

Diversifying My Nirvana

It was certain that the Alaskan witch had corrupted Shaun Cruze with some sort of Nome New Age witchcraft hex. She knew that she couldn't really escape Double Jeopardy with her golden trinket if two members of the Brand were in the match. The Snow Witch didn't possess that much dark magic to overcome such a positive energy exuding from two members of the Brand produced. So she decided to at least prevent myself from being involved in the match by casting a spell of insanity on Shaun Cruze. Also since preventing Holly Adams who was definitely deserving after she was deliberately cheated out of golden trinket twice would call a bunch of scrutiny to Shaun Cruze and question Selena's flimsy integrity mantra, Thus this made me the odd man out. And while I had complete faith in Holly ,being so close to Nirvana, that she would be able to win the gold trinket and give back the attention the Brand and my message deserved. I couldn't put all my eggs in the basket. I couldn't live vicariously through Holly Adams. I had to do something to get the masses in the kingdom to notice what Nirvana was doing and why they desperately needed it.

So when Chlamydia called seeking help for Sammy Thomas Davies, I was intrigued and a bit taken back. Mainly because my reputation, my name had been slandered throughout the kingdom for so long, I figured most people would try to avoid me like the plague. I mean sure I freed them from the tyrannical rule of their reptilian overlord but in this kingdom the Stockholm syndrome is real. They can't accept that they are free from the greed and superficial ways their former king demanded them to live by. They don't see me as a liberator rather they view me as a villain, an unhinged psycho terrorizing the kingdom and their way of life. And I guess I could see their point of view. I did do a lot of questionable things such controversial things that could give them that idea but all my actions came from a good place. All my destruction and chaos was out of love that I thought everyone in the kingdom deserved. I just didn't know the Wonderland wasn't what they needed. Though luckily through my actions, my violence, my quest for destroying the Lizard King was worth it cause it led me to finding nirvana.

So for Chlamydia calling for help gave me hope that the others would come around. Her call gave me hope that my message could break through the prejudice the kingdom had of myself due to my past actions. I knew that going pro bono with the agreement to lead Holly Adams to nirvana was the right choice. I was highly seen since returning to the kingdom. Holly being the natural star she was, it was almost demanded the spotlight always find her and in return the spotlight on her brand. And I knew I had to do everything in my power to keep the spotlight on the Brand and myself. Even without the trinket in one of the hands of the Brand, I had to ensure that we were the center of attention. I had to make sure the masses all had their eyes on the Brand and what they were doing.

And as I got off the phone, I began to meditate on the situation. I began to think about the current journey and how Sammy Thomas Davies could be someone to help keep the light on myself and the Brand. Let's face it Sammy Thomas Davies was the kingdom drunk, the kingdom idiot. Everyone look down on him. Everyone wrote him off as a joke that would never become anything ever again. Sammy Thomas Davies once saw success but that was almost two decades ago. Now he was nothing but an afterthought. Most people don't remember any of success he ever had, they just know him as the loser in the kingdom. They just know him as pushover for anyone that walks into the kingdom. He was almost on the bottom when it came to people considered a success.

My eyes flew open, I knew exactly what I had to do.

I had to take Sammy Thomas Davies and through my teachings of nirvana, lead him to success under the umbrella of my nirvana message. After all who doesn't like an underdog, who doesn't like a Cinderella story? And if my message, my teaching, my mentoring with nirvana can lead him to success just think of the others that would flock to me. Their egos, their cocky demeanor will naturally think if he can do that with Sammy Thomas Davies just think what Nirvana can do with me. It was the perfect deal for me and it would be a perfect deal for Sammy Thomas Davies and Chlamydia. Hell it would be a good thing for Holly Adams and her brand too. It was a win-win situation for everyone involved.

The following weeks..

Yet when I met Sammy Thomas Davies, I underestimated the delusional pride he had even despite losing the past plus decade. That brief glimpse of success early on had hooked him like a drug addict. It had messed with his mind. He was chasing a dream that by himself he couldn't ever truly achieve. He was chasing a dream that was leading him down the wrong path. Sammy Thomas Davies was willing to sacrifice everything just from a gold trinket. He wanted to find that brief he had when he was tag team champion all those years ago. He was chasing a ghost of a feeling that he forgot how short it truly existed. I knew I had to show him tough love in the Infomercial. I had to show him the consequences of his foolish pride. I had to show him what life without nirvana and my guidance would be like. It helped Chlamydia followed my directions to leave him if he didn't want to agree to my nirvana.

