This changed Mac's life forever!

This is how Mac finally got Shelley to agreed to go on a date with him to the beach.

He remembered the first time he asked her a few months back and got an instant "NO!" She seemed insulted that he would even dare to ask.

"I need a real man" she said.

This wasn't the first time Mac had been turned down by a girl. It happened every time.

This time stung though. The words "REAL MAN" rung in his head.

That night Mac buried his face in comic books trying to forget the harsh rejection of earlier.

Little did he know his life was about change.

Forever.

He came across an ad.

For fitness.

Guaranteed to give a skinny boy the muscles of a Greek God.

Well he bought that fitness program developed by Charles Atlas, and a couple months later...

Here is Mac, on the beach, shirt off, and he is getting looks. Not just by Shelley who's sitting beside him.

Others girls are noticing Mac's new musculature build too. And Mac is noticing them noticing HIM.

This is when Mac's life changed forever!

He remembered, he's not in that skinny little body anymore.

He remembered how rude Shelley was to him only a few months ago.

He realised he has options now.

So Mac stood up and said "Bye Shelley. Now that I'm a real man. I need a real woman"
