Personalities and Abilities

Being an antagonist all he care in his life is revenge. While dragon race is generally not friendly to other races, this was changed in time as WoM and Wizard's race are helping each other with Dragon race. He extremely hated Wizard Race although his hatred decreased by the time he was defeated in arc 2.

In term of battle skills, he was somewhat strong and in par with Ormen's abilities. Same as Ormen, his ability is not rusted with him being old. He also one of few dragons that fighting with Weapons like Sword, instead just Claw.

He also got some rigged tactics in battles as he able to manipulate Mickey to his side for short time plus trapped Donald and Goofy to his strategy although it's failed later due to Donald and Goofy's abilities (dumb but effective). While he actually superior in term of abilities, he actually mark WoM group as treat and skillful teamwork Wizards.

While he got some servants to support his ideology, he actually doesn't appreciate their efforts. With the facts that he only uses his servants for his own goal is make him in disadvantage, his servants leave him one by one after defeated by WoM group and distrust him, eventually leaving him alone. In the past it's actually same mistake that he used Wizard's race for his selfish goal making Wizard's race fight him and defeat him.

After his defeat, he still in anger and tries for revenge but stopped by Ormen. As whole dragon race get in danger state due to Mysterious Sorcerers, he then allied with Wizard's race and realize his personality. Despite his revenge, he still doesn't want his race get annihilated. With the teamwork with Mickey he is able to save Dragon Race. He still kept his hot head and annoyed personality when he travels with Mickey.

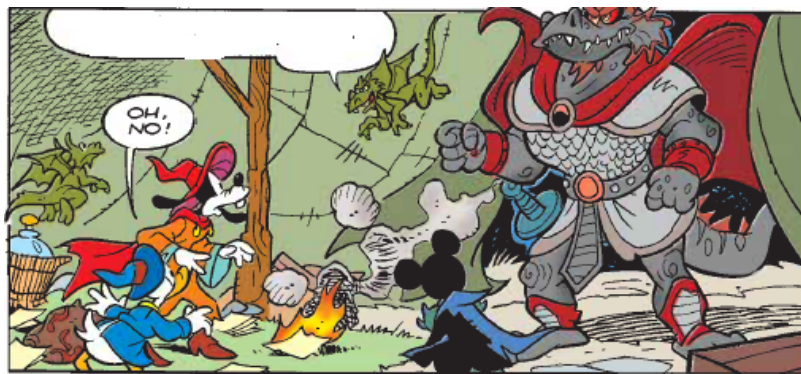

Story Summaries

Arc 2; Dark Age

In chapter 4, Dreadking the elder of ancient dragons encounters Nereus and Ormen. Ormen thought Dreadking was supposedly dead and found that Dreadking awakens and try to revenge the world did to him in the past. Dreadking insults Ormen as Ormen covers Nereus which is "scaleless" race but then Ormen counters him with the principle of dragons to cover Ormen's friends. The two then engage in battle with unknown result although it can be assumed he was winning. He tries to convince the new era dragon race to revenge Wizard's race but with Ormen's SOS message they denied and stating Dreadking and his servants as enemies.

He was seen in other chapters when WoM group tries to solve dungeons and get legendary equipment parts that previously defeat him, he commands some of his servants to stop WoM group although all of them failed and some ancient dragons abandoned him after convinced by WoM group.

