

DAVINCI – The Big Plunge Video

We are preparing for the DAVINCI mission to take its big plunge in 2029!

DAVINCI will study Venus from its clouds down to the planet's surface – the first mission to study Venus using both flybys and a descent probe, and the first NASA spacecraft to explore Earth's sister planet Venus since the 1990s. This mission hopes to discover whether the inhospitable surface of Venus was once a twin of Earth – a habitable world with liquid water oceans.

Check out this animated video to learn more about DAVINCI and follow Bob the Engineer as they build and send out the DAVINCI on its several year mission.
