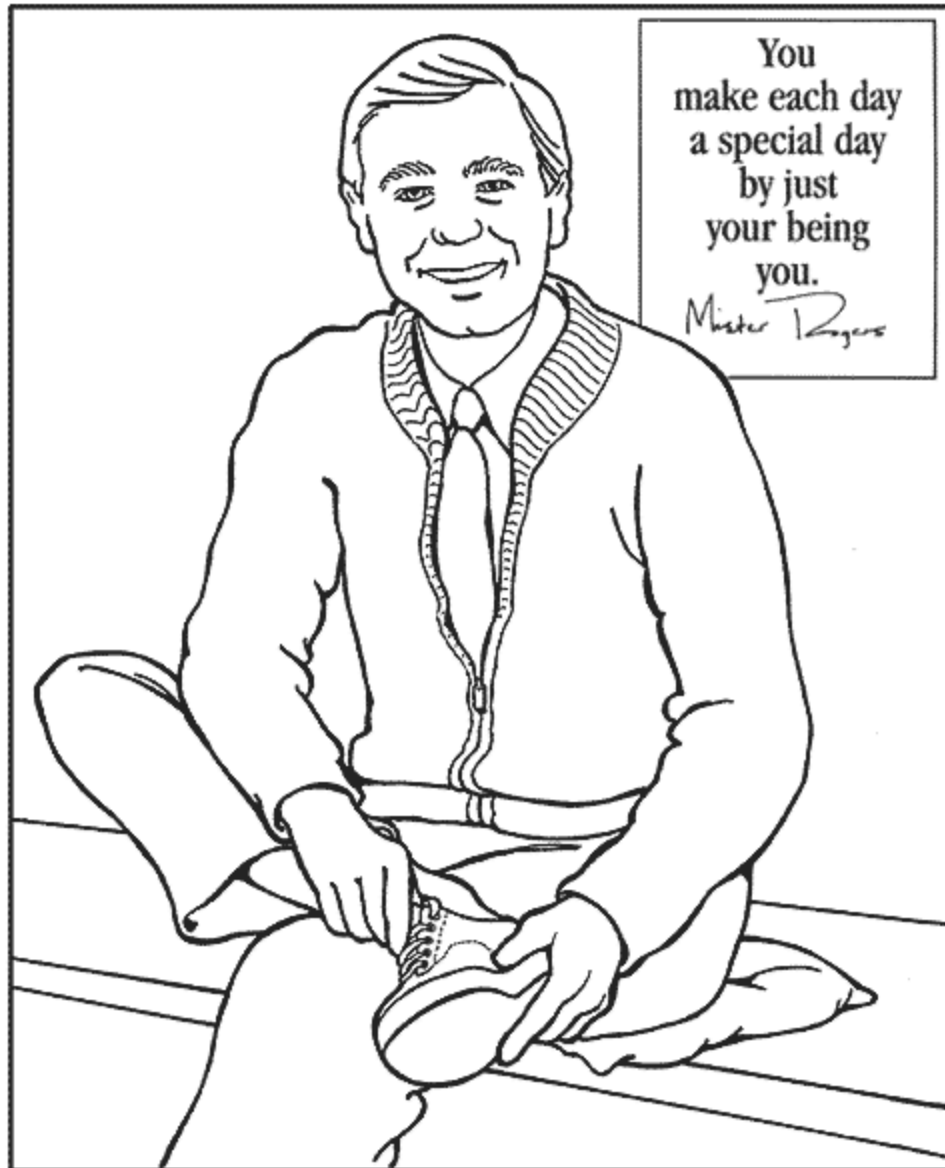

John Brown was an abolitionist, he wanted to end slavery. He gave black people at the time tools to fight for their freedom. He worked with the Underground Railroad to guide runaway slaves to freedom.

GLORIA STEINEM

Amy Lenahan

Gloria Steinem was a feminist, activist, and designed learning for girls, boys, and of every color. Barack Obama awarded her the Presidential Medal of Freedom. She works to empower young girls and believes women of all races should be included in feminism.

You make each day
a special day by just your being you.

Mister Rogers

© Copyright Family Communications, Inc. All rights reserved.

Fred Rogers was a popular kids tv show host, and worked to include different ethnicities into his show. He also hired black hosts onto his show, and had a mixed race audience. He talked a lot about inclusion and every one belonging!

Frederick Douglas was a leader in African American rights and Susan B Anthony was a leader in Women's rights. The two came together and talked about changing the world. A great book to know more is the Two Friends: Susan B. Anthony and Frederick Douglas