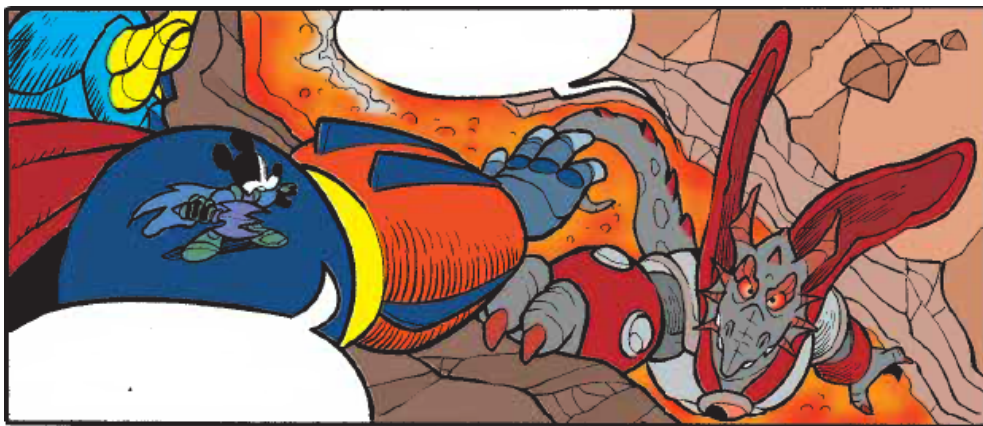

In chapter 8, he then directly act and bring his servants to attack Dragon's fortress. He also shows the new servant who surprisingly is Mickey, because he previously capturing Mickey while Mickey searched for the Gurbos helm for last equipment part and manipulate him using the helm. He only uses the assault to decrease the morale of Wizard race so he can attack them next time. In the next day, Donald and Goofy are attempting to rescue Mickey but this is part of his plan to trap them as well and use the helm to manipulate all of WoM group.

Unfortunately, his plan failed because Donald and Goofy make Mickey back in sense (without them realizing) and Mickey stole the Gurbos helm and completed the equipment parts, allowing Mickey summons mecha-bot that punched Dreadking and makes him run away with his servants due to his disadvantage.

In chapter 9, he used other strategies to trap WoM group and their Wizard+Dragon allies. Both sides are clashed each other and leaving WoM group + Mecha-bot with Dreadking + 3 his servants. The servants then use Unidragon spell allowing them to fused (You know about Yugioh and 3 Blue Eyes White Dragon fused to 3 heads? Same concept). However the spell causing great side effect to the servants and make them distrust Dreadking after Mickey's convincing.

WoM group then continue fighting with Dreadking himself. At one point, his wing is injured and about to fall to deep cliff. Mickey attempts to save him but then Dreadking drag Mecha-bot along with Mickey to fall down together as he said it's better to die together then admitting defeat. He falls with Mecha bot but Mickey is saved by Garth. In the end, he is not dead but unable to go from underground and stuck with Mecha-bot. In the surface, ancient dragons who previously his servants joined the new era dragons and set up a peace.

Arc 3; Ancient Evil

At first, Dreadking is fighting with Ormen again in underground (although the fight does not shown, only told by Ormen in chapter 25/3-5) as he being prevented for going to surface and try to persuade Ancient Dragons that made peace with New Era ones in previous arc. They are fought equally and resulting a draw with heavy injuries. With the teletransport diamagic, they become a ghost with alive soul, leaving their bodies until recovered (this is why WoM assumed both of them die)

Later, another antagonist group called Mysterious Sorcerers shutting down the Hall of Abyss, causing the world turned into "Ice Age" and the dragons are sent to another dimension. All dragons are unconscious during this time, but as Ormen and Dreadking become Ghost earlier their soul remains in the current dimension while their bodies are not.

With Ormen's advice, Dreadking assists WoM members to save dragon race. Mickey asked first why he helps WoM group despite his hatred. He says that he still got a race to protect and the fact that the Sorcerers are similar to himself to seek revenge. He doesn't want another treat comes into that selfish goal again and understand what WoM group doing when he tries to revenge Wizard Race.

The WoM group then splits up. Donald and Goofy are helping Daisy and Clarabelle to reach Mysterious Sorcerers and Mickey goes with Dreadking + Mecha-bot to reach Hall of Abyss. Unfortunately it's located under bat race's nest, the race that previously helped Wizard Race to defeat Dreadking and they are furious when Dreadking comes and is on Mickey's side. Mickey then negotiate with Bat's elder and tell his story.

The conditions are getting more serious. Donald's group are captured by Sorcerers but they tried to escape and buying Mickey time. Minnie runs by herself and using Steel Dragon to reveal Sorcerer's identity. Dreadking then gives Minnie a clue to sneak in Dragavar and search the Calibor's diary to reveal their identity. After Minnie give the information to Mickey, they then settle to Hall of Abyss and attempt to light it again.

Mickey and Dreadking are using other shortcut to reach the place, making Sorcerers surprised because their original plan failed (more details on Clarabelle's page later). From Minnie's information they need strong fire to lit Hall of Abyss again which make Dreadking panicked as strong fire only came from Dragons and he is the dragon that remains beside Ormen and he can't use fire breath in ghost form. Mickey then request to use Gurbos helm from Mecha bot, Dreadking asks why as he doesn't want to manipulate Mickey again. Mickey then said the helm has teletransport diamagic that Dreadking also has to allow Dreadking replacing Mecha bot with Steel dragon and gives it fire breath control from Dreadking's mind, this makes them successfully lit Hall of Abyss and restore Dragon race.

He later recovered to his own body and stays on Dragavar to protect dragon's hometown and fortress. He takes commands while Ormen is on Wizard's castle to help Wizard Race.
