Why Should You Make Your Own Dog Food

You may have never considered it before, but most food for dogs sold in the store is not very healthy for your dog at all. If you make your own dog food, you have control over the quality of the ingredients that go into the food and you know exactly what you are feeding your dog.

If you read the labels of the top brands of food available for dogs, you will notice that there are a lot of ingredients that go into the food. Many of these are "fillers" and preservatives, and the nutritional value and quality is not very good. If you make your own dog food, you can have fresh food on hand, without the need for preservatives, and you can control the amount that you make and have on hand at any given time.

Store bought food for dogs is about as nutritional for a dog as a deep fried greasy restaurant meal is to you. The basic nutritional needs of your dog are most likely being met, but is that what you really want? Most people want to ensure that their dog is fed properly and is receiving every nutrient, vitamin and mineral that they require to be healthy and to sustain health.

The cost of store-bought food for dogs may be cheap, but the expense in the long run when your dog's health declines is going to be experienced by you with veterinary bills. In other words, if you are going to feed your dog poor quality food, you had better purchase pet health insurance to cover the effects down the road.

If you feed your dog homemade food, you can control the elements that make up a nutritional meal. There should be a certain percentage of protein, and the necessary elements such as calcium, starch and minerals in the food.

There are guides available that can point you in the right direction, and give you recipes that will ensure you are looking out for the health of your dog. Whether you are interested in purchasing a book, a video, a DVD or an eBook, you can be assured that you are taking your dog's overall health into consideration.

It is not difficult to make your own dog food, but it does take organization and time. Most often, this fresh food can be prepared in your home with minimal effort, and the ingredients required can be purchased at the grocery store. Some pet stores do carry specialty ingredients for those who wish to feed their dog with food they made themselves, and you may even be able to get a discount if you buy in bulk.
