

Outreach #15

Hey Jalil,

I know you're busy building your SaaS empire right now.

But I want to run something by you because it's a pretty ridiculous proposal that you'd be interested in.

I was looking at <company> and had a few marketing ideas I'm confident could help you guys scale.

I want to offer you a 2 week trial run where I work with you to see if I can add some extra revenue to your bottom line.

If at the end of the two weeks it seems like a good fit, we can figure out more ways I can bring more value to your business.

If not; I'll deliver you the project at no expense and get out of your hair.

In this trial run, I'd gather data from your marketing tactics & make a report which will go over what <company> is doing well/areas it needs to improve.

This report should give you a better idea of where to double down and quadruple down.

Are you interested in a quick trial?

Thanks,

Aphilas

Outreach #15.1

Hey Jalil,

I know you're busy building your SaaS empire right now.

But I want to run something by you because it's a wild proposal I know you'd be interested in.

I was looking at <company> and noticed you are missing out on huge boosts in revenue by not utilizing your upsell pages.

You already have an amazing community behind you that loves your product and the messages you put out...

But not having upsells, opt-ins, etc will slow down your ability to expand your audience size and further impact your current one.

So my thoughts on this were, I create these pages for you and we test out how they affect your market in the span of a couple weeks.

If at the end of the test it starts boosting revenue, I'd love to discuss other ideas I had for your marketing strategy.

If not, I'll deliver you the project at no expense to you and get out your hair.

No risk, all reward.

Is this something you'd like to hear more about?

Thanks,

Aphilas