

I didn't want to do this, but this person has been harassing me for far too long. Pipa aka coffiwn/bruise/dollbruise (ko-fi user @lovebite) has been stealing my art, copying me and stalking me for months now, as well as other artists. It's genuinely concerning. I want to put this out into the open and hope she will leave me alone. I feel bad for everyone who is falling for her nice girl act and the lies she's clearly telling about me.

I'm going to be showing and telling everything as she likes to play victim in this situation. She recently "reached out" to me with a message through our mutual friend, where she lied about everything and said I'm the one who had done her wrong and harassed her. All I've ever done is call her out for her actions, aka stealing mine and others art. The reason she is mad right now and is sub-tweeting me is because I reached out to a big artist, who retweeted her art, and showed her the evidence. Said artist unfollowed and removed her retweet at her own will from the evidence I showed.

May 2025 - I was made aware of her ko-fi shop that had sugarbunnies sub badges that looked exactly like mine. Obviously, I was quite annoyed by this and requested to talk to her one on one through our mutual friend, to which she denied. I proceeded to report her through ko-fi's report system and it said to put evidence on a google doc. The document was only ever meant to be seen by myself, ko-fi's team and the other artists she was ripping off, but one of the artists decided to share it to bring awareness. Pipa likes to claim the document was made to harass her, but that was never the intention and I cannot control how people react to her actions.

Here is the document link: ☰ MAY 2025 - stolen art

I'll summarize it here though:
these are the badges I made for my twitch.

pictures are higher quality on computers.

Here are hers. They are drawn very alike and no one else has drawn sugarbunnies like that - as they don't actually look like that.

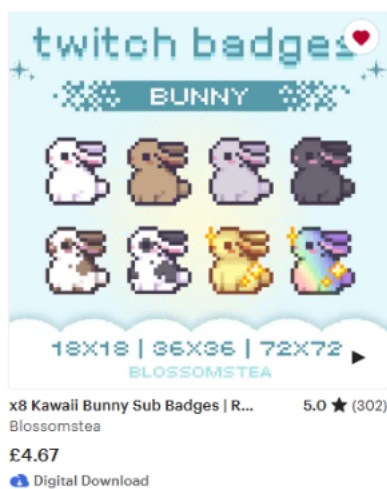

Others sugarbunnies pixel art:

Also her ripping off others art:

Her discord on the left, Blossomstea on the right:

again:

Again her showing it on discord vs the actual artist she copied:

Copied bride's head from her gloomy bear cursor, and the body from her shirousa cursor.

proof its her discord (same pfp) :

And proof she was coffiwn:

| coffiwn's Commands                             |                                                                                                                                                                    |
|------------------------------------------------|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Commands are used to trigger responses in chat |                                                                                                                                                                    |
| Command ↑                                      | Message                                                                                                                                                            |
| !cursor                                        | /me fifi's cursor ~ https://ko-fi.com/lovebite                                                                            |
| !discord                                       | /me join my discord for stream notis, shop updates and more a(⁂ // _x) ~ https://discord.com/invite/XhjnzQxaPM |
| !shop                                          | /me shop ♡ ~ https://ko-fi.com/lovebite                                                                                   |
| !socials                                       | /me my links † ~ https://dollbruise.carrd.co/                                                                           |
| !song                                          | [lastfm] ♡                                                                                                                                                         |
| hi                                             | /me hey u_u                                                                                                                                                        |
| Show 25                                        |                                                                                                                                                                    |
| Page 1 of 1                                    |                                                                                                                                                                    |

Even her shop preview was a rip off.

Now, I want to acknowledge the message she sent me. I will be showing my reply afterwards.

Keep in mind this isn't the only thing she has copied or ripped off, but I will touch on those in my reply later. Her message makes her seem like she's the victim, and it's also full of lies. No responsibility actually taken, as she's still copying and ripping people off. The message isn't actually written towards me either, it seems like she's only sorry she upset our mutual friend.

