You started with an immediately effect pace and tone, with strong use of eye contact, hand gestures and audience engagement. Your introduction was clear and engaging with use of statistics and case studies to involve the audience. Your voice was mostly audible – just try to increase the volume of your voice to reach everyone at the back. This was a well-prepared presentation, with effective use of vocabulary and subject knowledge. Your use of structure, via discourse markers and transitional phrases, was excellent.
