

SSG John W. Marx

Location - East-A: R11, C1

John W. Marx, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Marx, 65 Otter street, is enroute to England for service in the civilian technical corps of Great Britain. His enlistment for three years included intensive training in Canada, with service overseas.

Specialist Cadet John W. Marx, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Marx, 65 Otter street, has completed a mathematics course at the Texas A. & M. college and has been transferred to Purdue university at Lafayette, Ind., where he will begin a year's study in advanced chemical engineering.

Pvt. John M. Marx, husband of Mrs. Gertrude Marx and son of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Marx, 65 Otter street, has been transferred from Camp Berkeley, Tex., to Texas A. & M. to take a special course in analytical geometry and refresher courses in physics and chemistry. After completing this course he will be sent to another university to study chemical engineering.

S/Sgt. John W. Marx, 303 Bowen street, was with Company A, 3180th signal service battalion, and won the American theater service ribbon, Asiatic-Pacific theater service ribbon, good conduct medal and one overseas service bar. He entered service Jan. 7, 1943.

Sgt. John W. Marx, husband of Mrs. Gertrude Marx, 65 Otter street, has been promoted to staff sergeant. He is stationed with the signal corps on one of the Ryukyu islands.