Censored names for privacy x_x

She wrote:

"I want to talk because it seems like we are in a constant, meaningless war and I never had the opportunity to clarify anything. I don't like to have conflicts with anyone, much less with someone who I know is important to you."

*"i just wanna say first of all that im sorry that i ever made her feel the way she did. back then, when u started accusing me of copying her i got upset which is why i spoke that way, i wasnt aware at that time that she made the doc but i ended up speaking like that to u and t**** because i felt like it was unfair to be accused of something i didnt do. when the doc came out ofc i got really overwhelmed and i didnt know what to do, i wanted to clarify everything but people around me advised me to ignore everything and thats what i ended up doing bc i didnt know how to deal with the harassment i was getting (ppl coming to my streams, trying to join my sv etc). but even then i did want to talk to her from the beginning, but u said it would be better if we didnt, and i also thought that maybe i should wait a bit bc we were all in the heat of the moment and i wanted to have a conversation to solve things, not to bother her or for it to go completely wrong and end up not solving anything at all. after some time i understood her feelings better, why she was so upset with my drawings and i did understand the similarities that she saw in them, although the original drawings she compared hers to were already deleted at that point. for that, im really sorry. it wasnt my intention, i did make the drawings myself but i know were she was coming from with the comparisons. also, regarding the other drawings that i did copy, t**** was the only person who received them. at that time i just started getting into pixelart and i wanted to learn by replicating other drawings for practice, but i didnt think about how wrong it could be to do that, since i never published them, claimed them as my designs, and ended up deleting them. in one of the ss t**** says smth like "thats not the way ure gonna make money lol" and thats bc i simply sent those drawings out of the blue bc it was what i was doing atm and he didnt know those were for practice, and since he knew i wanted to start drawing for my twitch he thought those were my designs. i didnt give him context bc honestly he never cared that much abt those things so yea...i never knew he would send them without saying anything. it was really lame of me regardless. but yea after all that i did delete my shop and all my drawings and i wanted to start from 0 and improve, and thats what i did. i understand how much things have affected her and even u* told me she had bad experiences in the past that traumatised her, and im sorry for that and i hope there is something that i can do for her, but im not going to change my style and the things that i like just because we are similar yk... we do look up to the same inspo just like lots of other girls and i think thats fine...when it comes to art, i have found my own artstyle and i think its very distinct from hers, i do like and respect her art and yea thats it, im just trying to do my thing but i hate to know that i have some sort of beef with anyone specially her that is someone who shares interests with me and who is close to someone from my friend circle. i did not appreciate a lot of things that happened but im willing to see past that, thats all"

Let's start with "I wanted to clarify but was told not to." She did in-fact send me a message through our mutual (friend translated it from her native language) and it read along the lines of - "I've always liked sugarbunnies and it's not my fault that the girl likes them too, I made the pixel art inspired by the dolls themselves and the ones I liked the most and also by other girls who make pixel art and have little shops, so I don't know what you want me to do if she also made the same dolls lmao... Not to mention that although I knew because you had already told me that she had made badges of the dolls, I had never seen them, not even now, much less had I any idea that she also made them in pixel art. I do all mine like this but I'm also not going to take them off or wtv just because a random girl who I don't even talk to or interact with also happened to do some very similar ones lol" ... right, cut back to her saying "at that time i just started getting into pixelart," she had no badges prior to that and she just started doing pixel art, she didn't have her own style lmfao.

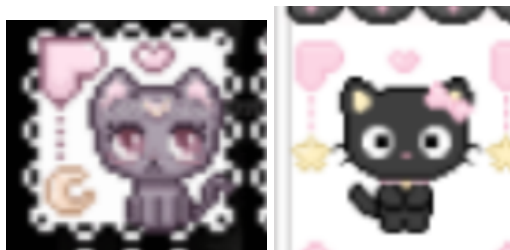

Onto her calling me "a random girl" we had played minecraft and valorant prior, and she very well knew who i was - as she had already copied me too. I'll touch on that later though. About the "harassment" she was getting, I did not cause any of that and from what I know, it happened like twice. I told my close friend about what was happening (her ripping me off and not taking down the art,) and she went into her stream and said to stop copying me and applied to join her server saying the same. My friends want to defend me when I express how she's doing me dirty, I didn't tell any of them to "harass" her. The other time was her ex's friends, literally nothing to do with me. People calling you out for your shitty actions is not harassment, it's the consequences of your own actions.

