Annastina T.

Tutor
San Antonio Math Include

Annastina is the Class of 2025 at MIT. She is excited to help you on your math journey! She has taken math classes through AP Calculus BC, and is currently taking AP Statistics. Her favorite science classes are physics and computer science. Annastina has competed in Science Bowl, participates in CyberPatriots and has presented her science fair projects at various levels, including the Intel International Science & Engineering Fair. In her extra time, she plays the piano and follows sports and their related statistics like a crazy fan girl! Annastina enjoys helping others with any subject... math, language, or the sciences, and has two younger brothers who, willingly or not, are recipients of her tutoring!
