

Gotta put this here uwu

THE IDEA SO FAR

There is an ancient tree on top of a hill that everyone rumored is haunted. One summer camp, Sakamoto and a group of boys went there and something happened.

SHOTA TOP

- He was born with a blessing which made his appearance different from everyone else, but people thought it was a curse instead.
- A spirit from a thousand years ago.
- A divine spirit who guards 'the tree' making it last a thousand years. It's also an extension of Shota's heart and emotions. If they're happy, the tree will blossom. When they're dying, the tree will wilt.
- He has a shonen form(most powerful) and a sugar glider form(weakest). If he uses his shonen form too much, he will poof to his sugar glider form after.
- He has an aunt who is a powerful god.

SAKAMOTO BOTTOM

- A highschool student who can sense ghosts, he has an instinct of telling whether the spirit's aura is good or bad. When he first met Shota, everyone ran except him because his gut told him that the spirit is not a threat.
- SOME BRAINROTS:
 - As a child, Sakamoto grew up to be quite sickly. He used to get hot fever often out of the blue which lasted for weeks and sometimes a whole month. His family then found out how it was due to foul spirits feeding on his aura, thus draining his energy. However, the circumstances never stopped Sakamoto from being the rambunctious kid, who trekked forests and climbed trees during hot summer.

- As Sakamoto grew older, he began seeing glimpses of silhouettes in shades of red and blue wandering about the world around him. He learnt from his grandmother that they are in fact wandering spirits. She warned him to stay away from them as they feed on human energy, and when Sakamoto asked the difference between the two she said:

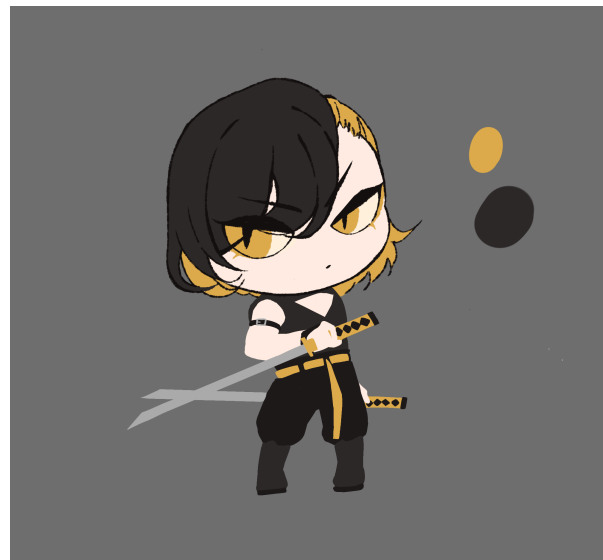

“The reds will feed on your energy and you will feel this boiling heat in your chest like how anger feels. While the blue will make you feel very restless and your head will just be filled with bad thoughts. Both will make you tired to your wits.”

But she also warned Sakamoto how sensitive his body is to these spirits:

“Your body reacts differently to them compared to a normal human, to these spirits your energy is a magnet”

CHILDHOOD YANDERE-CHAN

- Sakamoto's childhood friend.
- In the past, he killed Sakamoto because Sakamoto chose Shota over her.
- She's the popular girl in school, an ace in sports and academics.

Simp-kun (cause he's a huge simp for Kou-kun and Nene-chan, he's straight up having bi-panic here)

- A normal high schooler, who minds his own business most of the time and has a soft spot for everything cute. From baby animals to giant animal plushies. A huge fan of the influencer "Nene-chan", a self-proclaimed #1 fan.
- He used to be a normie but when he found Nene-chan he slowly became an Otaku too. He watches every series that she cosplays and collects the manga when he can. Simp-kun's favourite anime are anything with Mahou Shoujo, and his little sisters enjoy them too.
- Simp-kun comes from a family line of huge people, so he's naturally tall. Since he helps with heavy lifting at the family bakery, it made him fit.
- Personality: Honest and passionate in the things he loves. A bit childish and protective winkwink. He LOVES sweets and can never imagine a world without them.

BRAINROOOOTTTTTSSSSSSS

- Simp-kun has always been bigger and stronger in terms of size and strength compared to Kou-kun. Whenever Kou-kun gets bullied, he'll make sure to whoop the bullies' ass with no hesitation cause that's "What heroes do!". But that doesn't mean he never got bullied himself, people often push him around telling him to do stuff for them. That's where Kou-kun will smack some sense into his thick head:
 - The first time Simp-kun and Kou-kun met was when he saved Kou-kun from bullies. He was wearing a Kamen Rider mask and even did the 'cool' poses. When he took off his mask to look at Kou-kun he said "Your eyes are so pretty!! They look like stars!"
 - During class cleaning duty, some boys once pushed all their duties to Simp-kun with the excuse of "We're too busy this afternoon, can you help us?" He agreed and cleaned the whole class on his own until Kou-kun stepped in and helped. Simp-kun got nagged as he cleaned.
- He can be quite dense in certain things such as when people are bullying him but he's very observant about something he loves and cares about. coughcough* Kou-kun...*
- Simp-kun used to be a fan of superhero shows for kids such as Kamen Rider and Power Rangers. As a kid, he liked wearing Kamen Rider masks everywhere and did 'cool' poses. In summary, he's a weirdo. He still does it now except now it's Mahou Shoujo poses with his little sisters. He can even sing the theme song clearly by memory.
 - During weekends when the bakery is closed, Simp-kun and his little sisters will watch the pre-recorded episodes of their favourite Mahou Shoujo. They'll dance and sing together in front of the TV.
- He's very honest and transparent with his feelings, sometimes too open to the point of being brash. People can't handle his honesty at times, but at least they know he's being sincere.
 - He got dumped by his ex-girlfriend during Valentine's because he said, "Wow, this tastes awful," when he ate her homemade chocolates.

- His family owns a bakery where they bake patisseries that look like cute animals such as bears and cats. People would expect Simp-kun to be sick of sweets, but it only made him more of a sweet tooth. He helps his family at the shop often.
- Simp-kun is obsessed with everything cute, from small animals to mini houses. He even has a flower cat phone strap and a Mahou Shoujo nui keychain on his schoolbag. It's what made him love Nene-chan in the first place and also Kou-kun but he didn't realise it yet hehe.