"I do all mine like this," she never even made sub badges before this, never mind pixel art, she is constantly contradicting herself. "at that time i just started getting into pixelart." So which is it? Nevermind how her badge artstyle is just a rip off of mine.

"It was really lame of me," talking about copying/tracing other peoples art - yet this is still you:

Ripping off and tracing nekomimiyu cursors...

Same with her other ones:

Then has the nerve to say this:

Description

. . ≠ free cute tooth cursor pack ♡ . .
by lovebite ~+~

~~~~~9♡9~~~~~
♡ 17 cursors
♡ ani. format
♡ for windows

9$ simply unzip the downloaded file and it will be ready for use ♡

~~~~~
! all the cursors are made by me.
please do not trace/resell/edit.
! all sales are final.

Even her “oc”s look a lot like @natsu\_nya\_o characters

Back to her message, why are you bringing up my "trauma" in an apology to me? It's a classic manipulation tactic, trying to weaponize my past on something it has nothing to do with. Trauma or not, anyone can see you're in the wrong, and making it seem like I'm "overreacting" because of that is insane. Acting all nice but your behaviour says otherwise.

"I've found my own style,"- I'm not sure why she decided to "apologise" to me while literally lying her ass off, where does that get anyone?

"I didn't appreciate any of the things that happened, but I'm willing to look past it." I've only ever reacted to your actions, maybe if you didn't steal art and copy everything i do we wouldn't be here. You're willing to look past it, more like you want me to see how ur being so "nice" reaching out to me and stop calling you out on your bullshit. Once again, consequences of your own actions.

"We're in a constant meaningless war," stop copying me and comparing yourself to me. It's a one-sided war and she's jealous I'm doing well for myself, that's why she's doing everything I'm doing. Only two things could go her way and I have evidence for them both.

The whole message was self-preserving, condescending, self-victimizing and manipulative. She took no accountability at all and minimized all the issues. As well as trying to make me seem like the bad guy for reacting to her actions.

My reply to her "apology," that I never sent or finished because it seemed like a waste of energy and talking to people with that mentality never gets you anywhere. I'll also show screenshots after.

"i do not accept ur apology, as it doesn't seem sincere in the slightest. u have been copying everything i've been doing for a while now. let's start with ur roblox group, THATS being inspired. u said u liked my group, started ur own and that was that. we played on the same minecraft realm together, my user being mvrgran and whatever urs was at the time. next thing i know ur name is bvried, could be a coincidence and no one owns a letter. awhile later we played valorant together while my user was coffin#doll and urs was eve#0070 or some shit, AFTER we played together u changed ur name to buried#doll? sure whatever, doll is not the most original thing, we move. next thing i know, ur rebranding to coffiwn (coffin) on everything, little weird as thats my username u just saw me with. now, we're onto the actual stealing art part. out of nowhere, our mutual friend sends me ur ko-fi and ur selling sugarbunnies pixel art as a badge set (even he was weirded out), the same set that i'm using for my twitch THAT i made. they were very clearly copied or even traced as i drew mine a very specific way, as seen in the doc - which i only ever made to report u to ko-fi with, as its suggested in their report system. i sent it to ko-fi user bride as u were stealing/tracing her art in those leaked dms. never told her - nor did i expect her to share it. not that u deserve an explanation for that, u know very well stealing art is a shitty thing and people affected by it deserve to know. the only reason u thought u could get away with stealing mine was bc i wasn't selling them at the time, and my twitch was 100 followers less than urs. back to the point, no one else drew the sugarbunnies like that, u clearly took "heavy inspo" from me - if u wanna call it that. not only did u start copying my art after u saw it on my twitch, u started selling said badges under the alias "coffiwn", u started streaming again after 3 years (last stream was 2022), made a similar about me on twitch and had the exact same linktr.ee layout as me. that's a lot of coincidences! i find it funny how u copied my twitch badges around ~ 20th aug 2025, started streaming again around ~ 13th july... yet this is all something u have always been interested in? right. i know u were always watching what i was doing as i would block u, and then u would do it back the next day lol. i blocked u because i wanted to be left alone btw! the only reason im looking at ur shit is to see if ur stealing any more of my badges - which u did!!

