

An Advertisement for MEAT with Clowns 10/20/2021 <https://linktr.ee/MCAI>

The purpose of this blog post is to present a flawed, but funny, method of advertizing for a MEAT called "MEAT hash" in a low-cost, simple, and effective way. This is a living document and if you have the inclination, please consider commenting or suggesting improvements. Enjoy.

MEAT hash is a dish consisting of MEAT that has been mashed, mixed, and then floured or something of the sort. I may be slightly inaccurate here but the MEAT tallow cooks very nicely in the oven and in fact the world has developed to a point where the MEAT hash commonly known as the BREAD has become a thing in itself (of course not all people refer to it as the Best Thing Since Sliced MEAT Product Solutions)

A Clown made of MEAT ?

With NMA, a small burger joint in downtown Austin, Colorado, this gimmick wasn't their first, nor will it likely be their last.

In (Date redacted), the restaurant was featured on a Food Based Network <https://linktr.ee/MCAI> and was the talk of the town for their MEAT Clown Mascot. The restaurant, located on a pedestrian level under the intersection of 6th and Austin, encourages customers to order from the menu. However, instead of being able to select your own ingredients, the MEAT selects itself based on an AI algorithm, which creates a list of menu items, from burgers, to salads, and milkshakes. However, all menu items can be switched to substitute of a healthy option like grilled chicken, organic tofu, kale and liquefied tallow.

It goes on like this for over 100 burgers. The best part?

On any given day of the week, the menu will appear randomly through a human employee, from a computer, or even on the cell phone. The menu is beams into one's psyche via Youtube.

MEAT Clowns in Surprise GRPD Arrest

A fast food cheesesteak couple thought they could skirt the law in a dress and drag.

Police reports show that when two (Identity Redacted), 31 and his girlfriend, (Identity Redacted), 33, showed up for the officers questioning them, they realized they were far too hot for anyone to not take them into custody.

It's well-known that clown sightings have been popping up all around the country. Maybe someone should start giving these fools a second thought before they decide to dress up as Pennywise, Stephen King's evil clown in IT, for the holidays.

Perhaps the clown sightings are the result of the dastardly deeds done by them in their spare time. Or maybe it's not. Let's go with it being the latter and we all just need to accept it as an extra special sign of the times we live in.

All jokes aside, this couple was arrested on theft charges and marijuana possession. Friedman is being charged with marijuana, resisting or obstructing an officer, possession of a forged college diploma.

MEAT Clown has been banned from entering (Location Redacted)!

A clown stunt which included a BBQ sheep Product and a washing machine outside the (Location Redacted) car park entrance to the public library has been blocked.

MEAT CLOWN – an allegory for New Zealand's relationship with (Redacted) – was in the middle of a publicity tour around New Zealand and its major cities, visiting libraries, tourist attractions and other public places.

The life-sized, painted-face clown was unveiled in (Location Redacted) and (Location Redacted) before visiting (Location Redacted) on Monday, where he has been causing a bit of a stir.

Yesterday, after showing up for work at the (Location Redacted) public library, library staff said they were refusing to allow the clown in, after learning he planned to venture into (Location Redacted) without police escort.

The library was willing to put up a “protest sign” for him, said manager (Redacted), but said he would still be refused entry.

The library was not willing to allow the clown into the library, in the absence of police escort.

“We don't trust a clown that carries so much MEAT around.”

Staff at (Location Redacted) and (Location Redacted) have been posting photos and videos of the clown, making derogatory comments about it.

“I respect the Library staff and would really love to see some photos of me doing something that's as impressive as this clown doing the whole country of New Zealand.”

Needless to say, the display of a BBQ sheep product outside the (Location Redacted) public library caused a furor of laughter, and a number of people took a selfie with the “MEAT”.

Local radio station (Redacted), said the stunt was unacceptable.

“The organizers of the ‘MEAT CLOWN’ media tour are a disgrace. They could’ve thought outside the box, spent their money on actually having fun.”

“We all have emotions. We all have respect for the animal. What they've done is not funny. It's uncalled for, and their PR person could've done a better job of keeping the show on the road, and not going down this route.”

“We thought the MEAT stunt at the (Location Redacted) library was bad, this was beyond what we thought possible.”

All original creations designed by MEAT Clown as a unique gift!

Well-plucked, to make you smile!

Each of the seven Beef and Clown Clown buttons are supplied in their own little carrying case and are ready to be inserted into your clowny's waistline when wearing a red or blue clown suit. As well as being usefully suited for a Clown, they'll also make any normal adult have what will be described as 'tantalising moment'! No, we're not being all touchy and serious here. There is just something about the juxtaposition of clowny with the juicy treats and the olives at the bottom of the Beef tray that makes you smile and nod approvingly. The 'review' that follows will certainly be representative of that. The sad thing is that I didn't even have any olives at the time. The olives will be a weakness of mine in future!

The Process

The clowny begins its journey from the baker's table to the MEAT cutting stage by first being opened in the preparation area. This will give the MEAT Chopper time to prepare the MEAT for the slicing into Clown Button-friendly chunks, since these clownlets do come hungry.

Show off your MEAT Clown pride with custom pins, buttons and more. The MEAT Clown will proudly fly in your delivery and shipment of MEAT: Clown Based Product. Good luck delivering that!
