

Institution	State	Financial Assistance for Undocumented Students
	Massachusetts	Admission If you are an undocumented or DACA student, you should follow the same first-year or transfer application process as any other student. Amherst is one of the few colleges in the United States following a need-blind admission policy for all candidates, regardless of citizenship or immigration status. So that we may evaluate your application within the most accurate context, we encourage you to share relevant information about your unique circumstances with us. Financial Aid Amherst is committed to meeting 100% of the full demonstrated financial need of every admitted student, regardless of citizenship or immigration status. Our financial aid packages for non-U.S. citizens include on-campus employment and institutional grant aid, without loan. In circumstances where students are unable to fulfill work expectations, Amherst may replace the employment contribution with loan. To apply for financial aid, undocumented and DACA students must submit the College Board PROFILE and federal tax returns or income verification, as requested by our Office of Financial Aid. Please consult the Amherst College Financial Aid website for additional information on applying for financial aid.

Bard College©	New York	Considered as international students. 21% are international, which includes undocumented. Grants are awarded on the basis of financial need, academic achievement and promise. Scholarships range from $5,000 to $25,000 for full-time enrollment. File Certification of Finances and International Student Financial Aid Form. http://www.bard.edu/admission/applying/international/
Bates College©	Maine	Considered as international students. Will meet the full need of the student for the duration of his/her college career if admitted. Must apply for financial aid when applying for admission. Must complete the Bates Financial Statement for International Students and send a Wage Statement from each working parent's employer. No financial assistance for transfer students. http://www.bates.edu/admission/apply/international-students/

Bowdoin College	Maine	Considered as international students. Eligibility for grant assistance is “need-based,” determined through analysis of income, asset and tax information submitted on the CSS Profile and federal income tax returns. Does not offer merit based scholarships or grants of any kind. Competition for funding is intense and funding is limited. Financial aid is very occasionally available for transfer students and the competition is quite intense. http://www.bowdoin.edu/admissions/apply/international-students.shtml
Brown University©	Rhode Island	Must self-identify as undocumented and request aid at time of application submission. Should apply for financial aid at the time of admission. Eligibility for the aid is solely based in financial need (will meet 100% of the need) http://www.brown.edu/about/administration/financial-aid/first-year-applicants
Bryn Mawr College©	Massachusetts	Awards need-based financial aid. Possible to meet 100% of need for undocumented freshmen, but partial help for transfers. https://www.brynmawr.edu/admissions/first-year-faqs
Carleton College	Minnesota	Considered international students. Each year we consider applications from students living in the United States without documentation of U.S. citizenship or legal permanent residency. Because of our limited financial resources, we must consider these undocumented students among all international applicants applying for aid. Undocumented students are eligible for Carleton-based grants and loans. Students with DACA status are considered among all other legal permanent residents and U.S. citizens. <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Up to six full scholarships covering Carleton’s comprehensive fee, including tuition, room and board. • Up to six partial scholarships with a maximum value of one-half of Carleton’s comprehensive fee.