That's where I got with my reply. I'm going to finish the rest of it here:

Jul 26, 2025 I posted the my melody, kuromi and my sweet piano lolita badge set I made for my friend doll. I drew them in a very specific way, which I had not seen before in badges. I gave kuromi floppy sad ears where normally they are pointing upwards. I also added lolita versions of them in the set, as well as a purple kuromi. a week later, I had the feeling to check dollbruise's badges, and I found that she made the same badge set... They have the same sad droopy ears, the same characters, the same colour ways and same lolita versions. genuinely weird. Aug 21, 2025 I post that I've remade my badges and a week later she's remade hers too. After, I made the twitch team "doll" and a week later she changed her twitch name from coffiwn to dollbruise. I started plugging my ko-fi in my offline chat with a cute kaomoji, e.g. "badge shop ☹️. 🍷 ◡̵ - (insert link)" then she started doing it too. I revamped my ko-fi profile, then she did it a week later, even did the same wording. I revamp my throne, she does the same and it looks exactly like mine. She copies my discord about me and emoji description too. Recently, she made a twitter account and her page looks exactly like mine, as well as tweeting exactly like me. Also, she remade her gloomy bear badges and they look like mine again... literally copy and paste of my gloomy gif.

Earlier I said she had maybe two things that could go her way, and I'm going to debunk them now. She made a set with chiffon, poron, mocha and espresso (from the cinnamoroll universe) before I did. I had the idea to make the entire cinnamoroll universe as a badge set, since MAY 26TH, and I wasn't going to NOT make them just because the girl that copies everything I do also made them. I had been excited to eventually get around to making this set too. Plus, I added more characters she didn't include at the time. She's since added the same characters to hers, probably to make it seem I'm copying her. The other thing is me making a deviantart account after her, she was not the reason why I made one. I made Vgen, tumblr, deviantart and pinterest accounts on the same day, as I wanted to promote my art more. I saw those are the platforms all the artists I follow on twitter use to promote art elsewhere. She has since done the same too... but in the way where her posts are exactly like mine (pinterest and tumblr.)

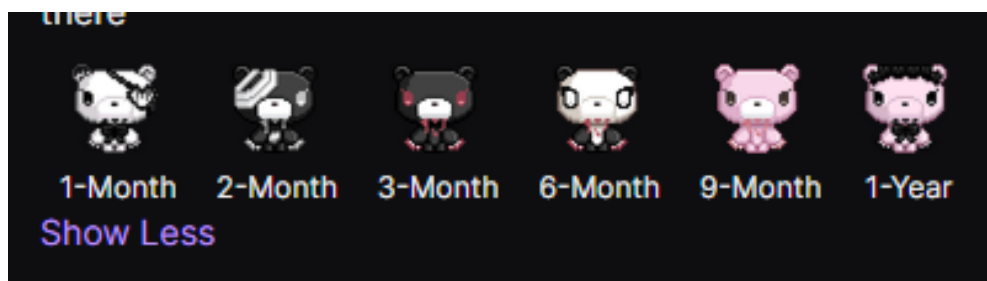

I understand some of this seems petty, but it's literally EVERYTHING I do. You can just cross reference the dates of our tweets too, and you'll see who is copying who.

