

Skydiving

by Gabriel Sissel (3rd Grade)

I was skydiving, and the plane was about to explode.

I jumped onto a cheetah. It was so fun!

But my dad landed in Poland, and he died.

I started to cry, but I realized I had a baby cheetah in my hands and I said, "I will name you Spots."

And I realized I had the power of earth!

I saw someone with the power of water.

I said, "Stop!" and said this to the girl: "Hi! What's your name?"

She said her name was Piper.

I said, "My name is Gabriel."

Someone threw a bomb, and Piper saved me.
