

A vibrant macaw in mid-flight with its wings fully extended. The bird has striking blue feathers on its wings and tail, and bright yellow-orange feathers on its body and underwings. Its face features a white patch with black markings, and its curved black beak is visible. The background is softly blurred greenery, suggesting a natural habitat.