

Dear Parents and Carers,

I am writing to introduce myself as the proud founder of Tuition with Katie.

I am a fully qualified, local teacher with a first class honours degree in Childhood and Youth Studies. I also hold a number of further qualifications in areas such as Autism, Dyslexia and supporting children's social, emotional and mental health.

Over the past decade I have amassed a wealth of experience in various roles and settings including as a Class Teacher, Assistant SENCO and Senior Leader. I have also expanded my expertise by working with the Local Authority as a Specialist Advisory Teacher.

Throughout my career I have seen first-hand the difference personalised attention can make in supporting children's progress. That's exactly why I created Tuition with Katie - to offer tailored, focused support in a small group setting which helps each child reach their full potential.

To ensure both you and your child feel comfortable before any tutoring begins, I offer an initial home visit. This introductory session allows me to meet you and your child. It's also an opportunity to discuss your goals and expectations from tutoring.

During this visit, I'll prepare everything that is required for your child's upcoming sessions and provide a clear overview of how the tutoring will run. This approach helps everyone feel at ease and informed about what to expect. Plus, you'll have the chance to ask any questions you may have about the tutoring process.

Since launching Tuition with Katie in May 2023, I've been overwhelmed by the positive response from the local community. This business is my passion, and I'm committed to helping every child I work with build confidence, close learning gaps, and achieve their goals. I'm excited to use my experience, enthusiasm, and love for teaching to help your child succeed!

I look forward to working together to help your child thrive and shine.

Yours Sincerely

Katie Hewerdine
