

What is it?

*Title I is an assistance program for schools from the federal government based on our directly certified students (students approved as eligible for free meals who are not subject to verification).

*The goal of Title I is to provide a quality education for every child.

How does it work?

*The federal government provides funding to states each year for Title I.

*In order to receive the funding, the schools must develop a plan that describes how the money will be used to improve and/or continue to provide a quality education for every child.

Title I program generally offer:

- *small group instruction opportunities
- *additional teachers and assistants
- *additional training for school staff
- *extra time for instruction
- *a variety of teaching methods and materials

PARENTS' RIGHT TO KNOW:

Under the federal Elementary and Secondary Education Act (ESEA), parents have the right to know:

- whether a teacher has met state qualification and licensing criteria for the grade levels and subject areas in which the teacher provides instruction;
- whether a teacher is teaching under emergency or other provisional status through which state qualification or licensing criteria have been waived;
- the baccalaureate degree major of a teacher and any other graduate certification or degree held by the teacher, and the field of discipline of the certification or degree.
- Please contact the principal if you would like to receive this information about your child's teachers.

Parents who have children in Title I schools also have the following rights:

- to give input into and review how the Title I funds are used at the school
- to help develop and review the school's Title I plan
- to help develop and review the school's Parent Involvement Policy
- to help develop and review the school's Home-School Compact

Central High's Title I Funding Provides:

Additional personnel: Interventionists to provide small group instruction or one-on-one support, Parent Involvement contact to coordinate parenting activities and ensure all documentation,

Contracted Professional Development services to provide technical assistance to schools

Parenting: Supplies, materials, and refreshments for parenting events

A copy of the school wide plan is located in the school office for those wishing to review it. Please contact Rob Ransom, Principal, at 843-672-6115 or Dr. Candace Hoffman, Director of Federal Programs, at 843-623-2176 if you have any questions or concerns.
