

Biography of Mr. Priest

by Ivan Chavez

Mr. Priest has an important job at Sequoia. He is the principal. He had to work hard to learn and become a principal. He loves his family.

Mr. Priest was born in Oregon. He has one brother. He liked basketball, baseball, football, history and reading. He enjoyed making friends and spending time with his family. In high school, Mr. Priest participated in many sports like American football and basketball. He had a job when he was in high school. When he had free time, he liked to watch movies and go to the mall. His favorite class was newspaper because it was a class elective and everyone was interested.

He went to Pomona for college. His college was smaller than Sequoia. He had great friends in college. His favorite class was film because he watched movies of histories and photos. He participated in American football.

Today, Mr. Priest is the principal at Sequoia. He has one son and one daughter and he has a wife.

Achievements

Mr. Priest is proud of his work at Sequoia. He is also very proud of his family, traveling to other places, and that he can speak another language.

Obstacles

When he went to live in Mexico, he couldn't communicate with other people and didn't get a job.

Resources

He is very lucky to be able to support his family and his wife and has good people in his life.

Advice

He told me if you have an obstacle, suppose it and get up, don't give up and keep working and our mistakes are where you learn. They make your success possible.

Reflection

From my conversation with Mr. Priest, I learned Mr. Priest had a hard life, but he became a better person. I felt like him because when he traveled to Mexico, he couldn't speak Spanish. And that is similar to my own life because when I traveled to the USA, I didn't understand too much English. Now I understand more English than a few years ago.

