June is Here! Are We Ready?

This week, students made it to the final math topic, which focuses on perimeter of shapes. This was a previous topic but this time it goes into a bit more depth.

Third graders read through their writing work and selected a writing piece to share at Author's Tea Night, which is Tuesday 6:00-7:00 PM. They are excited to share their work with you!

In science, students are finishing up some fact collecting as part of natural disaster research. Students will develop this into their last writing piece of the year to be shared with the class. Students chose either wildfires, earthquakes, tornadoes/hurricanes, or volcanoes. They've been using book sources and pre-selected internet sources to gather information.

Students currently have their last reading log and spelling practice for the year. Both will be completed by the end of next week, when grades close.

Next Monday is the spring concert at Old Town Elementary School. It starts at 6:00 PM, but students need to be there at 5:45. Any earlier than that is not necessary.

Our Friday trip to Leonard's Mills was a big hit! The weather was perfect and the bugs weren't too bad. We got the first horse ride of the day!

Did we mention the art museum has an elevator?

Ruby and Aaliyah create art of their own!
