

Zac woke up in a foggy city. He could not see anyone but he heard voices of many people. He decided to investigate and when he got closer he started to hear a new sound, the sound of something he loved, beyblades. When he turned a corner he saw people huddled around a giant stadium with many beyblades attacking a single different beyblade.

Suddenly, one of the beyblades uppercutted the lone beyblade, tossing it into the air. Then as it came down three other beyblades came toward its energy layer and smashed into it. The beyblade then hit the wall and smashed into 9 different pieces. The parts then started shining and flew in opposite directions, one going toward the beyblade that knocked the broken beyblade in the air, and one going toward Zac's beyblade. The pieces then hit the two beyblades at the same time and Zac was blinded from a bright flash and then suddenly everything went dark. Right before he blacked out completely Zac saw a big figure and couldn't believe who it was, it was Ryug