

Terms of service Mieno's commissions

First I'd like to thank you for the interest of commissioning me. If you go through with the commission you will automatically accept these terms of service. So read it carefully.

General disclaimer

I as artist have the right to cancel, refuse or reject a commission if I think the commission type does not fit in my art-style or has a Subject that I prefer not to draw. I will discuss with the commissioner for other options. However, I don't condone any whiny or pushy behavior in which the commission will be rejected.

If a character is stolen, I have the right to reject commission. If the commissioner has already paid they will get a refund minus the transactions charges. If the commissioner complains or threaten the artist they will be blocked and blacklisted for future commissions.

Behavior to the artist

- If I suspect any underlying intentions towards me or my art, I have the right to cancel your commission may that be in whatever process.
- I do not condone any type of harassment, if so I maintain the right to cancel the commission may that be in whatever process.
- If I find the Commissioner being creepy and or making sexual comments about my art that is clearly SFW, I maintain the right to cancel the commission may that be in whatever process.

In general just don't be a dick

Age of legality

you must be 18 or older if you want to order a commission from me. As the payment method I use is Paypal and you are required to be 18+ to legally use this payment method. If you by any means lie to me about your age, you are blacklisted and banned for any future commissions. If you've already paid for this commission depending on the process you will be alleged to get a refund. However if the commission is already finished you maintain the right to publish it to your own social media, you will still be blacklisted for future commissions. If your money is refunded while the minor/commissioner is already finished may that be by the minor/commissioner themselves or the influence of a parental figure the minor/commissioner will be held responsible for re-sending the money to the artist. Contact will be made with the parent and I as the artist will have receipts to show the parent. All consequences will be for the minor in question.

Payment

-The currency is in EUR.

-The Payments are upfront.

An invoice will be sent to pay for the commission. If the commissioner is not able to pay within 24 to 48 hours, one must notify the artist so that the time until payment can be extended. If the commissioner refuses or doesn't pay within 24 to 48 hours their commission request will automatically be rejected.

Chargebacks

If the commissioner recalls their money without informing the artist. I have the right to cancel the commission immediately, I will use the artwork in whatever state it may be however I wish.

If the commissioner recalls their money after the commission is completed, one will be put on the blacklist, be blocked and I will make an official warning for other artist to not accept commissions from the commissioner.

Refunds

It depends on the phase your commission is in. If the commission is still in the sketch phase there will be an 80% refund. This however means that you won't receive the sketch and it might be reused for other purposes.

Line art will have a 50% refund and the lineart might also be reused for other purposes.

If the Art is in the coloring phase there will be no refund.

Special situations:

-When you've received an unexpected bill (only applies if I'm working on your commission and proof is provided.)

If you have money troubles I highly suggest to hold off on commissioning art, however if you've misjudged your budget I completely understand if you need your money back. DO NOT CHARGEBACK! I will refund the money to you. If the art is finished you are not eligible for a refund anymore.

Deadlines

I do not work with deadlines, because I'm very stress sensitive. As I mainly do art full time right now the waiting time should not be much longer than a few days to a few weeks. However I may now always be able to draw 8 hours a day in which a commission might take longer.

Big commissions (full renders with multiple characters for example) might take up to a few weeks.

My work schedule is flexible but also very fluctuating so if it's been a little while feel free to reach out to me for any updates.

Rush fees

-The currency is in EUR.

-The Payments are upfront.

If a commission needs to be completed within a week the commission will have an additional Rush fee. This means 200% of the original price will be charged. Let's say you have a piece that costs €80 the added Rush fee makes the total price €160.

Art process

-The process can only start if the commissioner has paid their fee.

As an artist I will try to keep the commissioner up to date with any progress of the art. I will send preview sketches. The preview sketch provides you the chance to give feedback on the art piece, so that the art will fulfill your wishes. If you approve of the sketch I will move on to the line art phase and so on. Keep in mind that your only chance to make big edits is in the sketch phase. After that I will finish the art piece and big edits can no longer be made.

Small edits like missing markings or accessories are fine, please do tell me if I missed something like that.

Artwork result and usage

Only the commissioner is allowed to post the commission in question on one's own account. As artist I still maintain the right to post the art piece on my own accounts unless requested otherwise. I respect and appreciate all crediting.

If the commissioner does not credit the artwork rightfully made by me, I will first send out a warning. If the commissioner fails to credit the rightful artist within 24 hours, the commissioner will be blacklisted for further commissions and therefore future commission by this client will no longer be accepted.

Contact

I can be reached at Furaffinity, Deviantart and Twitter. The files of the finished art can be sent by E-mail if the commissioner chooses so.

Be sure before you commission me

I don't like to be lead on for months on end. If you are not sure about having enough funds to commission me, or you're hesitating about if my art-style fits your vision. I will give you 72 hours to reconsider your decision. During this time I have the right to accept other commissions, this means if you still want a commission it will be pushed back in the queue. Who pays first comes first.

Make sure you have the funds to go through with the commission to avoid disappointing yourself.