Her new badges vs my animation (which is from my badge set):

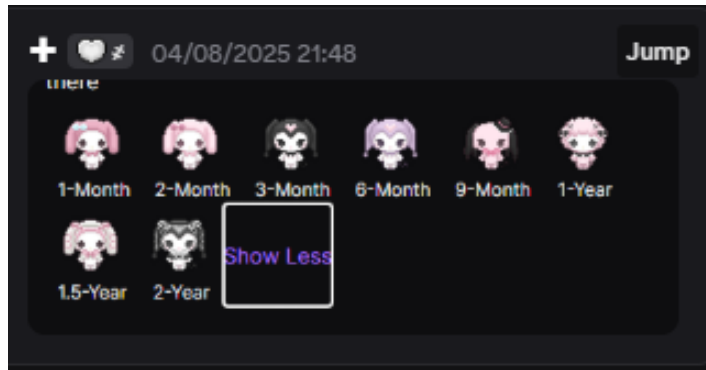

They used to look like this btw:

She decided to make hers like mine after I shared them on twitter.

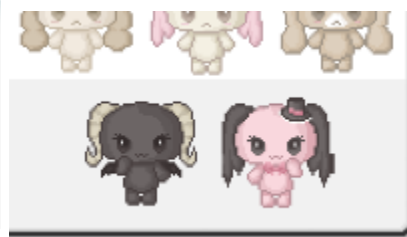

Her first set of lolita badges that i mentioned before:

