The Balance By Catlin Tucker - I want to help educators establish and maintain balance in their teaching practices and in their lives. In each episode of The Balance, I'll talk with a different thought leader or educator. We'll explore this complex issue and strive to find ways to achieve a healthier work-life balance.

Heads Down Two Thumbs Up - This podcast is for anyone who works at a school, goes to school, or ever went to school – so basically, YOU! Movies about school have shaped our national narrative about what school is like, about the relationships between teachers and students, students and students, and the role of school as both friend and foe.

Our favorite school-related movies reflect the reality of school – often perceived by students as boring, tedious and pointless. While often generating feelings of nostalgia – even for the misery of school – might they also reinforce stereotypes of school and even serve as an obstacle to reimagining what school can be?

Join us in this new adventure where we talk about some of your favorite movies that talk about school. Listen to the trailer and get ready for Episode One where we relive the obvious choice to kick off this podcast – Ferris Bueller's Day Off!