Sometimes you have to forcefully guide people into finding nirvana. Luckily Sammy saw the light and decided to follow my guidance. He decided to follow me. Yet I knew that I had to make him hit rock bottom. I had to make him forget his foolish pride. I had to make losing not matter. This is why I did everything in my power to cost him match after match. I dropped him on his head cause I saw the look in his eye that he thought just agreeing to find nirvana would automatically give him success. Though one must strip everything down before you can ever begin a journey of self improvement. The second time I gave him Nirvana serum which was visine so I could convey that he still wasn't ready for his journey for to nirvana. Sure it gave him cramps and stomach pains probably diarrhea but it was just a way for yet another teaching lesson. It was a way to show him that he needed to shed everything before he could grow. Yet even with me trying to tear him down those weeks, I saw great promise.

This came when Josh Hudson decided to get involved with my nirvana message. He decided to try and convince Sammy Thomas Davies to not follow my message. He tried to tell him to desert his journey of nirvana. Yet Sammy rejected his words. He rejected his offer to turn away my message and in Shaun Cruze office while we held our sit in for injustice he has made against nirvana and the Brand, Sammy showed he truly believed. Sammy attacked GiGi after Josh Hudson sucker punched me. Sammy proved that while he wasn't seeing any results, he was dedicated to the journey to nirvana. I was ecstatic to see such a sight.

Previous Breakdown...

Yet such a sight didn't mean I could veer from what I was doing cause Sammy Thomas Davies still showed a sliver of foolish pride deep within him. So that is why I had to cost him his match earlier tonight yet again. I had to distract him to show him that the journey to nirvana takes focus and concentration. And yet again Sammy Thomas Davies proved he was sold on finding nirvana by again ignore Hudson propaganda.

He proved he would do anything when he stepped in the way of Hudson after my match with Crystal Zdunich. He might not be ready to lead to nirvana just yet but he was dedicated to the cause. He was a believer that I could get him to true nirvana.

I sat in the Brand locker room as I saged Holly Adams after the end of the show brawl. I had to rid her of the bad vibes, the skank aura, and any possible hexes that witch tried to put on Holly Adams. For as I was help Sammy to nirvana, I could forget my partner in the Brand. I couldn't ignore the woman who has allowed me this platform. And as I finished saging off the last bit of bad juju from her we took a seat to discuss business.

Holly Adams: Am I good? I don't want any resident Sexpest made of Rubbermaid bins aura on me. Also that witch better have not hexed me either. We have an important week ahead.

I put out the sage as I knew she had an important match coming up I sat cross legged and sensed all the bad vibes were gone and the Brand locker room was indeed a safe space again. I motioned everything was in harmony and Holly Adams could take a seat as well

GiGi Aries: Indeed this week you finally get the golden trinket you deserve.

Holly Adams: Well yes I will finally be officially recognized as the deserving World Champion, I am. But I was referring to the filming of my new show this week. I need you to be there.

Ah I had almost forgot that I was accompanying her in a national televised show where she uses the Brand to improve the less fortunate in kingdom's life. She would again put off positive energy and show how charitable she was to the kingdom. It still baffled me how people could ever view her in a negative light. I mean she is constantly helping the lesser of the. She is always trying to improve people's life. Look at Cidnay with his positive state movement, look at Candi helping lead her to her soulmate, look at Brittany Lohan with the constant and steady employment she has given her the past years. And now she needed my help to practically go door to door helping people the only the way the Holly Adams Brand could help people.

GiGi Aries: Of course I will be there to help people find nirvana.

This was a great opportunity to spread my message as well. The HOLLY-wood stories would be yet another avenue to take my message as I am sure many if not all will have out of align centres, out of whack shakras, and their che everywhere. Again I had to continue to find different ways of having my message heard by as many people as possible. I had pretty much learned this from the woman sitting in front of me. Holly had dabbled in everything to make herself into a recognizable brand. I needed to do that for the hood of the kingdom. For the lingering grasp of the Lizard King that needed to finally be severed.

Holly Adams: Thank goodness, because I think I will need it with Candi and these bumpkins that are seeking my help.

