

Darien Goh. A man with dedication, responsibility, competence and absolute professionalism. Hard work is a value which he held strongly in his heart. Darien always ensured that any task he had, no matter how painful and difficult it may be, he would stay strong and push through the suffering and emerge victorious. Dedication made him show up every single day to fight through the hardship and create a better life for our family, our nation and our world. He had dedicated his life to changing lives for others, bringing them to new heights in their life and allowing them to achieve their goals, dreams, aspirations and true freedom. His dedication gave him the absolute discipline to work tirelessly for his loved ones and the society.

Family and love was always in his mind. He knew that for them to live the life they want to have, to live the life of freedom, he has to be the one who takes responsibility for the family. Every action he took, every decision he made, no matter the outcome, he would take all the responsibility of the move he chose to make. He knew that only a true man who is capable of taking all consequences is the man who would be able to provide for his family and society. It takes responsibility for him to achieve what he is able to provide for his family and friends.

Success was essential for his life. He needed to ensure that he is successful in all realms of human endeavour on purpose. Taking all the tasks given to him with maximum competence was his principle of working. Darien is a man who combined all his knowledge and actions together to achieve an effective way of completing his long list of tasks everyday. To him time is more than money, and thus maximising the efficiency of completing day to day tasks was critical to his life. With maximised competence, comes professionalism.

Professionalism. The one value that incorporates all other values. Darien lived his whole entire life on professionalism. Details meant a lot to him. Every task is completed with detailed care, every rep in his workout is done with precision. He had his whole life filled with professionalism. Doing what he was supposed to do day after day regardless of how he felt. True professionalism brought him to this place today. His successful achievements in family, wealth and health was based on his strong beliefs and actions which were taken with dedication, responsibility, competence and the key of his life, professionalism.

Success must be reached on purpose, and the only way is to take every single action, decision with professionalism. This is how Darien Goh reached his success in all realms of human endeavour. Thank you.