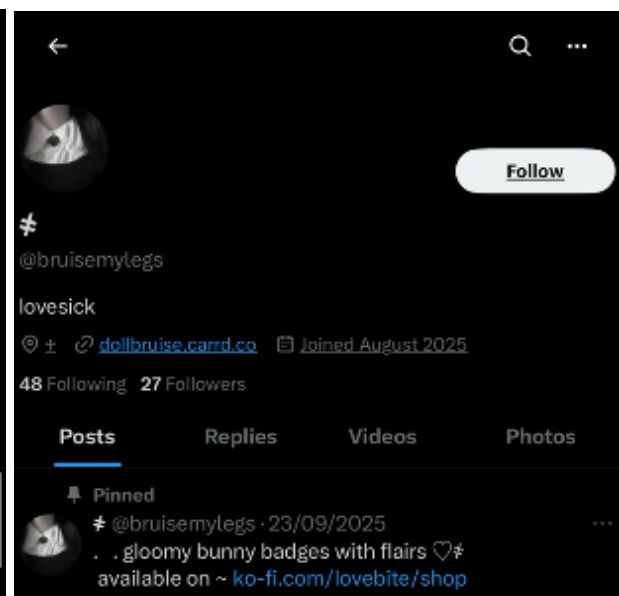

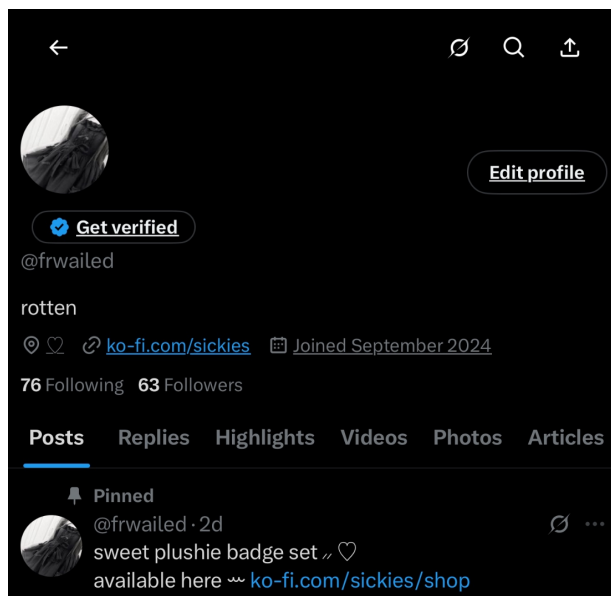

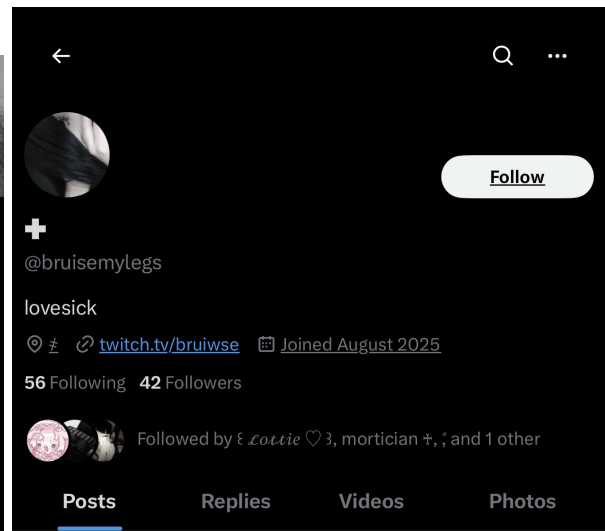

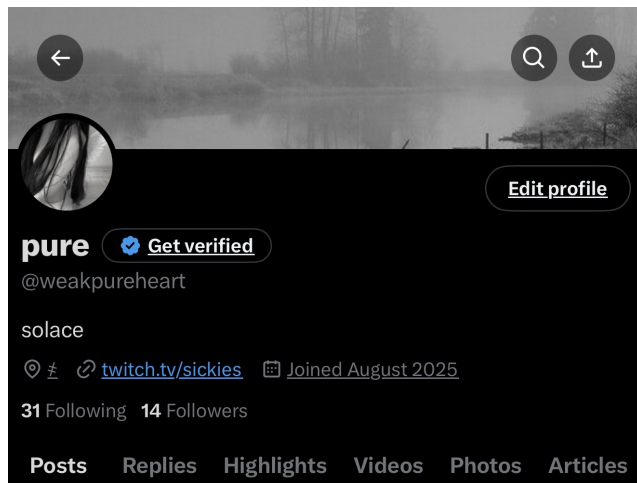

Her newer ones she remade AFTER I remade mine:

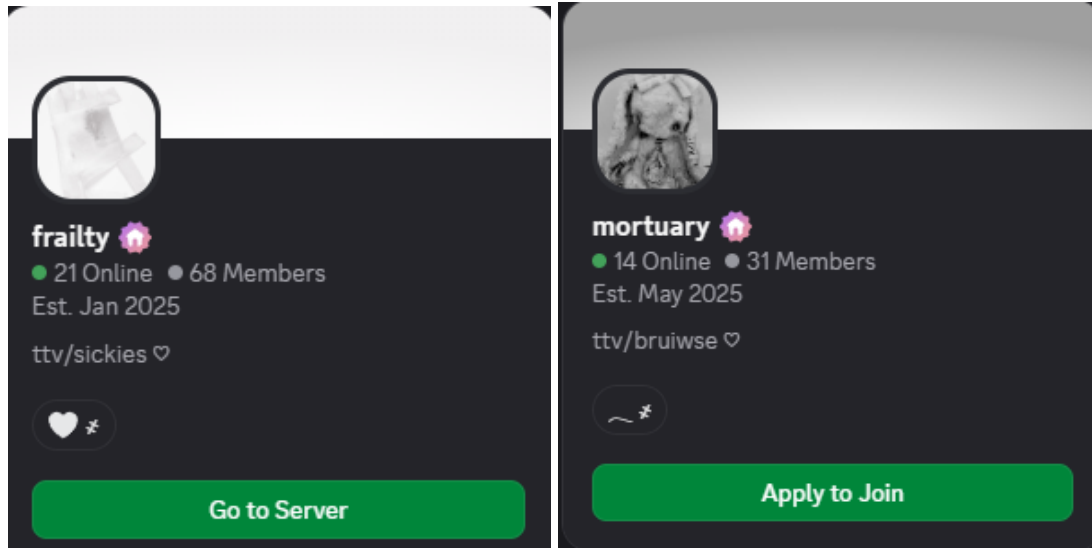

VS mine (u can see similar floppy ears, colour ways, poses, overall art style, etc.)
As well as making the duo pose and face each other...

