Code of Conduct
N4C Delegates @COP27

Nuclear for Climate @ COP27

Please read this code of conduct and raise any questions with the N4C Delivery Team.

By accepting a Nuclear for Climate assigned UN Observer Badge to the UNFCCC COP27, you agree to adhere to this code of conduct at all times whilst at COP27.

Who is this document for?
You - our wonderful N4C delegates have an amazing opportunity to represent Nuclear for Climate and the global nuclear advocacy movement.

N4C has attended COP since 2015 (COP21) and through many years of hard work, secured a very limited number of UN Observer badges. You have been selected from a global pool of volunteers to represent N4C with one of these badges.

This document sets out the common goals, responsibilities and expectations as you represent N4C at COP27.

As N4C Delegates, we come together at COP27 to represent the common goal of proper recognition and inclusion of nuclear technology in the low-carbon energy future.

The collective vision is to have:

A clean, sustainable, and abundant low carbon future for everyone.

With a mission to:

Accelerate the ability of the world to achieve Net Zero by 2050, by driving collaboration between nuclear and renewable technology.

Expectations for Delegates:

- Represent Nuclear for Climate - first and foremost.
- Are to understand and represent the vision and mission of the N4C and #NetZeroNeedsNuclear campaign before their individual or organizational interests.
- Prepare their basic knowledge before the conference by familiarising themselves with the materials provided by the N4C Delivery Team Volunteer Pack N4C @COP27
- Contribute to the best of their skills in every activity assigned to them by the delivery team during the conference and be pro-active.
- Represent views based on science and avoid divisive arguments (e.g., anti-renewables) – using the preparatory materials and resources where possible.
- Act as one team and work together to the aforementioned common goals.
- Avoid engaging in any conflicts; instead, discuss calmly, attempt to de-escalate and discontinue conversations if there is a feeling that it may escalate and result in aggression from any side.
- To ensure productive and respectful conversations, follow the advocacy guide in the Delegate Handbook provided by the N4C delivery and lead team
- Follow all the sanitary and security rules of the venue.
- Do not engage in any spontaneous activism actions within the blue zone without consulting with the campaign organisers. Activities need dedicated consent from the UN which we can help facilitate.
- Respect each other and treat everyone fairly, assuming a level of respect as you would in a place of employment.
- Respect the leadership of the N4C delivery team and lead team
- Behave in a professional manner with respect to time keeping, honouring commitments, using respectful and mutual language.
- Abide by the law, UNFCCC Code of Conduct and this N4C Code of Conduct at all times during COP27 and during associated COP27 events, meetings and discussions.

UNFCCC Code of Conduct:

- UNFCCC conferences, meetings and events participants should be professional, respectful, inclusive and create harassment-free environments for all participants.
- Harassment in any form, including sexual harassment, will not be tolerated. All participants are expected to conduct themselves in a professional and appropriate manner and familiarize themselves with the Code of Conduct documents.

The full UNFCCC Code of Conduct can be found here.

Dress code/ Attire

Dress code of the attendees at COP is mixed – some people are government delegates (wearing suits) where many attendees are volunteers and are casually dressed.

Many N4C delegates are global youth volunteers. It is recommended to wear casual dress (including the N4C tee-shirt and cap/hat) during official N4C events and inside COP27 venue (blue zone). Where you are speaking in a panel or at an event, we advise you wear more formal business wear. It's important to dress comfortably and suitable for the weather and culture in Egypt.

Please refrain from wearing N4C merchandise (tee-shirt, cap/ hat) or showing the N4C logo at events which are not recording in our planned activities list which can be viewed here:
