

Kelli Suding, M.Ed.

As a technical assistance specialist for CAST's National Center on Accessible Educational Materials (AEM Center), Kelli promotes the availability of accessible educational materials and technologies to ensure that all students have equitable and inclusive opportunities for learning. Kelli has keynote, national, state, and regional presentation and training experience. Kelli also has a strong understanding of and ability to connect theory to practice. Her instructional experience has been with students requiring mild, moderate, and intense intervention. Kelli's specializations include autism, accessible educational materials, assistive and accessible technologies, accessibility, specific learning disabilities, and Universal Design for Learning.