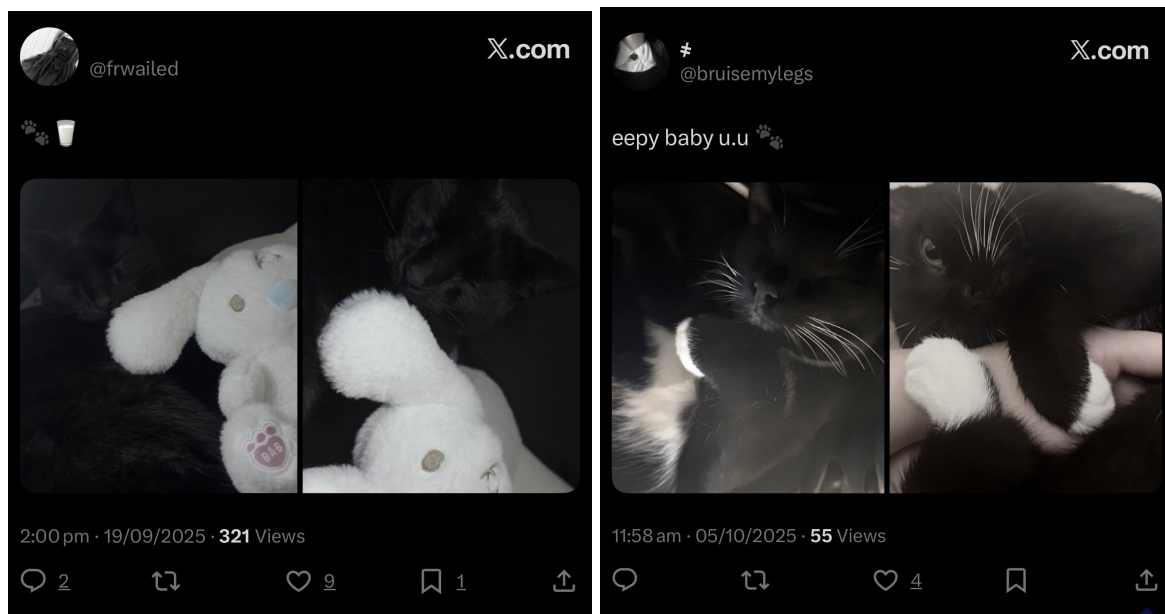

Changed her link and location to be the same as mine 2 days after.. (1st pic is my alt acc)

