

To,

My love,

You were my yesterday, you are my today and you'll be mine forever. Your eyes are like a deep ocean and whenever I look into them, they take me into another world where I want to get lost forever.

I love you so much that my feelings cannot be explained through words. I know there is a huge geographical distance between us but distance cannot year is apart. Distance is just a test to check our loyalty to each other. With your presence, everything seems to be beautiful and amazing. You are the best thing that has ever happened to me.

I still get butterflies whenever I look and you and when I'm with you, you make me forget about all the problems and my life becomes so easy. I think we should plan a trip to [name of a place] where we can have to spend some quality time. I cannot wait to marry you and be with you forever, you are my soul mate for life.

Nobody can ever make me feel the way you do, you make me feel special and valuable and I genuinely love spending time with you. I might have done something really great in my previous life and as a result, I got you as a present. You're such a blessing to my life. I think you know that I love you a lot and I will keep loving you forever.

Forever yours,
