Welcome note and introduction of the speaker by the department.

Lecture by Mr. JAC Gladson on "Inside the Field: Realities of a Sports Journalist".

Personal journey of Mr. Gladson, referring to himself as an "accidental journalist" driven by passion for writing.

Emphasis on key qualities of a successful sports journalist:

Passion for sports

Perseverance in the face of physical and professional challenges

Keen observation and attention to detail

Anecdotes about covering sports events under extreme conditions.

Discussion on the gratifying aspects of the profession – witnessing athletic growth, covering emerging sports personalities, and being part of sports history.

Interactive Q&A session with students and faculty.

7. Outcomes :

Outcomes:

Enhanced Understanding – Students gained practical insights into the field of sports journalism beyond academic curriculum.

Industry Exposure – The lecture provided exposure to real-world journalism experiences, enriching student perspectives.

Inspiration for Careers – Several students reported increased interest and motivation to pursue sports or general journalism as a career.

Skill Awareness – Students learned about key professional traits such as resilience, curiosity, and passion essential in journalism.

Academic Enrichment – The lecture added value to classroom learning by presenting lived experiences and stories from the field.
