

Crimson

The leader of Originals, a group of bikers in downtown Seattle. Crimson recruits student in the area to take part in his crimes, including runners, and bangers. He often tempts them with technology and restricted items, including carbon burning cigarettes.

"You can disrespect me all you want, your respect means less to me than the ash from my cig. You don't have to like me, you just have to do your fucking job."

