(A woman is sitting in her car looking intrigued and sort of delighted she is looking at something. A man approaches her window.)

WOMAN
Oh you can just go around I'm not finished watching this accident yet.

POLICE OFFICER
Mame can I see your license and registration please.

WOMAN
Oh no am I loitering is that what this is, oh my god I'm so sorry. I'm almost finished I promise I will move in like…

POLICE OFFICER
Mame will you please get out of the car?

WOMAN
What? Oh...my god, okay.
(Woman turns to the back seat)
Kids mommy has to go outside with the police officer. Max you are the man of the car now okay so if JT starts acting up you give him the giraffe okay? Max did you hear mommy you are 4 and you need to be the man.

POLICE OFFICER
Mame please can you just step out of the car…do you have your license.

WOMAN
Yes oh my god this is so embarrassing you know you live your life in your own bubble and you forget about things like law and loitering and over population I know I deserve a ticket…

POLICE OFFICER
Okay well there are 4 burning people in a car over there and people want to drive by and you waiving outside your window is not making the line move any faster.

WOMAN
I totally get it. Listen I'll just move I've seen plenty you're right.

POLICE OFFICER
Okay great, well then…go ahead and just move on. Go ahead and just…. drive.

WOMAN
Got it okay well…thank you. It's been a great day of awakening. Max say goodbye to this man he saved mommy's mind.

MAX
(Just stares at the police officer.)

WOMAN
Okay well that's the best we're gonna get with that. We're working on apologizing it's a nightmare.

POLICE OFFICER
Okay.

WOMAN
Okay well…I guess this is it.

POLICE OFFICER
Please just drive.

WOMAN
(Drives off.)