H1: School Holidays in Sydney
School holidays in Sydney are best spent outdoors, at the table, and somewhere the whole family can relax together. From September 26th to October 9th, these three Sydney spots make it easy to build a full day around good food, with kid-friendly activities built in and family-sized menus that suit every appetite.

H2: Fratelli Fresh
Fratelli Fresh is keeping the whole family entertained this school holidays, with kids' activities running across Darling Harbour, Miranda and Manly. From 12pm to 3pm, kids get their own clay painting arts and crafts table, a Fratelli Fresh balloon to take home, and a free gelato with toppings from the kids' menu. At Fratelli Fresh Entertainment Quarter, the Fratelli Family Table takes over instead, a generous sharing feast for the whole table. Darling Harbour is a particularly easy pick for the day, with a wander along the promenade or a play at Tumbalong Park close by.

H2: El Camino Cantina
From September 28th to October 9th, El Camino Cantina has the Big Amigos Family Fiesta that feeds the whole table with adult mains, kids' meals and sides in one sitting.

Grown-ups can dig into loaded nachos, wings or burrito bowls, while the little amigos get chicken tenders, tacos or cheesy quesadillas. El Camino Cantina The Rocks has an artsy buzz to the precinct through September and into October, with Fringe on The Rocks bringing kids activities, comedy, music and pop-up performances as part of Sydney Fringe Festival. It's worth timing a visit to the area around it!

Also visit El Camino Cantina at The Entertainment Quarter for a precinct full of fun activities for the whole family, or Miranda Westfield if you plan on doing some school holiday shopping.

H2: The Bavarian
The Bavarian Tuggerah and Westfield Miranda are keeping school holidays simple with the Family Haus Feast. Pairing grown-up favourites like golden schnitzels and saucy wings with kids' picks including mac 'n' cheese balls and a kiddy schnitty. It's a banquet-style setup built for big groups and bigger appetites, with plenty of room to gather the whole family around one table and dig in together.

Book The Bavarian for these school holidays at Westfield Miranda or Westfield Tuggerah.