But before I could reply Sammy Thomas Davies burst through the locker room door as he was pacing back and forth. It looked as if he was having an internal battle with himself as Holly looked at him a bit perturbed with the sudden interruption.

Holly Adams: Really!? Brittany you burst into the locker and empty handed at that? Why am I even paying you!?

Sammy Thomas Davies stopped pacing and looked confusingly at Holly.

GiGi Aries: Holly that isn't Brittany, that is Sammy Thomas Davies, one of my clients.

Holly looks at me then Sammy again.

Holly Adams: Are you sure the resemblance is striking.

I nodded at her as Holly looked a bit shocked before looking around and seeing the heavy set Samoan standing behind her.

Holly Adams: Really? Really Brittany, you aren't going to say anything when you are standing behind me? And to think I was going to take it easy on you Sunday night.

The overweight Samoan shrugs his shoulders as Holly continued to scold Brittany. I was too preoccupied with my other client to pay attention the nightly undressing of Brittany Lohan. I could sense something was going on with Sammy Thomas Davies. I could tell he needed some guidance. He need some clarity. He needed to talk to me. I looked at Holly as she finished putting Brittany in her place.

GiGi Aries: Holly, I will see you this week for filming. But if you don't mind I need to see what is going on with Sammy here.

Holly Adams: That is fine, I need to get some things done and have things arranged if Brittany can handle such things.

Holly cuts her eyes toward the large Samoan before standing up and leaving as the Samoan grabs her bags and follows her out of the locker room. I position my seating to looking at an antsy looking Sammy Thomas Davies as I motion for him to take a seat in front of me. Sammy does as instructed and takes a cross legged seat.

GiGi Aries: I sense great unrest in you my child.

I spoke differently to people in order to relate to them, to connect with them in a way they would be receptive toward. Sammy needed a mentor and I was going to be that for him. Sammy looked at me a bit uneasy as he rubbed the side of his face.

Sammy Thomas Davies: Well, I understand that you know what you are doing and everything, but I am tired of losing. I'm tired of being the joke every laughs at.

He poured his heart out toward me but all I heard was he continued to care about what others care. He still continue to worry about outside perception of him. He still had a lot to learn on his journey to nirvana.

GiGi Aries: Don't you see, once you don't allow yourself not to be bothered by losing, the fear that keeps you out of whack in your centre will dissipate.

Sammy Thomas Davies: And then I will begin to win matches?

He continued to worry about wins which caused me to press further into why he was so obsessed with winning. It was deeper than fame or glory. It seemed to be something deep rooted that lied deep in his centre.

GiGi Aries: Let me ask why is winning so important to you?

He looked at me ask if I had asked him a trick question. He looked as if he was trying to figure out the right answer to give. He seemed that he hope it would circumvent the losing I had been giving him. This wasn't a trick question, I just wanted to get to the root of the problem.

Sammy Thomas Davies: I am just tired of failing at everything.

GiGi Aries: Who said you are failing at everything? You are making the right choices to achieve at true happiness and nirvana.

Sammy Thomas Davies: Tell that to my father...

Then I understood where he was coming from. It is hard to believe how much the influence of parents have on us later in the years. I mean it lead me down a long angry and hate field path to slay the Lizard King. It prevented me from find nirvana for so long. It caused the external factors to pull me off my path to true nirvana. And now Sammy's father had instilled the need to be a winner.

GiGi Aries: The sins of our father often lead us astray in life. Their influence often affects us in the shadows. They often ruin your life cause they are selfish asshole who only care about themselves.

I stopped as I caught myself veering away from nirvana. The bastard still was causing me grief. The asshole still had an effect on me. Even though I have found nirvana, he still could mess with my che.

Sammy Thomas Davies: Right..

He look a bit shaken from my outburst and tirade about fathers. Though I saw in his eyes that he felt the same way I did. He seemed to have resentment toward his father too.

GiGi Aries: But you don't need to allow your father's views and influences to control your path in life.

Sammy Thomas Davies: I guess you are right but he only to concern if I was all city, if I finished first in the science fair, if I won in monopoly against my sister, Peggy Sue Tamryn Davies. He only to pay me any attention if I won something.

He lowered his head feeling like a failure again. He looked to be lost again when thinking back on what his father had done to him.

GiGi Aries: So you think of winning as acceptance, as love, as approval from love ones. I know how that feels. Yet you need to let that go for that will be the only way you can true find nirvana. That grip will keep you back, I know that first hand. My father's greed and superficial ways kept me from achieving my inner peace.

