Aim to complete as many of these 3 boxes as you can, the minimum we expect is 1 completed :)

What is written below is the minimum please feel free to write more.

My thinking:

Make connections between and across at least two texts and general knowledge to expand meaning and pose questions

The new learnings I now have are:
Pandemic : the deadly disease. I now know the difference between a pandemic and epidemic. That people infected with the disease their immune system responds by creating antibodies so it can fight the disease away and get it out of the immune system.

Keeping promises: That almost every iwi has settled their treaty or and doing so now. The settlement package was worth $170 million made up of cash and land.

2 Questions I have are:

- Did they ever find a cure ?
- How long did it last for ?

Use prior knowledge to connect to at least two texts

The prior knowledge I had for Text 1 was:

- I knew that a pandemic is a deadly disease that spreads around either a country, continent, or the whole world.

- That there's a lower chance of catching a deadly disease if you have a good and healthy immune system.

The prior knowledge I had for Text 2 was:

- That not everyone got what they wanted and lots of peoples land got stolen.
- At one point the Māori were very poor and they were being forced to give their land over to the goverment.

Make connections between at least two texts and own life experiences

2 things that I could relate to from my own life experience in Text 1 was:

- Of the covid -19 pandemic that is right now.
- I have/ are experiencing quarantine and know what it's like because they had to go through quarantine as well to help it keep spreading.

2 things that I could relate to from my own life experience in Text 2 was:

- I have had promises broken before just like how the Māori got their promises broken .
- I have sisters just like the two girls in the story - sorry this isn't the best one I struggled to find some things that I could relate too.