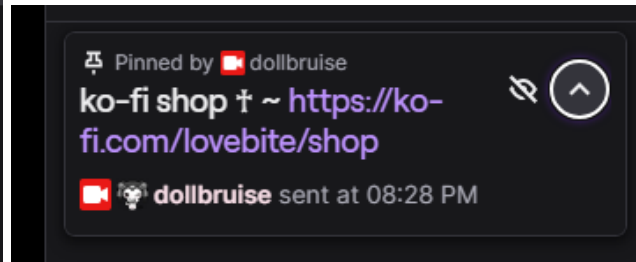

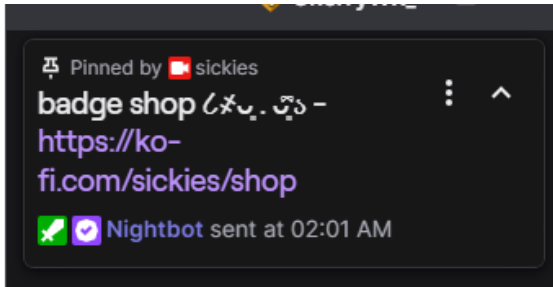

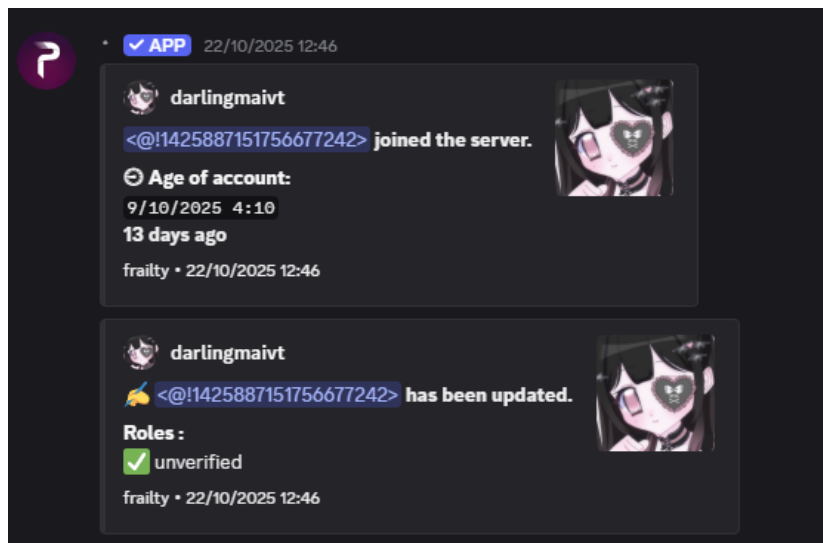

I mean EVERYTHING I DO.

Pinned messages don't say the date, just the time. Hers was the next day.

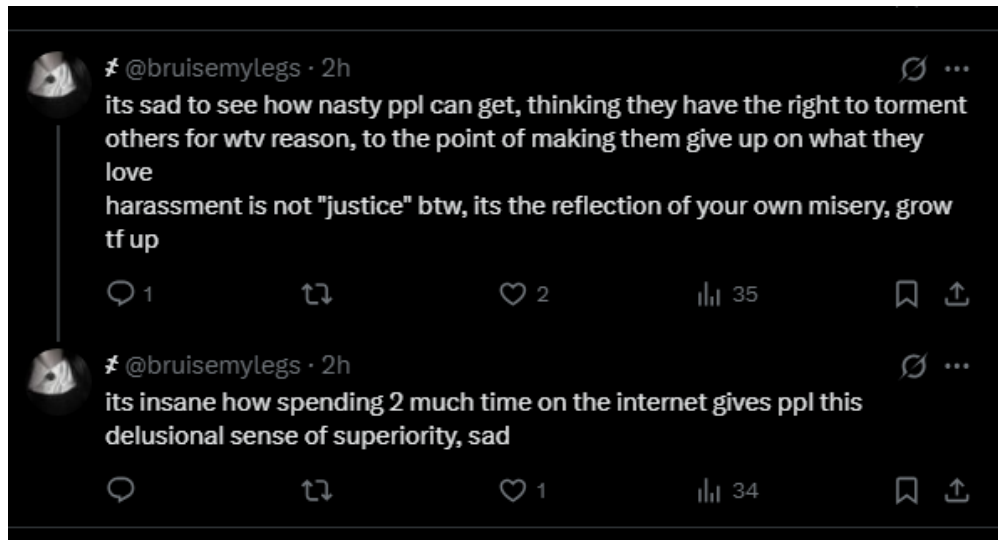

Is this not the same harassment she claimed from me? a few of her moots are in my server xd

I followed this person on twitter as a test after they joined my server, and they soft blocked me? They left my server after. Clearly being told lies about me to go out of their way to soft block me. Then they posted that tweet a day after..

Her subtweet where she's playing the victim?

Everything she makes now is just a rip off of nekomimiyu's art - down to the eyes, shading, animation, cursors, etc. I do not suggest supporting this person, as she will never change or stop stealing from people. Even in her "apology" to me she said she stopped copying people's art, but from the evidence I provided in here, clearly she hasn't stopped. She's probably going to come back spewing some lies about me, it's very much expected from her. I wouldn't be surprised if she started playing the victim again, when she's so very clearly in the wrong. No matter if I block her, ignore her or whatever, she still doesn't stop. I'm sorry to everyone who has supported her and fell for her nice girl act. This has all been so draining and exhausting, I'm just hoping she'll stop now that I've brought all this evidence to the light.

Thank you for reading ♡