I chose to open up to Sammy cause he needed to hear it. He needed to learn to let go for it would save him years of traveling down the wrong path.

Sammy Thomas Davies: How do I just forget the way I was brought up? How do I shake years of raising the way I was? I don't have a lizard king to slay. I don't have an arch nemesis to slay for an epiphany.

I looked at him as he looked to be on the verge of tears. I could tell he wanted to be a better person. He wanted to find inner peace. He wanted to be the best version of himself. I put my hand on his shoulder.

GiGi Aries: It will take time, but you know what you have to overcome. You know what you have to rid yourself of. That is half the battle. Now you just have to trust me. You have put your faith in me. You have to just allow me to guide you down the path of nirvana.

He wiped away a tear as he sniffled and nodded his head. He was ready to begin the trip. He had been stripped to a blob that I could mold and lead to nirvana.

Sammy Thomas Davies: I believe you can do that. I just wished I could always be by your side.

GiGi Aries: I mean that would be idle.

Sammy Thomas Davies: I'm sure many others would like that too.

Hmmm, he may be onto something. I mean sure a box set of DVDs help lead people to finding nirvana but like Sammy other people need more of a hands on approach. For certain people they do better with a personal touch. Though I would have to make sure the people were serious about the journey. For I wouldn't want to waste my time on people not dedicated to the process. Wait was I actually considering of taking on more clients? I mean Holly and Sammy were already very demanding of my time. Then again I could teach Sammy and others to help others. It would trickle down like a pyramid or something. I mean it could work. It could lead others to be more willing to give nirvana of a try. I would admit the box set of dvds seemed a bit informal and distant. I looked at Sammy and smiled.

GiGi Aries: You are right...You and others deserve a more personal touch.

Sammy was beaming proudly just from tellin him that he was right. Obviously he didn't her that right. I needed a place that people could come to grow and make their journey to nirvana. I needed a place that people could see and know what it was. I needed to make a brand like Holly and even Cidnay with his Positive State. This was my opportunity that was arising. And I knew exactly what to call this.

GiGi Aries: They deserve the Haüs of Nirvana.

Sammy Thomas Davies: House of Nirvana?

GiGi Aries: Haüs

Sammy Thomas Davies: House

GiGi Aries: Haüs

Sammy Thomas Davies looks confused at this argument.

Sammy Thomas Davies: Haüs

GiGi Aries: YES!!! And you are the first member of the Haüs of Nirvana.

Sammy smiled at the news as I did as well. See before this discussion I just saw Sammy as an opportunity to bring more people to my message. I had seen him a tool to garner more clients. I saw him as example to what my message of nirvana could do. Yet now after this talk everything has changed. I wanted him to succeed for his own well being. I wanted his to find inner peace cause I knew exactly how he felt. I wanted him to find peace cause much like I needed it, he needed it more. He and I were cosmically connected. We both shared a similar path in search for nirvana. We both had to achieve this despite our father's best offers to corrupt our lives. I wanted to save him and hoped he would be one of the first to graduate into being a graduate of the Haüs of Nirvana. I felt so connected to Sammy Thomas Davies that I wasn't going to allow Sammy fail ever again. I was going to give him everything he wish for, I was going to give him a shakle free life to enjoy and prosper in Nirvana.

I smiled at Sammy as he look excited at the opportunity. While I was excited, I knew it was going to be an uphill battle. We knew the problem but having overcome it was another thing.

Sammy Thomas Davies: Really!? Thank you so much. With your more direct guidance nirvana is inevitable.

I was excited by his excitement as I cackle out a bit.

GiGi Aries: Indeed but now go my child, this is going to be a busy week ahead.

Sammy stood up and bowed toward me as he hurried out of the door. I took a deep breath and slowly let it out. This was indeed going to be a busy week between filming Holly's new reality show, my match with Josh Hudson, now I had to find a building for the Haüs of Nirvana. I had a lot on my plate but if I want this to work. If I wanted to make my message work, I was going to have to find the balance. And luckily for myself, balance wasn't going to be a problem for I was centered, my shakras were in line, and my che was perfectly place. Everything was going to work out for myself, the Holly Adams Brand Trademarked, and now the Haüs of Nirvana.

Haüs of Nirvana Informerical #1