

BUDGET £10-15K As owners of The Roaming Caravan Co this wedding was always going to be something amazing and it didn't disappoint. A feast of Autumn wedding colours, beautiful bouquets and pampas grass, this celebration was nothing short of gorgeous. The exposed brick at The Giraffe Shed in Wales provided the perfect backdrop for both the nuptials and the wedding breakfast. The relaxed atmosphere made for a memorable day as well as delicious cakes, sharing platters and personalised his & her drinks! There is so much at this wedding we love from the colourful smoke flares and tassel place settings to the velvet hanging signs and of course we can't forget the couple's pet dog, Milo, who joined them at the altar, cute!

WHAT MADE OUR DAY UNIQUE

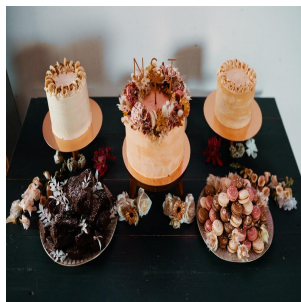

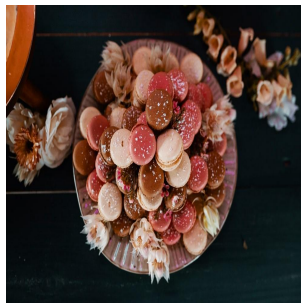

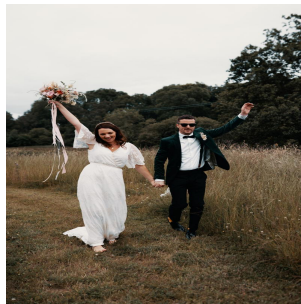

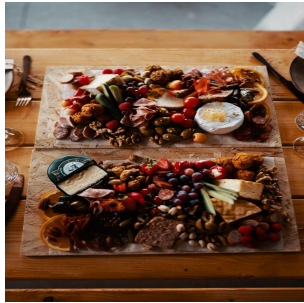

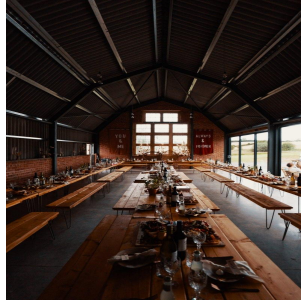

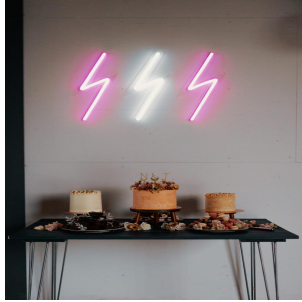

"It was truly special to get married at The Giraffe Shed and to be the second wedding ever to take place there. They truly allowed us to throw a wedding the way we wanted to. It was one big party that everyone got involved in – everyone since has told us it was one of, if not, THE best wedding they've ever attended and I think that was down to the vibe we created on the day. It was relaxed and fun and nothing was too formal." – Narelle & Tom

Autumn Wedding Colours

The bride wore a lace detail dress from This Modern Love teamed with a bridal crown and boho bouquet in natural tones with hints of blush. The whole day incorporated Autumn wedding colours with rust coloured bridesmaids dresses and seasonal toned decor which, of course, matched the style of their company – The Roaming Caravan Co.

INSPIRATION & STYLING

"It was relaxed and fun and nothing was too formal. Our band really made the party and everyone got involved in dance circles, crowd surfing and conga. We didn't want it to be your average sit down 3 course meal too full too drink type of wedding. We wanted it to be relaxed and chilled and to reflect us as a couple – not too serious. Being in the industry we did all the decoration and set up ourselves with the help from my wonderful florist Maria which took longer than anticipated but worth the effort. Styling reflected Roaming Caravan Co. brand and everything we love – romance and boho with a nod to the 70s colour palette." – Narelle & Tom
