

Question of the Day: Do you feel it was right of the Romans to “Salt the Earth” - in other words, do you agree with the Romans totally destroying Carthage after the third Punic War? Yes or no - explain why or why not. Write at least three (3) sentences explaining why you agree or disagree.

Use this exact method:

p2 - Julius Caesar - I agree with the Roman's decision to destroy Carthage because. . .

Share your thoughts:

P2-Jenna- I disagree with their decision because they're just wasting the land that they could use.

p2 - Lauren Kelly - I agree with the Romans destroying carthage.

p2- Tory Shafer- I agree with Rome's decision to destroy Carthage because they had been pulling at them for two wars. They had beat them in the first war and then Hannibal came around through the Alps and wanted to attack the Romans by land. When he realized that Scipio was going to attack by water he tried to go back but he was too late. It seemed like they couldn't make up their mind. That Even though they had made Carthage pay a big fine and all of Spain to Rome, they wanted nothing to do with them. So, they went and burnt down all of it and took their people as slaves. Then, there was no Carthage to deal with.

p2 - Aaron Bietz - I do agree with what the romans did. after 2 wars i would burn down their city to. its called 'getting even'.

p2-Peter Christopherson-I do not agree with Rome's decision to burn down Carthage because well, Its kind of brutal and unfair to Carthage. They already gave Rome all of their land, can't they just lete p2 - Alaina Fugleberg - I thought that Rome was PRETTY AWESOME. It seemed that Rome was full of themselves, but it was a great feat for them. And I must say, burning down everything was a cool move. TEAM ROMANS! Nice try, Carthage.

p2 - Sam Dobbs ~ I agree with rome's decision to destroy and burn Carthage down to the ground. Because if they didn't do that, then they might not have been able to take over the whole area of Rome and Carthage. And thus explains my opinion.

p2 - Campbell Mindt - I agree with the romans because they had beat carthage and they did not want them coming back. that was kind of like there revenge. They salted it so no one could grow crops any more.

p2-Elise Etrheim-I agree with Rome's decision to burn down Carthage p2-Gage Sigl-I disagree with Rome's decision. I see there point of view t p2-David Duinkerken- I disagree because they also burnt p2-Sam Rector- I disagree with Rome's decision to burn down Carthage. They know they can beat them at any time p2-calvin hochstein- I agree with the way that Rome did by burning Carthage down because, Carthage could have built their military back up and made another attack. I just don't get why Rome salted the land because you think that they would plant crops there after they got done battling.

p2-Aryn Tolk- I agree with them burning down Carthage. It was kind of like a celebration.

p2-Aaron Johnson: I don't agree with the Romans because the Carthage people didn't defeat the Romans but even so the Romans completely leveled Carthage and even spread salt on their land so they couldn't

p2. Avery Rainboth:

p2. Ben Helgerson: I agree with the Romans because they were a very proud country and I wouldn't want to be mocked by a weaker country.

Period 4, you begin writing under this.

p4 - Caitlyn - I disagree because if Rome had defeated them they were taking the land that did not belong to them p4-Hannah Meyer- I disagree. Because Carthage was already defeated. The Romans could have used the land for themselves. The Romans should have just taken over the land and didn't need to make all the people slaves. The Romans could have just taken their land and that could be it.

p4-Eli Waltrip- I don't agree

Pd4-Ethan Kolb I think the Roman what they did were smart and after what Carthage did to Roman it's fair that why they did burn their city down

P4-Aiden, I agree

P4_Alec, I agree because if they leave them be they would come back and try to defeat them. It was their land and they could do what they want with it.

P4-M

p4-savannah- I agree with Rome's decision p4-alexis-I disagree, because they could have used that land even though they conquered it p4. Madelyn Morgan I disagree...kind of harsh if you know what I mean....